Spend First Day's Session of Convention at Wilkesbarre in Discussion of Possible Disposition of Operators.

VOTE WILL COME TODAY ON ARBITRATION PLAN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Oct. 20.—The anxiously awaited convention of the 145,000 striking miners met today, but did not reach a vote on the proposed plan of settlement. It is expected to do so tomorrow.

There were 662 delegates present empowered by their local unions to cast 867 votes. The great majority of the delegates were uninstructed, the few who were being engineers, firemen and pumpmen, who fear that the 5,000 strikers of those classes may not get back their old places. The question of the engineers, firemen and pumpmen proved the only stumbling block in the way of almost immediate adoption of President Roosevelt's plan, which carries with it declaring the strike off and a general resumption of work.

At one time today it seemed that the convention was about to adopt the recommendation of President Mitchell to end the strike, but the steam men's plea was too earnest, and the final vote went over until tomorrow, when it is practically certain the vote to declare the strike off will show a big majority.

Only Mitchell Is Heard.

The leaders of the strikers, except Mr. Mitchell, were hardly heard at all in the convention today, the anxious engineers being allowed to give full expression to their feelings. But tomorrow it is predicted the leaders will be heard, and one of them, a high district officer, said today that there would not be more than 15 votes recorded against the plan which President Roosevelt has proposed to them.

There were two sessions, forenoon and afternoon, today, and the net result was a permanent organization with Mr. Mitchell in the chair, his speech laying the president's plan before the delegates, his eloquent impromptu speech advocating its adoption, and the appointment of a committee on resolutions. This committee, as Mr. Mitchell said to the delegates, would prepare a formal statement to the public, telling fully and carefully why the convention decided to continue the strike if it should so decide, and why the strike was declared off if that was the outcome of their deliberations.

Surprise of Convention.

The question before the convention when it adjourned for the day was the adoption of the resolution embodied in President Mitchell's opening speech to call off the strike and leave all questions to President Roosevelt's commission.

The surprise of the convention was the decision to admit newspaper men to all the sessions, open or executive, when even union miners, eagerly waiting by the hundreds out in the street, could not get into the theater. Twice the newspaper men won a victory by big majorities. First, when a petition from them asking to be allowed to remain, a motion to grant the request was carried, and later when a motion was made to reconsider the first vote to admit. The pleas which won were that the reporters represented the people, that public opinion had helped the strikers and that the best way to get an accurate report of this convention of immediate and vast national import was to let the press representatives be on the spot.

District President T. D. Nicholls of Scranton called the convention to order at 10:20. On account of pressure of business at strike headquarters President Mitchell was unable to be present until the afternoon session. The call for the convention was read and the three district secretaries were appointed a committee on credentials.

Sweet Welsh Singers Appear.

The routine proceedings were followed by singing, the suggestion having been made that the convention be entertained for a while by some of the "sweet Welsh singers" of the organization. A delegate from the Wyoming valley caused a storm of enthusiasm by singing a song entitled "Give Three Cheers for Mitchell For the Strike That We Have Won." Songs and short speeches by other delegates followed, and the striking mine workers for the time being seemed to have forgotten their troubles. At 11:45 adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The afternoon session began at 2:10, with only the accredited delegates and a small army of newspaper men present. Without any speech-making Mr. Mitchell was elected permanent chairman, and National Secretary-Treasurer Wilson was elected as the permanent secretary. Just as the cheering for the election of the two officials was ended President Mitchell, at 2:30 o'clock, walked upon the stage. The instant the delegates saw him they rose en masse and cheered their leader for several minutes. Mr. Mitchell, in his address, said:

Mitchell's Warm Welcome.

I take pleasure in extending warm greeting and welcome to the accredited representatives of the 150,000 men and boys whose heroic struggle for living wages and American conditions of employment has won the admiration of the whole civilized world. Language is inadequate to express the sense of pride I feel in you and those you represent. Your noble defense of the principles of unionism endears you to every man and every woman in our land who works for a livelihood. When the history of the struggles of the toilers shall be written its page will record no event more important, no principle more ably defended, no battle more bravely fought than the contest which I earnestly hope is now about to be happily ended.

Imprinted indelibly upon the hearts of our people are the memories of the sufferings and hardships which have been and are being endured. For five long months the eyes of the nation have been centered upon your actions, and it is a pleasure to say that the great heart of the American people throbs in sympathy with you. It is of course a source of deep regret that the millions of underpaid workmen in our great cities should be the most acute sufferers by reason of this contest between ourselves and our employers.

Words of Encouragement.

But, strange as it may appear, hundreds upon hundreds of those who suffered most from lack of fuel sent words of commendation and encouragement to us, and in many instances declared that they would endure any privation in order that the miners and their families might secure a sufficient wage to enable them to enjoy a little happiness and sunshine, instead of the gloom and sadness which has been their lot for many years.

The debt of gratitude we owe our fellow-workers in this and other lands, the debt of gratitude we owe a generous public and a friendly press, who have supported and sustained us during this memorable strike, can never be adequately repaid.

For our opponents we entertain no feeling of malice. While they have maligned our characters, impugned our motives and sought the victory by methods which we should scorn to use, yet on this day when we have secured an avenue of redress, on this day when the realization of our hopes and ambitions seems near, when the prospect of a brighter and happier future seems assured,

MURDER VICTIM COMES TO LIFE

CHARGE CRAZED HIM

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Knoxville, Tenn., Oct. 20.—One of the most remarkable cases in the chronicles of the judiciary of this state occurred here today when the case of the state of Tennessee vs. Clarence Peake was called in the supreme court.

As attorneys for the defense moved for a continuance, on the ground that the defendant is now in the state insane asylum, Silas Hulin, the man whom Peake is accused of murdering arose and shouted the words:

"I am the man Peake is said to have murdered."

The excitement which ensued has never been equaled in a supreme court chamber of the south. This is the denouement of one of the most famous cases in East Tennessee.

Two years ago Silas Hulin, known over America as a hobo, who has slept in almost every jail in the country, and Clarence Peake, the 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Walters Peake, one of the most prominent and wealthiest families in Anderson county, quarreled over a drink at Clinton. Afterward a shot was heard at one end of the town.

The next morning a dead body supposed to be Hulin's, was found lying beside a water tank. Peake was arrested, and after a bitter fight, in which over 50 of the most prominent attorneys in Tennessee participated, the circuit court found a verdict of guilty. Peake was given a sentence of 18 years in the penitentiary.

The case was appealed and bail was furnished. Month after month went by, and gradually the worry and strain drove Peake mad. He is now in the state asylum, incapable of knowing what devoted friends have done for him.

Deputy Sheriff Link Williams, who refused to believe Peake's guilt, followed a cold trail all over the United States to eventually run down Silas Hulin, the man Peake is supposed to have murdered. Hulin arrived here from St. Claire, Mo., yesterday morning, barely ahead of the calling of the case. Who is the man whose body was buried for that of Hulin remains unknown.

NEGRO DIES AT STAKE TO AVENGE MURDER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

FORREST CITY, ARK., Oct. 20.—Charles Young, the negro charged with assaulting and murdering Mrs. Ed Lewis, white, was burned at the stake tonight by a mob. Sheriff W. E. Williams used every effort against this extreme measure and telephoned Judge Hutton of this district, who promised to come tomorrow and give immediate trial to the negro. The leaders of the mob had given the sheriff positive pledges that they would await the trial. About 8:30 o'clock tonight the mob marched to the county jail and after having been refused the keys, broke in the jail door with sledge hammers, took the prisoner from his cell.

The mob took the negro to a point about half a mile east of town, bound him, piled wood around him and set fire to it. The negro begged piteously for his life.

Opposed to Archbishop Ireland.

ROME, Oct. 20.—Much interest is taken at the vatican in the arrival of Archbishop Chapelle, who is regarded as the leader of the faction of the American Catholics opposed to Archbishop Ireland. It is understood that Archbishop Chapelle will present to the vatican and propaganda the views of the clergy antagonistic to Archbishop Ireland's attitude in regard to the Philippines.

SPENCER TAKES ANOTHER TRIP IN HIS AIRSHIP

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Stanley Spencer, the aeronaut who recently made a successful trip over London, traveled 25 miles this afternoon in his airship. He rose from Blackpool but finding the northwest breeze too strong to make headway against it, proceeded in a southeasterly direction and landed in the open country.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(Copyright Cable.)—The ardor of budding aeronauts is as highly pitched as ever. None seems to think he is marked for a fatality. Besides the preparations of Santos-Dumont, are those of Pierre and Paul Lebaudy, whose airship is nearing completion.

That they have not forgotten the Severo and De Brodsky accidents, is shown in the announcement that they will conduct their experiments above the Seine, near Mantes, so that they will have a comparatively soft or watery bed on which to alight in case of accident.

EIGHTEENTH LIKELY TO STAY OUT LONGEST

Gov. Stone Expects Some Troops to Remain on Duty for Several Weeks.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 20.—Troops must be kept in the mining regions several weeks longer to suppress possible rioting, although Gov. Stone and Adjt. Gen. Stewart are both anxious to withdraw the soldiers as soon as possible, on account of the enormous cost to the state of keeping them in the field.

While neither of these officials will discuss the subject for print, it is known that they are afraid that the operators will not discharge the non-union men who have been working for them and fill their places with union men, and that more or less trouble will result on the resumption of work.

The troops will not be withdrawn as a body, but by regiments. The organizations stationed at Shenandoah and other districts where the most trouble has occurred will be withdrawn last.

Gov. Stone will appoint commissioners to take the vote of the soldiers in the field if they are not withdrawn before the election.

QUAY HELPS BUCKNELL.

LEWISBURG, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Several days ago the financial representative of Bucknell university called to see Senator Quay at his rooms at the Hotel Walton, Philadelphia, to solicit a contribution for the support of the school. After listening a few minutes to the narration of the institution's merits, Senator Quay drew out his check book and wrote out a $500 subscription. The senator expressed his gratification that Lewisburg has such an extensive and important seat of learning.

FIFTEEN INJURED IN A TRAIN WRECK

KNOXVILLE, TENN., Oct. 20.—On the Knoxville and Ohio division of the Southern railway, leaving this city at 7 p. m., the Louisville express train collided, head-on, with a freight train near Coal Creek, Tenn., tonight, injuring three trainmen and 12 passengers. The wreck was caused by the crew of the freight overlooking orders. Both engines, an express car and the baggage car were more or less demolished. Engineer S. L. Huffmaster of Knoxville was probably fatally hurt.

PITTSBURGHERS BUY A BIG ORE MINE

DULUTH, MINN., Oct. 20.—The Shenango Furnace Company of Pittsburgh today closed a lease for the Webb mine, a new property at Hibbing, on the Mesaba range, paying for it a bonus of $250,000. Capt. M. L. Fay was the owner of the lease and the deal was arranged by Charles Purdon. The property contains a deposit of 20,000,000 tons, two-thirds of which is Bessemer ore, 60 per cent iron.

TWO THREATENED WITH DYNAMITE

Bulgarian Blackmailers Again After American Mission Workers.

SECOND STONE CASE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Boston, Mass., Oct. 20.—Letters received today at the American board of foreign missions from the Rev. George D. Marsh and his wife, in Philippopolis, Bulgaria, say that they are in danger of their lives unless they raise 600 napoleons ($2,400) each for the authors of a threatening letter. The means of removal is to be dynamite.

The Marshes have been in Bulgaria for 30 years and their labors have been unusually successful. They were associated with Miss Ellen Stone, Dr. J. Henry House, who negotiated for the freeing of Miss Stone from captivity, and the Rev. J. W. Baird at Samakow.

On September 16 Marsh received an anonymous communication saying that unless the sum specified was paid within a brief time, he and his wife "would be blown into a thousand pieces" in Philippopolis square. The letter also warned him against speaking to any person about the letter, adding that 275 of the brotherhood were always near him, and that the Stone case would be only child's play to what would happen.

To strengthen the threat the letter told him where he had been for a week, what he had done, with whom he had talked, and also the same particulars about Mrs. Marsh, showing a perfect system of espionage without police interruption.

Notwithstanding these threats Mr. Marsh reported the case to the Philippopolis police, who in turn reported to the Bulgarian authorities. A few arrests were made, but no sharp measures were taken.

Mr. Marsh also wrote to Dr. S. L. Barton, foreign secretary of the American board in Boston, telling of this and other threats, and concluding with this significant remark:

"Our government should not drop the affair of Miss Stone until some one is punished, unless they expect some of the rest of us to suffer."

Mr. Marsh's house has been carefully guarded since the letter of September 16 and the inmates do not go out after dark. There are 30 other American board missions in the district, and alarm is felt for their safety.

CONSTABLE SIGNS REQUEST FOR WRIT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHENANDOAH, PA., Oct. 21.—Deputy District Attorney Devlit came here this evening from Pottsville, the county seat, and had Constable William Shortall sign an application for a writ of habeas corpus, in which it is set forth that Col. Rutledge has twice refused to allow the serving of a warrant upon Private Wadsworth, charged with the shooting of William Durham. The application will probably be filed before Judge Bechtel tomorrow and a rule granted upon Col. Rutledge to appear in court within five days with the body of Private Wadsworth, or show cause why he will not do so.

The contest is being watched with great interest in legal circles here and the Pennsylvania records are being searched for parallel cases. The opinion is freely expressed among lawyers that the soldier and the officer who issued the order will be acquitted. Gen. Gobin, commander of the Third brigade, said today that he interpreted Gov. Stone's order calling out the troops to be a virtual suspension of the writ of habeas corpus, and two men charged with having made threats against persons whose houses were afterwards dynamited were placed in the guard house and kept there almost a week without a hearing.

CHARLES CAWLEY IS NOT MURDERER

Rev. E. R. Donehoo, After Talking to Him, Says He Is Innocent.

TRUTH YET UNTOLD

"He is perfectly sane."

"The real story of the horrible Homestead butchery has not yet come to light."

"Charles has no theory to advance as to who committed the murder."

"There is no blank in his mind and he tells a straight story."

"The authorities should be in no hurry about trying the case."

The rushing of Charles Cawley to a police station by an older brother without first talking to him of the horrible crime was unnatural and strange."

For the first time since his incarceration in the county jail, Charles Cawley, who is being held on a charge of having murdered his mother, brother and three sisters in their home in Homestead about 10 days ago, was visited by a minister yesterday afternoon.

The Rev. Dr. E. R. Donehoo, pastor of the West End Presbyterian church, who also has charge of all the jail services, made the call yesterday and the above are his statements made after his visit to the supposed maniac boy.

Boy Talked Freely.

The Rev. Dr. Donehoo called at the jail yesterday afternoon to make some arrangements for future Sunday services. He saw Warden Lewis for a short time, and at the latter's request made a visit to Charles Cawley. The warden brought Charles from his cell to the rotunda of the jail and introduced Dr. Donehoo.

The boy seemed pleased and talked freely about the horrible crime with which he is charged. He recited all the incidents, and for fully an hour Dr. Donehoo listened to his story. After coming from the jail he and Warden Lewis held a lengthy conference, during which the minister repeated the above statements.

The conclusions of Dr. Donehoo will no doubt cause the county officials to begin immediately to investigate the case further. District Attorney Haymaker, who is already at work collecting the evidence, will be given better ground to work on, and before the close of the present week additional arrests may be made.

It was learned last night that the police have the name of another suspect in the case, and are hard at work trying to find evidence that will warrant the arrest of the person on a charge of murder. All the county officials speak of the case with reticence, and several mysterious moves are now being made.

D. J. Boyle of South Side visits the jail daily. He is an uncle of Charles and James Cawley, the latter the brother who was committed to jail last week on a charge of highway robbery, to which he is said to have confessed. James is the brother who also took Charles from the house on the morning of the murder and had him locked in the Homestead jail.

It is believed that Mr. Boyle's many visits are made to aid the authorities in clearing up the mystery. He called at the jail yesterday afternoon and saw James for a short time.

As the Rev. Dr. Donehoo was leaving the jail yesterday afternoon he said:

Charles Not the Murderer.

"Yes, I had an hour's talk with Charles Cawley. I am really surprised myself at the result of my interview. I cannot believe that Charles Cawley so coolly butchered his mother and four sisters. I have made a thorough study of the whole case since its first mention in the newspapers, and have followed closely every detail.

"Of course, these statements I have given you are only my opinions and they may be wrong; but I cannot possibly force myself to believe that they are other than correct. I have talked with almost every murderer who has been confined in jail in Pittsburgh within 35 years and this boy is not a murderer.

"Charles Cawley, to my mind, is perfectly sane. He is a boy of limited education, but bright and a good talker, and the manner in which he looks you squarely in the eye when he is speaking demonstrates his frankness. I believe him fully, because he tells a straight story.

"It is quite true that I am not an expert in insanity, but I have a fair judgment of human nature, and my many talks to criminals of almost all classes convince me clearly that Charles Cawley is telling the truth and not acting any part.

"The boy does not know who killed his mother and sisters. He has not the slightest theory to advance. He did not talk to me of a burglar doing the deed. He makes no accusations whatever. All he says is that he is innocent of the crime charged to him.

"His intelligence and his sincerity both impressed me greatly. He expresses great sorrow for the death of his mother and sisters. He knows they are dead, but shows little emotion. It could not be expected. That is a peculiarity of the boy. He has the same feeling as if 1,000 miles from home. This is not unusual.

"The boy is evidently stolid and stunned by the death of his mother and sisters. While he realizes they are dead and speaks feelingly of them, it seems to be impossible for him to shed a tear.

Scream Awoke Him.

"To be brief, Charles told me that he was awakened from a sound sleep by the piercing scream of one of his sisters. He jumped from his bed and found an ax lying on the floor. He picked up the weapon and went to his brother James' bedside to arouse him. When James jumped out of bed and took him to the Homestead police station.

"Charles is self-possessed. His mind is not a blank in respect to the time of the murder. He remembers and recites all that it is possible for him to do. He said he never worked on his plans too hard. When he grew tired he would go for a play. He said he amused himself principally with his sisters. Nothing delighted him more, he told me, than to have one of them on his knee.

"He never spoke an unkind word to his mother in his life and she was always kind to him. He loved every member of his family and claimed he delighted to do anything to help any one of them.

"The truth of the murder has not yet been told. The murderer has not been charged with the real crime. The facts of the case have all yet to be made public. Charles Cawley is innocent of the murder, and another person committed the deed.

"Now, since I have seen Charles, it is my intention to visit James. I want to see the other brother and get his story of the crime. I intend to do this, but did not want to go from one brother to the other until I have had sufficient time to thoroughly study the case. I may see James later in the week."

FRANK J. FIELDS CLEARED BY NEW CASTLE ALDERMAN OF THE BLEVINS MURDER

Prosecution Utterly Collapsed at the Hearing of the Pittsburgh Painter.

COMMONWEALTH ACQUIESCED IN DISMISSAL OF THE CASE

By JOHN P. COWAN,
Staff Correspondent.

New Castle, Pa., Oct. 20.—Frank J. Fields, the Pittsburgh painter who was arrested last week on the charge of complicity in the murder of City Treasurer John Blevins, is a free man. The attorney for the prosecution asked for the discharge of Fields after the case against him had utterly collapsed, and the mystery of the crime remains unsolved.

Fields will at once investigate the alleged deathbed confession of his half brother and proceedings probably will be entered against Charles L. McClaren, his ostensible prosecutor. The affidavits presented today will be added to the records of the Lawrence county district attorney's office, but no developments of consequence are likely to follow, as the evidence therein has little bearing on the facts in the case.

The hearing was held in the office of Alderman J. H. Gilliland and lasted less than an hour. When Fields was released the scores of spectators that crowded the dingy room gathered about to extend their congratulations. Among the first men to approach him was McClaren, who offered his hand and said:

"I hope you bear me no ill will."

Fields Snubbed Prosecutor.

"You have disgraced me and my family. Don't you speak to me, sir."

The crowd laughed derisively while McClaren left the office and hurried toward his home. All the officers who had been interested in the case congratulated Fields and a score of curious persons accompanied him to the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad station, where at 4:30 o'clock he departed to join his wife and family in Pittsburgh.

Rumors implicating prominent men of New Castle with complicity in the murder were again put into circulation by the rehearsing of the horrible details of the killing of Blevins. The citizens' vigilance committee, which was appointed to collect evidence in the case shortly after the murder, is reported to have found a fresh clue which it intends to make public. The committeemen, however, are not talking and the identity of the murderer and his confederates remains an enigma, which even the shrewdest of detectives have been unable to solve.

The street in front of Alderman Gilliland's office was filled with men when Fields, accompanied by his counsel, Attorney James A. Wakefield of Pittsburgh, and Policeman James McKissick, entered the office. The room was crowded, and it was difficult for the attorneys to find standing room.

Good Cheer from Pastor.

Fields was the least perturbed man in the crowd. McClaren looked ill at ease as he sat facing the prisoner. Attorney Norman Martin sat with Mr. Wakefield. District Attorney Charles E. Mehard and John C. McConahy represented the commonwealth.

Just before the prisoner left his cell in the jail he was encouraged by the following telegram from his Pittsburgh pastor:

Prayers of church are for you. All believe you innocent.

J. L. UPDEGRAPH,
Pastor Church of God.

McClaren was the first witness called. He told the following story of the circumstances which led to his making the information against Fields:

"I am the prosecutor. After making a thorough investigation I thought it proper to make the information. I got my facts in Kansas from H. R. Peek, his wife and daughter, Dr. Doig and another man whose name I do not remember. Last winter I read an article about a letter from Peek to Mayor Warnock of New Castle, and concluded that I knew Peek, having met him when I used to live in Kansas. In the summer while going to Oregon I stopped off in Kansas to look Peek up. I met Mr. Bascom on the way and asked him if he knew Peek. He said that he did. He said he would make inquiries as to where Peek was. When I came back to Ellis, Kas., he said Peek had been ill and he was not sure that he would be able to go out.

Got Story of Confession.

"I was told by responsible persons that Peek was a good, honest, hardworking man. I went to see Peek, and, not telling him I was from New Castle, got the story of the confession from him. I told him I would go to New Castle and would see him later. On September 15 I went west again and stopped at Graham, Kas., Peek's home, and had the affidavits signed in the presence of a justice named De Loney.

"When I came home I said nothing to anybody. I went to Pittsburgh on Tuesday and located Field's house. He was not there. I talked to a lady at the door and made arrangements to meet him the next day. I then came home, got McKissick and going back to Pittsburgh, arrested him."

The affidavits then were read. In substance they recited the story already published in interviews with McClaren, but many minor details were illmay as evidence, and quite contradictory with the circumstances of the murder. According to Peek's statement Judson Fields declared that he was left-handed and had used his left hand in striking the fatal blow. He said that after Blevins had been killed he hurriedly left the room by jumping from a window. Frank Fields and all the members of the family insist that Judson was not left-handed and the window where he is alleged to have escaped was protected by a heavy iron grating at the time of the crime.

Four Signed Omidavits.

The affidavit was sworn to by Peek, his wife, Sarah, and his daughter, Ethel. Another affidavit was made by Bert De Lore, a boarder in Peek's house. According to the evidence in the affidavits Peek was keeping a boarding house in Gorham at the time. Among his boarders was a man employed on the Union Pacific railroad improvements, who represented himself as James Bennett. The stranger said he was not well, and after he had been confined to his room several days Dr. Doig was called in attendance. He pronounced the patient to be suffering from typhoid fever and told him he could live but a few hours. The sick man, according to the statement, called Peek to his bedside and told him that his real name was Judson Fields, that he had killed John Blevins in New Castle on January 7, 1899, and had come west to escape justice. He said that he had killed Blevins in order to get some papers and contracts for his brother, Frank Fields. His brother, Judson said, had stood guard at the door during the killing. After his escape from the building, so Peek claimed he had been told, the murderer caught a horse and ran

HER LIFE'S WORK FOR GOOD NAME

Younger's Sweetheart Says She Will Place Him Right Before World.

GOING TO ST. PAUL

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Boise, Idaho, Oct. 20.—Alice J. Miller, the betrothed of Jim Younger, who committed suicide in St. Paul yesterday, and addressed to whom the suicide left an affectionate note, has been a resident of this city since last August, when she came here for rest and to avoid the publicity that her association with the parole of the Younger boys gave her. Today she said:

"Jim wrote me under date of October 16, stating he had given up all hope and was out of work. Saturday he telegraphed me: 'Don't write.' He was driven to this act by his persecutors. I am his wife, understand, spiritually.

"Before God he is mine and mine alone. My life work will be to place him right before the world. I have wired the authorities to exonate his body. It was his request."

Miss Miller is 30 years of age, and is a woman of independent means. She left tonight for St. Paul.

ST. PAUL, MINN., Oct. 20.—The disposition to be made of the body of Jim Younger, who committed suicide here yesterday, has not yet been determined. The body has been embalmed and will be kept here until Mrs. Retta Rollins of Dallas, Tex., sister of the Younger brothers, can be heard from.

Younger had frequently expressed the wish that his body be cremated when he died. The body may be cremated here or in Kansas City, Mo., near which city the parents of the Youngers and other deceased members of the family, including Bob Younger, who died in the state penitentiary, are buried.

Younger had led an exemplary life since his parole last July. He was first employed as a traveling representative of a tombstone dealer, but on one of his trips was seriously injured by a fall from a wagon. Coupled with old wounds, his health became precarious, and he was obliged to obtain lighter employment.

Younger's knowledge of penitentiary secrets, and his threats to have them published, caused him to be constantly harassed by politicians who were said to be afraid of what he might disclose. This is given as a further reason for his mental uneasiness.

AN ATTEMPT TO ROB A POSTOFFICE SAFE

An attempt to blow up the safe of the Homestead postoffice was thwarted at 1 o'clock this morning by Officer Glesser of the borough police force, who has a bullet through the leg of his trousers as a memento of the affray.

The officer found three men at work. One was stationed at a window on the floor above the postoffice room as a sentinel, and communicated with his two pals below by means of a string. The others had the tools of their calling spread out before the safe, ready for business, when the man above sighted the police and gave the alarm. The trio opened fire, one bullet passing through Glesser's clothing, and during the fusillade fled, leaving their layout behind them, but taking with them no booty.

Railroad Stock Increased.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 20.—The Pittsburgh, Lisbon & Western Railroad Company today filed with the secretary of state a certificate of an increase in its capital stock from $10,000 to $3,000,000. The company is organized to build a road from Ashtabula Harbor through Warren and Salem to Steubenville.

BOSTON MEETING GIVES COURAGE

GREAT NEED IS MONEY

[GAZETTE.]

...able gathering of leaders of international reputation made remarkable the opening of the first convention of the United Irish league in this city today. John E. Redmond, M. P.; Michael Davitt, and John Dillon, M. P., envoys from Ireland; Hon. Edward Blake, Irish M. P.; United States Senator Smith of New Jersey; Patrick Egan, former United States minister of Chile, and Patrick Ford of the Irish World were among the delegates.

Hon. Bourke Cockran was chosen temporary chairman. Addressing the convention, Mr. Cockran said that an appeal to arms by the Irish people would be folly rather than patriotism, but that when the truth of the Irish question should become apparent to the world, an adjustment of the difficulty would be possible.

The evening session was wildly enthusiastic, especially during the speeches of John Dillon and Michael Davitt. The resolutions were adopted amid cheers.

Mr. Dillon prefaced his remarks by saying that he was amazed at the strength of the movement in America and the success of the convention, both of which, he said, would give courage to the brethren in Ireland and consternation to her enemies. He said that the league needed assistance in Ireland, because the people there were disarmed, because they were not allowed free speech, a fre discussion in the press, the liberty of public meeting, and lastly, a trial by jury.

"There are those who will tell you," he said, "that the true remedy is the revival of Irish industries, but I say there will never be a revival until the hand of the landlord is removed."

He urged sending to Ireland steady contributions, that the contest against England might not flag.

The platform pledges the convention to undying allegiance in the cause of Ireland's independence, asserts the right of the Irish race to carry on the war against England by means of honorable weapons, the belief that the leaders in Ireland are best fitted to direct and carry on this contest, demands the arraignment of England at the bar of public opinion through the dissemination of the facts of her rule, that the United Irish league is the only menace to England's rule in Ireland, and finally urging upon the members in this country to contribute liberally to the cause.

EAST END MERCHANT STRICKEN ON A CAR

Peter Ludebuehl, a Well-Known Shoe Dealer, Dies Suddenly.

Peter Ludebuehl of No. 620 Collins avenue, a prominent East End shoe dealer, was seized with apoplexy in a Penn avenue car yesterday and died in a few minutes. He left home about 10:30 a. m. to go downtown on business.

He boarded a Frankstown avenue car, and was seated reading a paper when he suddenly arose and staggered toward the door. He only went a few feet when he collapsed and fell to the floor. The car was stopped and Mr. Ludebuehl was carried into W. G. Eckhart's bakery at Penn avenue and Thirty-fourth street. He died before a physician arrived.

Mr. Ludebuehl, who was 67 years old, was senior member of the shoe firm of Peter K. Ludebuehl & Son, No. 2 Frankstown avenue, East End. He was a member of St. Peter's Lutheran church, Collins and Stanton avenues, and had paid considerable attention to charitable and church work. He was a member of Ridge lodge, I. O. O. F., of Pittsburgh. He came to Pittsburgh 50 years ago from Rothenberg, Hessen-Darmstadt, Germany, and has resided here ever since. A widow, four sons and two daughters survive. The children are Christian, associated with his father in business; Henry of the City Deposit National bank, Peter, professor in the Central Female college, Tuskaloosa, Ala.; George, of the Carnegie Steel Company; Mrs. Albert Apfelbach and Miss Minna.

The coroner's inquiry into the wreck on the Pittsburgh & Western railroad at Wittmer station on September 19, in which six persons were killed, was concluded yesterday. The verdict of the jury was that the wreck and deaths which resulted was due to the negligence on the part of Engineer Harry Chambers, who was killed. Chief Train Dispatcher J. J. Green was censured for failing to notify the operator at Glenshaw to hold all eastbound trains.

The body of Jackman D. Calhoun, who was drowned in the Allegheny river near Aspinwall on Saturday night, while canoeing with a party of friends, was discovered on the Aspinwall side of the river yesterday afternoon and fished out. Calhoun was 23 years old, single, and lived in Sheridan avenue, East End. His brother and one other young man were with him the canoe capsized, but they escaped.

On the commitment of Coroner Jesse M. McCreary, Robert Morris of McKeesport was lodged in jail yesterday to be held as a witness in the murder case of Nichola Zimlaus, for which crime William Young of Glassport is now in the county jail awaiting trial.

Zimlaus was the victim of a cutting affair which occurred near Glassport on the night of September 9. He was sent to a hospital when discovered and died recently. The murder is said to have been the result of an attempted hold-up which the victim resisted.

REV. WILLIAM J. REID, JR., CALLED AS PASTOR OF FATHER'S OLD CHURCH.

The Rev. William J. Reid.

At a congregational meeting of the First United Presbyterian church last night a unanimous call was extended to the Rev. William J. Reid, Jr., to assume the pastorate of the church. He is the son of the Rev. Dr. William J. Reid, who for more than 40 years occupied the pulpit in the First church, and for the past two years has been assistant to his father in the pastoral work, up until the latter's death over a month ago.

As a matter of form, the call to the Rev. Mr. Reid will be presented at the next meeting of presbytery, but this practically settles the matter, which has created great interest all over Pittsburgh. There was scarcely a dissenting voice raised in the meeting against the call to the old pastor's son, and he will assume the pastorate with a united congregation back of him.

The new pastor of the First church received his collegiate training at Princeton university and was educated for the ministry at the Allegheny seminary. He is about 24 years of age. The First church is one of the strongest in America and the father of the new pastor was one of the most widely known men in American religious life. His death was the cause for a spontaneous outburst of sorrow and condolence from all sources. The First church is now housed in a handsome stone structure on Fifth avenue near Boquet street, Oakland, having left its old stand at the corner of Seventh avenue and Cherry alley some three years ago.

BOYS START ON THREE-DAY VIGIL

Thirteen Lads in Front of Mellor's Wait for Pittsburgh Orchestra Tickets.

SOME OF THEM HUNGRY

One Man Hired Twelve Newsies But Forgot to Feed Them All Day Yesterday — Started 72 Hours Before the Sale.

The annual rush for seats for the coming season of the Pittsburgh orchestra has started. Although the sale does not commence until 9 o'clock Thursday morning next a line of boys hired by prospective purchasers took up their stand in front of Mellor's music store yesterday morning, and have commenced their long, weary wait of 72 hours. There were 13 boys in line last night. The first boy was placed yesterday morning by the Holmes Electric Protective association. This boy stood for six hours, when he was relieved and his place taken by another lad. Number one is purchasing tickets for Miss Ecker of Allegheny.

From now until the sale begins the Holmes boys will work in two-hour stands. Some of the other boys are not so fortunate. One speculator, who holds all numbers from 2 to 12, has placed a dozen newsies to keep the weary vigil.

They were put on shortly after noon yesterday, and will remain there until Thursday morning, or about 66 hours altogether. These lads are the typical street Arabs, and all are accustomed to privation. But this annual stand in front of the Fifth avenue store is a test of the endurance of the boys. They must not leave their places, or the latter will be forfeited. This means that each must remain in line day and night until Thursday morning.

It was understood when the boys were placed yesterday morning that the speculator was to feed them, but at a late hour last night the boys had seen nothing of the man or the promised provisions. Some, in the meantime, had sent their companions to nearby restaurants for sandwiches. Others, that had no money, were going hungry and telling each other in a rather decided manner just what they thought of the man who had hired them.

Some of the lads had actually stood on Fifth avenue from noon until nearly midnight without having eaten anything. These chaps were loud in expressions of disgust at their employer, yet none seemed disposed to give up his post after having been there for half a day.

Last night proved a rather cold one for some of the little fellows who had no overcoats. From now until Thursday morning they will sleep on the pavement of Fifth avenue, or in the door way of the stores, in the immediate vicinity. For this fatiguing work they will get 50 cents an hour.

The usual rule applies in regard to the sale of the seats. Each purchaser is allowed five tickets. This annual rush is for the purchase of the choice $20 and $15 seats.

PITTSBURGH CITIZEN CHARGED WITH PERJURY

W. M. Gillespie Gives Bail Before Beaver Falls Justice of the Peace.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER FALLS, PA., Oct. 20.—A suit has been begun here before Justice James Piper against W. M. Gillespie, a well-known citizen of Pittsburgh, which promises some sensational features. Mr. Gillespie is charged by William F. Clayton of this place, a prominent mine owner and coal operator, with perjury. Gillespie was arrested last Saturday in Pittsburgh and gave bail there for a hearing before Justice Piper at Beaver Falls on October 28, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Gillespie and others were running a factory here for the manufacture of enameled iron slums. It was an incorporated concern under the name of the Beaver Falls enamaled iron works, and apparently was doing a prosperous business, employing many hands. William M. Gillespie was the treasurer and manager. The company failed, and it is alleged that the attorney of Mr. Gillespie attempted to call preferred claims, thus leaving the local creditors, of whom Clayton is one, representing some $6,000 in claims, out in the cold. This aroused their ire, and they had the concern forced into involuntary bankruptcy. By this means the books were obtained and in looking over them the trustee in bankruptcy claims he found enough evidence to warrant the information.

The information against Gillespie is to the effect that on July 24, 1901, Gillespie subscribed to a false statement before A. R. Leyda, a notary public at Beaver Falls, to the effect that $2,500 or 10 per cent of the capital stock of the company, had been paid into his hands. This statement it is alleged in the information, was made for the purpose of getting a charter for the enameled iron company, of which Gillespie was the treasurer, and it is claimed that Gillespie knew when he made oath that 10 per cent had not been paid in. It is said that other arrests will follow.

W. M. Gillespie of 6711 Thomas boulevard was asked this morning if he knew anything of the suit. His reply was that he had nothing to say.

BUTLER YOUTHS' DARING SCHEME

ARE NOW UNDER ARREST

Having in their possession valuable jewelry and other articles, two boys were arrested tonight in the Fifth Avenue hotel and are being held as suspicious persons pending an investigation. They say they are cousins and give the names of James J. and Andrew J. Daufery. Their homes, they declare, are in Butler, Pa.

The jewelry found on the boys consists of a pearl necklace valued at $1,000, a gold heart-shaped locket with large diamond in center and bearing the letters "K. F. C.," a small buckle set with 20 diamonds, a pair of link sleeve buttons with diamonds in center and several other pieces of expensive jewelry.

The police say the youngsters freely confess they have obtained property from many firms under false pretenses.

During their stay of 10 days here they had occupied suites of rooms at the Bartholdi, Belvidere, Victoria, Morton, Everett and other hotels, where they received goods they had ordered and afterward disappeared. Capt. Titus says that the boys gave their occupation as telephone boys. They are bright looking youngsters. Each is about 18 years old. They are well dressed and easily hired apartments in the hotels here.

Under Hotel Detectives' Eyes.

It took about $50 to start their scheme. They engaged for one day only a suite of rooms at a hotel. During the morning they went to the leading wearing goods at various department stores. The goods they received in the afternoon and then disappeared.

Detectives Wooldridge, Savor and Brown frequent the big hotels and make it their business to note all new arrivals. They were surprised to see the Dauterys at various hotels, and made inquiry concerning them. Much to their surprise they learned that they had not always registered under the same name. Investigation showed that while at the Victoria hotel they registered as J. J. and A. J. Hare; at the Bartholdi hotel as J. J. and A. J. Wilson, and at the Everett house as J. J. and A. J. Kelly.

From the proprietor of the Belvidere the detectives learned that after the Dauterys gave up their room there a guest had missed a satchel containing valuables. The proprietor made it his business, he said, to go and warn other hotels against receiving them.

Just after the Dauterys left the Victoria hotel today a package containing $100 worth of clothing was delivered by a clothing firm. The house detectives took possession of the articles and returned them to the owners.

Where They Were Arrested.

From the Victoria hotel the Dauterys went to the Fifth Avenue hotel, where they registered and hired a suite of rooms. Detective Wooldridge arrested them there. When they were brought to police headquarters they were searched. The collection quoted was found in their possession.

Capt. Titus questioned the Dauterys closely, but could get little from them, beyond an admission of the way they had victimized various firms. The jewelry they said they found. According to the detectives the Dauterys had the goods sent to them C. O. D. When delivered they took the package in at one door of their suite and disappeared through another.

"We don't care what you do with us, as long as you don't electrocute us," J. J. Daufery said to Capt. Titus, as he was led away to a cell.

MASCOT BADLY HURT.

MT. CARMEL, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—"Flagged and Sassy" but popular with the entire Sixteenth regiment is Heyser-old Andy Cecco, whose misfortune today has thrown Camp Fox into gloom. While riding an officer's horse to headquarters, preparatory to dress parade, the animal ran away through camp, rolling down a steep embankment, badly lacerating the horse and rendering his rider unconscious.

Examination at the camp hospital showed the boy to be badly bruised and suffering from internal injuries which it is feared will prove fatal.

A detachment from the Sixteenth regiment, guarding a local colliery today, rescued Lawson Gearhardt, aged 55, from a mine breach where he had been caught under a fall of top rock while stealing coal. He suffered a broken back and died in a few hours.

MINERS WANT TO BE SURE OF GETTING FORMER JOBS

we should hold out to them the hand of friendship and ask them to join us in providing for such business relations as shall for all time establish peace and tranquility in the coal fields.

Day of Non-Unionism Past.

The day is past when great organizations of capital can maintain the false position that organized labor shall be denied the right to organize into compact bodies and speak through the organization of which they are members. We recognize the right of capital to consolidate, to federate and to speak and act through its organization, but in according these rights and privileges to capital we demand and shall assert the same privileges for those who toil. Between the combination of capital on the one hand and the organization of labor on the other, there should be and needs no irreconcilable conflict, each is a factor in the economic development of our civilization, and the application of business judgment and plain common sense by each would enable them to work in harmony.

While the labor and capital unions are not by any means identical, they are, nevertheless, reciprocal; each is dependent upon the other and under our form of government, one cannot be longer without the other. Abraham Lincoln truly said that "Capital is the fruit of labor and could not exist if labor had not first existed; labor, therefore, deserves the first consideration." Thus this distinguished principle will be recognized by the tribunal selected by the president of the United States. I have no reason to doubt.

Care Must Be Taken.

The grave question which you have been called upon to consider today demands and must receive your most careful thought. Personally I should have preferred an adjustment of the differences existing in the anthracite field by conference with the anthracite mine owners and without the intervention of agencies not directly involved, but I recognize the fact that the relations between ourselves and the anthracite mine owners have become so strained as to render direct negotiation at this time impossible.

If the consequences of this strike affected only the immediate parties and their fellow workers there would be less reason for the intervention of a third party, but the fact that a coal famine was upon the people of the eastern and seaboard states and threatened to become a national calamity, induced the action of the chief executive of our nation in his earnest effort to bring about an early resumption of mining.

The proposition submitted for your consideration may have objectionable features and in its detail may not meet with the unanimous approval of our people, but it is impossible for me to conceive of any better plan when originally offered by the representatives of coal corporations.

Assured of Justice.

I am firm in my convictions that the prompt acceptance of this proposal will secure to the anthracite mine workers and those dependent upon them a greater measure of justice than they could attain by continuing the conflict; I believe that the prompt acceptance of this proposition will secure to the mine workers a greater degree of justice than they have enjoyed in the past.

The president of our country awaits with anxious expectancy the result of your action today; the eyes of the nation are centered upon the deliberations of this convention; the submission of the issues involved in this strike to the tribunal suggested by the president of the United States. That there are divergent elements in this convention I am fully aware but gentlemen, with all the earnestness of which I am possessed, I urge that you give your approval to the action of your executive officers who have recommended acceptance of the proposal that the strike be declared off and all miners return to work in the positions and working places occupied by them prior to the inauguration of the strike, and that all questions at issue be submitted for adjustment to the tribunal selected by the president of the United States.

Given Closest Attention.

The address was followed with the closest attention by the delegates. At various stages Mr. Mitchell was applauded, but when he urged the delegates to adopt the recommendations of the executive boards to call off the strike and all men return to work in the positions they occupied before the strike was inaugurated, tremendous applause greeted the remark.

The moment he finished a Wilkesbarre delegate was on his feet and moved that the recommendations contained in President Mitchell's address be adopted. Those in opposition would not have it that way. They wanted and did debate the matter until the adjournment after 5 o'clock. A Panther creek engineer was the first to take the floor in opposition to accepting the plan until he and his colleagues had some assurance that they would be reinstated in their old positions. A number of other delegates spoke along the same line and then one delegate took th ground that many of those in the hall were not delegates.

"We do not know whether Baer, Olyphant, or John Markle is in the hall ready to vote on the proposition to come before the men," he said, and moved the convention adjourn.

Steam Men Lead Debate.

President Mitchell requested all those who had no credentials, excepting newspapermen, to leave the hall. About half of those present retired.

The question then reverted to the motion to adopt the recommendations of the officers to call off the strike and refer all questions at issue to President Roosevelt's commission. The debate was resumed, the steam men leading.

A dozen speeches were made for and against the question of some specific action for assurance that the men would get back their place if they returned to work. It was argued by one delegate that the calling out of the engineers, firemen an pumpmen was a mistake, but as good union men they obeyed. Another delegate declared that the organization should not send the men back to work until all of them were assured work. "If we are going to die," he declared, "let us all die together."

At this point a delegate arose and asked President Mitchell to express his views on the subject. He immediately responded, saying:

Expects Fair Treatment.

As you know, the companies refuse direct negotiations with us. Through intermediaries we have received assurance that the commission are going to meet the issues fairly, that they are disposed to treat with the men; that they do not propose to be vindictive; that as far as possible men are to be returned to their old places. It may take some time before that can be brought about and may be that some few men will not be restored to their former positions at all.

Now let me emphasize this point: That the poorest boy that worked in a breaker is as dear to us as the man who ran the best engine; that while we shall try with all the power we have to get every man that struck back to his old job, we will make special effort for none and show special favors to none. We want the engineers, and the firemen, and the pumpmen and the inspectors, and the lasses to go back, but we do not want them to go back one bit more than we want the little breaker boys to go back. There was no single class of workmen who were responsible for the strike. Every man who struck, struck for wages; he struck for exactly the same things the miners and the mine laborers struck for.

Will Be Some Victims.

As far as it is within the power of the union we shall afford protection to every man, union or non-union, who came out on strike with us. In the struggle it may be true that some will be sacrificed, and, much as we shall regret that, I desire to say that no battle was ever fought in which victory was won without the sacrifice of some victims. Lives have been lost to gain the most brilliant victories that were ever won. I have appealed to you now to consent to accept the recommendations of our officers. If you decide to defer to the judgment of the president of your country, if you wish to be guided by the advice of your friends all over the land, I repeat to you my pledge, the United Mine Workers of America will protect the man who happens to be left out of his job.

In our pledge to the president of the United States, when we notified him that we would recommend to you a resumption of work, he assured us that he would recommend a return of our people to their old jobs; and if the coal companies fail to give our men their old places, if they fail to treat them reasonably, we shall carry the question to the national mercy commission and ask that tribunal to decide that we are entitled to work we left when we went to strike.

Greeted With Applause.

His remarks were greeted with applause. Another delegate made a speech against ending the strike without definite assurance of reinstatement, and Mr. Mitchell was again called upon for an explanation of the status of the arbitration plan as it now stands. In response to this request he said:

We have not altered their proposition as they made it, and the proposition could never, with my consent, be changed as far as they made it. When the coal companies thought to practically name the arbitrators we objected and we met with indifference to their proposal. The modification granted the president to select men outside of the chairs suggested by the operators.

Organized labor is represented on the commission. I do not believe they assume that either the capitalists or the trade unionists who are on the commission will permit their special interests to influence their judgment in making their decision. Each man named to labor is on that commission and it is there because the president of the United States wanted it there and because he would insist on the proposition being as it is there.

Fairness Shown by Speakers.

Then the delegates again took up the debate. Many of the delegates spoke with great earnestness. Three of them were willing to return to work and trust to the union to do justice to them. Another was willing to leave the whole matter in the hands of President Roosevelt and another said:

"If I can't get me job I can look for another one, therefore let us go to work and give the American people some coal."

The sentiment was loudly applauded. After the debate it was decided to let the question go over until tomorrow morning.

A committee on resolutions was then appointed and at 5:45 p. m. the convention adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

The resolutions committee met tonight and outlined a set of resolutions to be presented to the convention tomorrow. Nothing official was given out. It is probable they will recommend the acceptance of the arbitration plan, that all grievances be submitted to the commission appointed by President Roosevelt, and that all men who shall not find immediate employment shall be taken care of by the union.

FRANK J. FIELDS CLEARED BY NEW CASTLE ALDERMAN

away. Later he was arrested sometime later. He stated that his brother, Frank, had kept him posted as to the action of the authorities and that he had been urged to go further west. The affidavit of De Lore contains substantially the same statements. Judson died in August, 1901, and was buried at the public's expense.

After reading the affidavits, Attorney Wakefield made an eloquent appeal for his client. He declared that the affidavits did not set forth what the law recognizes as a dying confession, and contained no corroborative circumstance in support of his argument. "The Peek" affidavit is incompetent and irrelevant," he said. "It does not approach evidence. It is very little above scandal."

Crowd Shook Fields' Hand.

Attorney Wakefield's request for the discharge of his client was joined by Attorney McConahy, who, on behalf of the commonwealth, said he decidedly accepted the plea of the defense. Alderman Gilliland then turned toward Fields, and, extending his hand, told the prisoner that he was at liberty. In an instant the crowd that had listened with breathless attention to the reading of the affidavits and the argument of the attorney rushed forward to shake hands with the defendant. At first Fields paid little attention to the reception.

"Telephone to my wife at once," he shouted to his brother, Edwin, who stood by during the hearing. When assured that the good tidings had been sent home, he renewed his handshaking. When he emerged from the office many men in the street ran up to him and seized his hand, many following him to the railroad station. Several women were among those who congratulated him.

"I cannot express my astonishment at the whole turn of affairs," said Fields to a correspondent for The Gazette tonight. "Whether my half-brother is really dead or whether this entire scheme was concocted to hide the tracks of the real murderer, is mystifying. However, I shall find out the truth, and although I have little money to spare I am willing to make some sacrifices to send to Kansas and make a thorough investigation myself. Then I shall attend to this prosecutor's case."

The impression in New Castle is that McClaren was perfectly sincere in his action in the matter. He had gone to Oregon, it is said, on behalf of another man and had taken advantage of the trip to do a little detective work in Kansas on his own account. There was a big reward offered for the capture and conviction of the murderer.

Arrested on Suspicion.

Harry Williams of No. 518 Pawnee street, Allegheny, and John Scully of Braddock, both colored, were arrested yesterday by Inspector William McShane on suspicion of being implicated in a hold-up and robbery of a colored man at the South Fourth street tunnel a week ago. It is alleged by Matthew Hart that three negroes held him up and took his gold watch.

THE ANGELUS PIANO PLAYER

Is More Artistic Than Most Human Performers—It Plays Any Piano.

The time has come when the knowledge of music is not necessary to enable one to command the best music of the world's greatest composers. It need be no matter of especial regret if a person has not taken the time or trouble to learn to play. If you CAN play you will be all the more pleased with the Angelus piano player, for it is admitted on all sides that the Angelus affords most satisfaction to fastidious musicians.

In order to comprehend the ability of the Angelus you need only to hear this marvelous invention play some of your favorite pieces. Think of the delight it would afford you to have one of these devices in your own home on the occasion of some gathering of friends who are particularly fond of music. You would gratify even the most exacting of them by the artistic quality of the music which the Angelus is capable of producing.

The Angelus plays any make of piano. It will play your VERY touch. It responds to the touch of children as readily as to that of the most talented musician. The beauty of the Angelus is that it cannot fail to do just what the person operating it wishes it to do. All you do is to work the pedals—the Angelus does all the rest. And as for expression, the music produced by the Angelus has all that delightful quality which characterizes the performances of the master musicians. What more could be said in its favor?

Come in and hear the Angelus—today any time. The Angelus brings a flood of melody into homes where pianos were long silent.

ACCUSED OF TRYING TO BURN CHILDREN.

Magistrate Armstrong yesterday issued a warrant for the arrest of James Burns, 18 years old, living in Frazier street, on a charge of attempting to cremate the 11 and 2-year-old sons of Mrs. J. Rosenthall of Ward street, Oakland. Mrs. Rosenthall is a Jew and a member of the Rodef Sholem congregation. Burns is a Gentile. Mrs. Rosenthall alleges that last Friday Burns secured a pile of wood and straw, and, after placing the children upon it, set it afire. The screams of the children brought the mother and neighbors to their rescue before they were injured.

FOURTEENTH FINDS NO MINES TO GUARD

Marches Out to Mahanoy City Collieries, Then Marches Back Again.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MAHANOY CITY, PA., Oct. 20.—After a two days' lay off from early patrol duty the Fourteenth was again called upon to offer protection to non-unionists who care to return to the mines. Two battalions, the First and Third, under Lieut.-Col. Corbett, were assigned to this duty at daybreak, but as usual there was "nothing doing."

Thanks to Capt. Shields, inspector of rifle practice, the monotony of camp life was curtailed today by the completion of a pistol and two rifle ranges, of 75, 200 and 500 yards.

The first to take advantage of this most welcomed change was Company A. Excellent scores were made, despite a stiff wind.

Pistol practice occupied the attention of the field and line officers during the afternoon, with remarkably satisfying results. The accuracy of the officers' aim at varying distances was a revelation to the natives, who stood about in open-eyed wonder. Capt. Rising of Company G, led off with a total score of 65 out of a possible 75, with Lieut. Vitte, also of Company G, a close second with 64 points. Lieut. Ness of Company B and Capt. Blackstone of Company D made scores of 61 and 54 respectively. The practice will continue tomorrow and is expected eventually to lead up to the competitive shoot for the regimental trophy, now held by Lieut. Vitte.

Privates Selley of Company D and Derby of Company H were relieved from guard duty last night. They are now in the hospital, but neither are believed to be seriously ill.

MRS. GRANT NOT ILL.

Alarming Reports Concerning the Health of the General's Widow Are Contradicted.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Grant and her daughter, Mrs. Sartoris, have been greatly annoyed by the persistent reports that the widow of Gen. U.

MRS. U. S. GRANT.

S. Grant is in feeble health. All inquiries at Mrs. Grant's home today have been met with the unqualified statement that she is in comparatively good health.

She showed a little fatigue from her journey from Coburg, Ont., to Washington, but has fully recovered from the effects of the trip.

Mrs. Grant has received calls from several personal friends, and they join the family in declaring without foundation all reports of her ill health.

LEGALLY DEAD WOMAN APPEALS FROM DECREE

She Gets a Decision That She Is Alive, and Upsets a Keystone Statue.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Public Ledger Building,
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 20.

Although she was declared to be dead by a decree of the orphans' court of Berks county, and her property was turned over to an administrator, Mrs. Margaret Smith, formerly Cunnius, has upset an act of the legislature, which the superior court today decided to be unconstitutional in so far as it applied to cases like hers.

Mrs. Smith ceased to live in Reading when she was Mrs. Cunnius, and she had a dower right, as the widow of Andrew Cunnius, in a piece of land now owned by the Reading school district. The school board paid her in annual installments the sum fixed by appraisers until she disappeared in 1888.

She had one son, who continued to live in Reading, and on March 17, 1897, he applied for letters of administration on her estate. The application was made under the provisions of the act of assembly of June 24, 1885, relating to the estates of persons presumed to be dead by reason of long absence from their former domiciles. Under this act a person from or of whom nothing has been heard for seven years is presumed to be dead. The orphan's court of Berks county granted letters of administration to John S. Gallagher, who released Mrs. Smith's dower right to the Reading school district.

In 1899 Mrs. Smith suddenly reappeared and demanded her property. She explained that she had been living in Sacramento, Cal. In June of that year she brought suit to recover from the Reading school district her annual interest, setting up in opposition to the Pennsylvania statute of 1885 the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, which says: "Nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law."

The court of common pleas of Berks county decided in her favor and the school authorities appealed.

LARGEST PIANO HOUSE BETWEEN N. Y. AND CHICAGO

It is a fact worthy of note that Pittsburgh has a Piano House that handles annually more pianos than any other in the country outside of New York City and Chicago.

But more than that, W. F. Frederick, whose house is referred to above, has the exclusive agency for a very large territory for a greater number of recognized high grade "standard" pianos than any other dealer in the United States, without any exception.

This is a distinction and is full of meaning to all who want to buy a piano. A dealer whose business is sufficiently large to justify many manufacturers of fine instruments in giving him exclusive agency is worthy of your patronage.

W. F. Frederick has exclusive agency for (genuine) Chickering, Hardman, Kroeger, Behr Bros., McPhail, Haines & Co., Lindeman & Sons, Kroeger, Stieff, Zeidler, Tabler, Schubert, Foster & Co., and other pianos, not merely pianos with a title, but with a name known and respected.

Where can you see so many?

What's more, our list starts off with the world's very greatest—the greatest of the great, the Chickering, the oldest piano in America and accredited by the leading musicians and critics of the day as the best piano ever produced—best today as it has been the best for nearly a hundred years—the leader at beginning of the 20th century as it was the pioneer at the beginning of the 19th century.

Besides having the agency for the above named pianos we sell Estey and Mason & Hamlin Organs, and the latest and beyond doubt the best of all, the Chase & Baker Piano Player. So, does it not strike you that when you want a musical instrument you should go to W. F. Frederick, 623 Smithfield street, near Seventh avenue? Entire building, G. Schroeder, Manager.

NOTHING LIKE
Paine's Celery Compound
FOR CLEANSING AND PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

It Removes the Germs of Disease, Invigorates and Rejuvenates.

Thousands of men and women who have neglected the work of physical recuperation in the summer months are now carrying a burden of disease. In the majority of cases impure and poisoned blood and a sluggish circulation are the direct causes of suffering and misery. Are you, dear reader, one of the unhappy victims? If so, the life stream must be made pure, the health-wrecking laxity of the blood vessels must be corrected, the nerves and tissues must be nourished. Paine's Celery Compound is the medicine that physicians recommend for the increase of pure blood in the arteries, and for arousing the purifying organs to cast off the impurities that give rise to disease. Mr. James F. Hudson, Spring Ridge, La., was a terrible sufferer from impure blood; he tells how he banished his troubles:

"From some cause my blood became impure and resulted in boils and pimples. At one time I suffered from 27 boils. No one can imagine what I suffered. I tried sulphur, sarsaparillas and other remedies, but no relief came. Mr. Sebastian, a merchant whom I used to clerk for, handed me one of your circulars and insisted that I should use Paine's Celery Compound. After using two or three bottles the boils were not so numerous nor as large. After using the fifth bottle I was entirely cured, and have been myself ever since."

MARITAL TROUBLE COMING THICK

SEVERAL MORE IMMINENT

Barnesville Man Likely to Be Overwhelmed by Multiplicity of Spouses—Three Claimants to Him Brought Out at Hearing.

At a hearing given William E. Taylor of Barnesville, O., last night before Justice Lew F. Holtzman of Braddock on a charge of desertion, a sensation was caused by the appearance of another woman, who claims to be the wife of Taylor. Before the hearing was half through Taylor was accused of having several other spouses living, and the testimony was so startling that Justice Holtzman decided to hold him for court trial. He was later committed to jail.

Taylor was arrested by Jerry Lutz on a charge of desertion brought by Barbara Bittinger, 20 years old, of Braddock, who alleges Taylor married her in 1901. She claims he lived with her only three days, when he disappeared. While the hearing was going on Gertrude Kemper of Beaver county suddenly appeared in the justice's court and interrupted the hearing by alleging Taylor was her husband. She alleged that Taylor courted and married her when she was 16 years old, in 1900. Before the justice could prevent Miss Kemper going into details she upbraided her recreant husband in a manner probably never heard in the borough before.

The justice and others at the hearing were so surprised at the outbreak that they were unable to stop her, and the Bittinger woman heard a record of Taylor which startled her.

It was also alleged that besides the two women present claiming to be Taylor's wives he had first of all married Hattie Kesterson, and that a number of others would be produced in court at Taylor's trial.

Miss Bittinger also alleges that Taylor on leaving her had secured from her a $75 gold watch.

Taylor is said to be a railroader, and was arrested yesterday at Sheraden. It is alleged that while employed as a motorman on the Monongahela traction line of the Pittsburgh Railways Company in 1901 he met and married Miss Bittinger.

SMALL CHILDREN RAID VANDERBILT'S COAL

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Two hundred school children made a raid on a car of coal in the Sixth street freight yards of the Long Island railroad in Long Island City late this afternoon. They defied the entire available detective and police force of the railroad, and it was not until a locomotive was backed down and the car hauled away to a place of safety that the children were driven off.

It was the first cargo of hard coal that has passed through the yards of the Long Island railroad in months. The car was consigned, it is said, to W. K. Vanderbilt, Jr., for his home at Success Lake.

Without warning from all points children equipped with buckets, baskets, bags, boxes, small wagons and little girls with big, long aprons, descended upon the coal. A squad of detectives sent to the scene were lost in the crowd of children, who pelted them with handsful of coal while they heaped their buckets and boxes and filled their bags.

Then the police were summoned, but the raid continued. Finally an appeal was sent to the yardmaster to rescue what was left of the coal, and the track was cleared and a locomotive was backed down and coupled to the car. Not until then did the children desert the car.

Bottom Will Be Hidden.

Director McCandless expects to have the water turned into Highland reservoir No. 2 on Saturday about 3 o'clock p. m. The coping and sodding have been completed and it is announced that everything is in order. There will be no ceremony, but to those who care to be present, it will be an interesting exhibition.

DID NOT KNOW SHE HAD KIDNEY TROUBLE

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Gertrude Warner Scott Cured by the Great Kidney Remedy, Swamp-Root.

DR. KILMER & CO., Binghamton, N. Y.,

GENTLEMEN:—My trouble began with pain in my stomach and back, so severe that it seemed as if knives were cutting me. I was treated by two of the best physicians in the county, and consulted another. None of them suspected of the stomach, and would die. I grew so weak that I could not walk any more than a child a month old, and I only weighed ninety pounds. One day my brother saw in a paper your advertisement of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy. He bought me a bottle at our drug store and I took it. My family could see a change in me, for the better, so they obtained more and I continued the use of Swamp-Root regularly. I was so weak and run down that it took considerable time to build me up again. I am now well, thanks to Swamp-Root, and weigh 148 pounds, and am keeping house for my husband and brother. Swamp-Root cured me after the doctors had failed to do me a particle of good.

that the cause of my trouble was kidney disease. They all told me that I had cancer

(Gertrude Warner Scott.) Gertrude Warner Scott

Women suffer untold misery because the nature of their disease is not correctly understood; in many cases when doctoring, they are led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for their ills, when in fact disordered kidneys are the chief cause of their distressing troubles.

The mild and extraordinary effect of the world-famous kidney and bladder remedy, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. A trial will convince anyone—and you may have a sample bottle sent free by mail.

Sample Bottle of Swamp-Root Free by Mail.

EDITORIAL NOTE—If you have the slightest symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble, or if there is a trace of it in your family history, send at once to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., who will gladly send you by mail, immediately, without cost to you, a sample bottle of Swamp-Root, and a book telling all about Swamp-Root and containing many of the thousands upon thousands of testimonial letters received from men and women cured. In writing to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure to say that you read this generous offer in The Pittsburgh "Daily Gazette."

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you can purchase the regular fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles at the drug stores everywhere. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

SIXTEEN PAGES.

Public notice has been given of application for charters of two elevated railways in this city. This is a movement in the right direction, as the capacity of surface roads to handle down-town travel has about reached its limit. The sight presented in Pittsburgh every evening is without a parallel in any other city in the country. Crowds are gathered at every corner along the loops and by the time cars reach lower Fifth avenue they are packed so that nothing but slim chances of foothold are left. The men hang on anyhow, but women, tired out by shopping, or by their day's work in store or office, must stand and wait until they get a chance to squeeze in. The excuse of the traction companies that the loops are so crowded that they can hardly get any more cars around them is well founded. More routes must be opened.

The excuse of insufficient street accommodation does not hold good of all of the congestion on the traction lines. It is quite possible to provide additional cars for the travel accumulating at the Pittsburgh end of the Twenty-second street bridge and at the corner of Forbes and Craig streets. Routes from the South Side and East End districts should be laid out and equipped with cars of their own, and there should also be direct routes established from the Monongahela lines into Bloomfield and the East End districts. There is at present no proper provision for cross-town travel, which is now dependent upon transfers to cars which, in the evening, are choked to excess by the crowds taken on down town. A financial inducement is, however, wanting to improvement in this respect, as the congestion at cross-town connections is produced by crowds who have already given up their nickels. The case calls for some intervention of public authority.

No dependence is to be placed upon competition as a means of providing Pittsburgh with adequate facilities of transit. The tendency towards unified control in production and transportation is so strong that the appearance of competition is only a preliminary to consolidation. Public service corporations of every kind are naturally monopolies, and the public welfare will be promoted by frank recognition of that fact and acting accordingly. The contour of Pittsburgh is such as to leave no practical chance for competition, even if it were otherwise feasible, and the community will have to look to public regulation and control for proper transportation facilities. An elevated railway system unconnected with the surface roads could not be made to pay, so that we shall be practically dependent upon such terms as may be negotiated between the city and the Philadelphia Company for improvements in municipal transportation facilities. The elevated railway companies, application for whose charters is pending, are enterprises of the Philadelphia Company and will form part of its system.

We know from past experience what is to be expected from an uncontrolled monopoly. It will take such profits as the traffic will bear. As much will be taken from the public as can be obtained and the return will be such as the company finds it profitable to make, with an eye single to its own interests and with as little regard for its own obligations as the law will allow. The way in which the lighting franchises are managed illuminates the situation. Without any legal right whatever, and relying upon the inability of individual consumers to make a contest, the company arbitrarily restricts the use of natural gas to fuel purposes, so as to compel consumers to purchase illuminating gas or electricity for lighting purposes. When the Philadelphia Company was a natural gas concern alone it encouraged the use of natural gas as an illuminant, but since it controls the supply of artificial gas also it seeks to abridge its public service as a supplier of natural gas. In conveying any additional franchises to this company great care must be taken to annex efficient guarantees against abuse.

Public transactions with the traction roads have heretofore followed the rule of everything for the roads and nothing for the city. The Duquesne charters gave away without compensation franchises capitalized at seventeen millions when the first consolidation of traction interests took place, and a good many more millions have been piled on in the subsequent combinations ending in the Philadelphia Company's monopoly. Not only did the traction companies help themselves to the city streets, but they put upon the city the expense of providing any thoroughfares needed by the companies. A flagrant example is the widening of Cecil alley. The original connection between Penn avenue and Fifth avenue was through property purchased by the companies. When Cecil alley was widened 20 feet there was room for two tracks by taking full possession of the space, the companies exercised their control over the city government to have Cecil alley turned over to them as their thoroughfare, and for that purpose public use was cut down to a two-foot pavement. Having put upon the public the expense of providing a traction thoroughfare, the companies removed their tracks from their own strip and now it is occupied by a row of little shops. The whole transaction shows to what depths of meanness corporation management can descend in dealing with a subservient municipal administration.

Whether or not business shall go on in this style hereafter will depend upon election results. The ring was badly hit in the last municipal election, and all that now remains to introduce a new era of affairs is to carry on the good work by cleaning the ring out of the county offices also. The way will then be open at the approaching municipal election to install an administration which will be the representative of the public and not the obsequious servant of corporate monopoly. The traction roads should be treated on the same basis The Gazette has steadily recommended as regards the steam railroads. They should have everything they want in reason, but should pay a fair compensation for what they get. Moreover, as there will be an absolute monopoly of street railway transportation, whether surface or elevated, there is need of special precautions to compel fair play. Reasonable regulations as to adequate facilities should be enforced. Unnecessary servitude of public highways to the convenience of the monopoly must be prevented. Any man fit to sit in the recorder's chair would compel the traction companies to shift their tracks on Cecil alley so as to allow ordinary pavement room, even if it did compel them to make use of their own property in the transaction of their business.

A PERTINENT CHALLENGE.

Senator Brown yesterday made a very effective reply to the strictures of Candidate Guthrie upon the failure of the legislature to make senatorial and legislative reapportionments. The first part of this reply is a challenge to Mr. Guthrie to produce, within the next two weeks, a scheme of senatorial reapportionment that will be constitutional. Unless Mr. Guthrie meets that challenge his whole case will fall, as it pertains to senatorial apportionment. It is a fair proposition, too, that Mr. Guthrie cannot afford to ignore. He has complained of the legislature failing to perform a constitutional duty and the burden is upon him to point out how it can be done.

On the second point there is no room for controversy. The Republican party presented and urged a legislative reapportionment conforming strictly to the constitutional requirements. If adopted it would have done justice to every section. That bill was defeated by the Democrats and Insurgents in the house. The Insurgents in this campaign are represented by the men who tried, by means of a fraudulent roll of delegates, to give the Union party indorsement to Pattison and the "Muddy Water party," which is the Pittsburgh ring attachment of the Pattison candidacy.

It is so with all of the alleged state evils and issues produced by the Pattison campaigners. Upon investigation they are found to have a very slight basis of truth, or the Democrats and ring supporters of Pattison are found to be responsible for the failure of right and justice. They are poor reasons for turning the state government over to Democratic control.

A CODE OF MISRULE.

Students of municipal government have been watching with interest the results of the Ohio movement to provide a general incorporation act for cities. In pursuance of a provision of the state constitution prohibiting special legislation for cities, the Ohio supreme court declared void existing municipal charters. The constitutional provision was in the interest of home rule and its requirements would have been correctly interpreted by an enabling act authorizing each city by ordinance to supply itself with departments of administration in accordance with its needs. In just this way the administration of the national government has been built up, the constitution simply vesting executive authority in the president, and the legislative authority in the two houses of congress and the president. The various executive departments all rest upon legislative enactments made from time to time in accordance with practical requirements.

Instead of providing a general code of this character the Ohio legislature has devised a complicated scheme which every city must accept whether suitable or not. It provides for numerous elective offices and various boards, among which the powers of government are distributed in a way that will be certain to cause confusion and trouble. The more checks and partitions of authority are provided in the formal scheme of government the greater will be the necessity for some outside authority to harmonize their operation. The Ohio municipal code will make rings and bosses an essential adjunct of municipal government.

Nothing is more common than talk to the effect that municipal government should be organized and conducted upon business principles; nothing is more rare in practice than the application of business principles. The universal method of business management is to establish complete authority and then subject it to responsibility for results. The Ohio municipal code provides that the voters shall elect the mayor, president of council, members of the board of public service, auditor, treasurer, solicitor and councilmen. Provision is also made for a number of boards upon which both parties shall be represented. Who would expect to see the affairs of a business corporation properly managed if the administration was split up in this way and the stockholders elected the officers? No sensible man would invest a dollar in a corporation organized after the pattern of the Ohio municipal code. Friction, mismanagement, inefficiency and corruption will be the natural consequences.

FORCES OF ORDER.

While the anthracite miners' convention deferred definite action until today, it is not a hazardous prediction that they will return to work at once, accepting the adjustment to be made by President Roosevelt's commission. If there had been any possibility of wavering it has been removed by the logical advice and earnest appeal of their president, Mr. Mitchell. That address may be commended to the careful attention of the presidents of the operating companies as an evidence that co-operation with the conservative power wielded by Mr. Mitchell is the surest means to permanent peace.

In this same line is the announcement from Chicago that the Federation of Labor of that city by an almost unanimous vote ordered the striking members of the Wholesale Grocers' Employes' union to return to work pending adjustment of their grievances by arbitration. The executive board of the Federation is a party to an agreement with the wholesale grocers providing for the arbitration of disputes, and the organization would not stand for a violation of that contract. Labor unions in general have come to realize the value of contracts and to hold them sacred. Irresponsible members occasionally disregard agreements, but the officials and executive boards wield a powerful influence in maintaining the inviolability of contracts, thus becoming factors in sustaining industrial peace.

Not long ago a strike of freight handlers at Buffalo was broken by the president of the union, who declared he would employ non-union men to do the work if the members of his organization did not at once return to work and fulfill their obligations under a written agreement. The right of labor to organize is generally conceded as the corollary to the tendency toward combination of capital in the prosecution of larger enterprises. The advantage of such organization of labor to employers as well as to employes is not as readily recognized, though many of the foremost managers of combined capital are firm believers in it. The American trades union, unlike those of Great Britain, is not an opponent of progress, but is an agent to secure the progress of labor along with the evolution of methods. It makes for greater stability of conditions and security of investment, because the organized body is less whimsical than the individual members.

UNITED FOR THE RIGHT.

Wise counsels have prevailed in the adjustment of affairs in the Third legislative district whereby the opposition to the machine is enabled to unite upon the same candidates as in the other districts in the county. The Citizens and Democratic party tickets will be identical. In union there is strength.

There is a bright prospect for every one of the anti-machine candidates for the legislature, and it is important that these prospects should be realized. Ousting the machine from the offices in the court house is only one-half of the work of purification. It must be shut out of the house and senate at Harrisburg also to make the job complete. There is likely to be legislation affecting Allegheny county at the coming session, so it ought to be represented by men in sympathy with popular sentiment and the public interest. For years the delegation has represented nothing but the will of the machine. It has given to other members of the legislature and to the state at large a false impression of what the people at home really desired. In ordinary cases the members from this county have been ready to vote for the jobs of any man who had a vote to give in return for the bills designed to enrich the ring.

During last session the delegation was sufficiently divided to get a hearing for the people. In the next session it should be solidly on the people's side and it is not unreasonable to expect it will be. The county is entitled by population to a larger representation than it will have, but it is more vital to have a right representation than a large one. The election of all the Citizens party candidates will secure that desired result.

A TRUTH ILLUSTRATED.

For American consumption there is no part of the report of the London chamber of commerce on wages in England more timely or more significant than that which discloses that the re-establishment of boards of conciliation in the mining regions is accompanied with the acceptance of a reduction of wages by "the work people," as the report terms them. The matter to which we call attention is incidental to the report, not the feature of it. It is important at this time in the United States because of the anthracite mine strike just ending, with its resistance of arbitration until arbitration was forced by the action of President Roosevelt. The lowering of wages in the British mining regions, it can be believed, must have been necessary, or a board of conciliation would not have recommended it. Its necessity may be held proven by the circumstance that the workers acquiesced in the reduction. The significance of the matter is that it presents the wage earner as a reasonable being, accommodating himself to circumstances that he perceives to be beyond the power of the wage payer to better. Boards of conciliation cannot create economic conditions, but they can make them clear to those affected. Prerequisite to this is confidence in the board, and this necessarily leads up to confidence of employer and employed in each other, and the establishment thereby of industrial peace. Lack of confidence is the basis of disturbance of good relations between capital and labor. This was very apparent in the anthracite strike. The important work of the commission appointed by President Roosevelt is not so much the adjustment of existing differences as the establishment of confidence. If the relations of employer and employed are based on this foundation questions of hours of work and rates of pay ought to be as easily adjusted in this country as in England, where, the London chamber of commerce tells us, during 1901 "out of every 100 persons whose wages were changed only two were concerned in strikes or lockouts."

Plans are complete and bids invited for one handsome shelter house for Highland park. This is making progress in the right direction and needs to be followed promptly by other buildings of the same character. Pittsburgh has now quite a wide domain devoted to park purposes—enough to spare a site for the technical school if necessary—but will not be in full enjoyment of it until shelter houses, refreshment pavilions and other accessories are supplied. The parks are intended more particularly for the people who cannot afford to go to seaside, mountain or country for the summer, and their full usefulness demands an equipment that will contribute to the comfort and pleasure of the people at all times. Trees, flowers, fountains and swings are a part of this equipment, but shelter from summer storms and the means of satisfying appetite or supplying the cravings of nature are equally necessary. Urge the good work along.

A very weak case was presented against Frank Fields—in fact no case at all—at New Castle and the prisoner was discharged with the congratulations of all spectators. Obviously the man accused had nothing to do with the murder of John Bleving, but was made the victim of amateur detective talent. This leaves the murder mystery as deep as in the beginning. It will likely never be solved unless some guilty conscience forces a disclosure, of the criminals fall out with each other. Meantime it is to be hoped the desire to gain the reward or the excitability of impressionable persons will not provoke any more false arrests.

By taking his own life James Younger, the one-time famous bandit and train robber, affords a striking illustration of the contradictions in human character. With all his physical courage and reckless bravado in the pursuit of a career of crime, Younger weakens and succumbs under the disappointments and sorrows incident to a more admirable form of existence. Ready as he had been to fight for his life, not hesitating even to take the lives of others to preserve it, he weakly surrenders it when disappointed in attaining the object of a purer ambition.

The crown prince of Siam will doubtless be very much edified by the efforts the Chicago people will make to pronounce his name according to local language traditions.

Uncle Jerry Simpson has announced his allegiance to the Democratic party again, thereby adding another weight to that already heavily ladened political outfit.

Minister Wu Ting Fang is to linger with us a little longer. Wu will doubtless be as popular as a lingerer as he has so long been in the position of a fixture.

If "Bill" Pritts makes good in church vaudeville he might later on break into the legitimate and give us a new version of "Romany Rye."

Pittsburgh has grown so accustomed to breaking records that a record-breaking exposition this fall should surprise nobody.

The latest outbreak of temper on the part of the Mad Mullah seems to have resulted disastrously for the British forces.

MOLINEUX FIGHT IN FULL SWING

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.

A middle-sized, well-built man, with flashing eyes and a square chin, sprung lightly up the front steps of the criminal court building this morning, and after nodding to half a dozen acquaintances, walked into an elevator and was whisked up to the offices of the district attorney. Soon afterward he made his way into the court room where the battle of life of Roland B. Molineux is to be fought out. The square-chinned man was James W. Osborne. He is the assistant district attorney who nearly succeeded in placing Molineux in the electric chair two years ago, and who has determined to seat him there yet if it can be done. Osborne is a fighter from the heels up. He plunged into his speech today with a fierce determination to make every point and with what Molineux may have seemed a brutal disregard of his feelings. Molineux never moved a muscle, but that is characteristic of the man. It will take more than Osborne's invective to stir him. If his demeanor at the last trial may be taken as a criterion of what it will be at the present one. There were not many people in the court room, comparatively speaking, because the order has gone forth that idle spectators are not to be admitted. Indeed, there would be no room for them when attorneys, talesmen, witnesses and newspaper men have been accommodated. There was a crowd around the building all day, however. While nothing could be seen from the street, nor even from the corridors within, the curiosity-mongers that always hang about the place where a man is on trial for his life were drawn by a horrible fascination to linger about the courthouse, and there was a blockade in Center street in front, as well as in Franklin street, with the grim "bridge of sighs" overhead and the gray stone walls of the old Tombs prison just across. This gathering of men and women continued all day and will last until the trial is over, just as it has in former trials. There is no question that interest in the trial is at fever heat, and thousands of persons who would not take to the trouble to hang about the courthouse are just as much concerned in the outcome as if they did.

Materna in Danger of Poorhouse.

A movement is to be set on foot in New York to raise a fund for the benefit of Mme. Amelia Materna, the operatime Wagnerian singer, who is reported to be utterly destitute in Germany. It is said the Wagner family has declined to interest itself in her behalf and that she is in danger of the poorhouse. Although it is some years since Materna sang in New York, there is still a large class of people that remember her with pleasure and it should be easy to raise a goodly sum for her here. It is said that she has lost all the souvenirs of her artistic career, and that even the helmet, shield and spear used in her famous performance of "Brunhilde" at the opening of the Bayreuth theater in 1876 have been seized and sold at auction.

John L. Sullivan to Be a Witness.

John L. Sullivan was in part VII. of the supreme court this morning. He had been subpoenaed as a witness, and although he did not get to the witness stand, it was not his fault. He said he was ready to enter the ring at any time. He was in a fighting humor, although a red necktie gave him rather a more dashing aspect than he would have suggested otherwise. The case was that of Daniel F. Dwyer vs. the Metropolitan Street Railway Company, for damages sustained by Dwyer in falling from a trolley car. The plaintiff was in the employ of the immortal John L. at one time, and the big man was there to see fair play. John may be called to the stand tomorrow, but he was excused today.

Telegraphers to Meet in Pittsburgh.

Telegraphers here and in other cities are organizing local unions. New York union came into existence last night, and there was another one in Baltimore. The union has not been in good shape since the big strike of 1883, when Pittsburgh was the storm center; but there is a determined movement on foot now and operators here say that their union will be stronger than ever very soon. The national convention of the Telegraphers' union will be held in Pittsburgh on the 20th of November, and will likely last three days. Telegraphers' conventions are generally held at the Monongahela house, with the "70" room not the least interesting feature.

Quick Recovery from Coal Famine.

Now we are told by people supposed to have sound information that hard coal will be selling in this city at $12 a ton on Thursday, while by next Monday it will be $8, or even $7. If this is true, what need New York care for a big coal strike? Such quick recovery is remarkable, surely. People here have been talking about having to pay $20 a ton for weeks, even if the coal strike should be settled immediately, and the truth is that the dealers cannot get $15, with the settlement of the strike not a positive certainty. They will be lucky if they are able to keep the figure up to what it was before the trouble, according to some cynical observers.

A Veteran Police Captain Retires.

Police Captain Sheehan, who has been commander of the Tenderloin precinct two or three times, and who is one of the captains whose name is known almost as well in Pittsburgh as in New York, was retired from the force this afternoon at his own request. He has been a policeman for 34 years and feels that he has had enough of it. He was transferred from the Tenderloin to Old Slip right after the murder of Capt. Craft in a West Twenty-ninth street dive, although it was not shown that he had neglected his duty in that connection. Old Slip is a dismal quarter on the extreme lower East Side, within a stone's throw of Wall street, and most of the cases down there are drownings, accidental or by design, and rows among the longshoremen and sailors who gather in the saloons in Water street and adjacent thoroughfares. Sheehan seemed to find it dull down there, and as he was tired of police duty, anyhow, asked for retirement, and got it.

Democratic Coolness for Coler.

Lieut.-Gov. Timothy Woodruff is unkind to Bird S. Coler. He is quoted as saying that "Mr. Coler will have good grounds after election to commence a suit for abandonment against the Democratic party." Prominent Democrats all over the state are shying at the platform, especially the coal plank. It may be mentioned that Woodruff offers $10,000 to wager against $5,000 on Odell for governor as against Coler; and the chubby lieutenant-governor repeats the old axiom, "Money talks."

Latest Trick to Beat a Store.

One of the big Broadway hotels was the scene of a new game by sneak thieves on Saturday night. Morris Moses, the well-known Pittsburgher, is a guest at the house, and he told me the story this afternoon. Two young men engaged a room with a curtained alcove, and after looking it over went out and ordered two new overcoats from a big store in Broadway, directing them to be sent C. O. D. to them at the hotel. Then they returned to their room. A boy brought the coats, and, learning that the men were upstairs, said he would take the parcel to them. He did so and met one of the men in the room, who looked at the coats and said he wanted to show them to his wife, who was in the adjoining room. He disappeared behind the portieres and—that was the last seen of him. It was found that they had removed the lock from the door in the alcove and had walked away with the coats. The manager of the hotel pronounces it one of the slickest tricks he has seen in many years of experience. Also he congratulates himself that he did not tell the clothing firm's messenger to go upstairs. There is a nice point in this. The boy went up of his own volition. Had the hotel manager advised him to go up, the house would have been responsible for the loss of the property. As it is, that falls on the clothing firm. At least, this is Morris Moses' understanding of the law, as he explained it to me.

Swarms of Italians Coming.

This was a "big Italian day" at the barge office. Several thousand Italian immigrants were landed, and there was a great mixing up of languages and no end of confusion generally. Nearly 3,000 immigrants were landed, of whom four-fifths were Italians. They came on four steamships. What they will all do can only be conjectured, although it is believed most of them will go west. There is not much room for more Italian labor in New York, and the desire of the authorities is to make newcomers move on toward the setting sun. It is possible that Pittsburgh will get some of them.

A Bright Monday for Real Estate Men.

One sign of good commercial conditions was the activity of the real estate market today. It is the experience of dealers that when there are good sales on Monday things are bright for the rest of the week. The sales were all moderate, so far as individual prices paid were concerned, but there were many of them, reaching a goodly sum in the aggregate. One of the purchasers was Joseph Pulitzer, the newspaper proprietor, who indulged himself by buying a three-story private stable in East Seventy-third street.

Dog Days in Gotham.

Madison Square garden is musical tonight with the barking, yelping, growling, baying, sniffling and squealing of dogs. There are dogs of all sizes and breeds there, and many of them are attended by the daintiest examples of femininity that ever kissed a pug on his cold nose, or combed the hair of a Japanese terrier with a silver comb. The second annual bench show of the Ladies' Kennel association of America will open tomorrow, and most of the entries are already domiciled in the boxes they will occupy for four triumphant days. There will be 1,600 dogs and $10,000 in prizes. There are several entries from Pittsburgh.

Outdoor Dining.

"Palm gardens" are so usual a thing in the big hotels and restaurants nowadays that guests ask the way to them as a matter of course. There is an impression that dinner served amid palms and ferns in a conservatory is more palatable than when eaten in an ordinary dining room, and seats are likely to be at a premium at the dinner hour in any of the fashionable hotels. There is a well-known restaurant in Sixth avenue, near Twenty-eighth street, where a new palm garden has been just completed, which will be actually out of doors. There will be no roof, and guests will sit out there, hidden by shrubbery, with the stars overhead, while they work through the French table d'hote at their leisure. It is the only place of its kind in the uptown district, and other restaurant men will watch curiously to see whether it catches popular favor. If it does, then look out for al fresco garden dining rooms all the way along Broadway above Twenty-third street. Imitation is the soul of trade in the Tenderloin, as any old-timer will tell you.

Cutting's Automobile Accident.

William B. Cutting, the millionaire New Yorker, was thrown out of his automobile today at Guttenburg while on his way to Tuxedo. The fact that he was going at moderate speed suggests that one need not run an automobile at breakneck rate to get into trouble with it. The report of the accident was that the machine "collapsed," whatever that may mean. Mr. Cutting was bruised and shaken up, but not seriously injured. In fact, it appears as if the automobile suffered worse than he.

Multi-Millionaire's Domestic Boss.

It is seldom, indeed, that John D. Rockefeller, Jr., misses attendance at his Bible class in the Fifth avenue Baptist church. He had to do so yesterday, however, because his wife said he must. He has had a severe cold, and the drizzling weather of yesterday was regarded as too threatening to make it wise for him to venture out. From which it is seen that even a multi-millionaire must obey his wife, whether he wants to do so or not—that is, if he is the right kind of a husband.

A Martyr to Golf.

The golfer who was knocked on the head with a putter yesterday is loyal to the game, whatever else may be said. He said today that he regretted the arrest of his assailant because it might lead to a crusade against Sunday golf, which he would regard as a sad thing, indeed. As for the crack on the head, he seems to look on that as only an amenity of the links that is not worth mentioning. It must be said, in justice to the game of golf, that this is the first case on record of a player using the little iron known as a putter upon another player's head, whether on Sunday or any other day of the week. Meanwhile, Sunday golf flourishes breezily on Sundays all over the adjacent Jersey territory, to say nothing of West Chester and Long Island.

Music in the Sky.

Another notable skyscraper business building in Fifth avenue was opened today. It is the 12-story structure occupying the site of the old Stewart mansion, afterward the Manhattan club, at the corner of Thirty-fourth street and Fifth avenue, opposite the Waldorf-Astoria. It is occupied by a musical instrument concern.

Indiana Democrats.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

There are at least three kinds of Democrats in the Indiana campaign this year. There is Judge Kirkpatrick, in the Ninth district, openly declaring against the "tariff-for-revenue-only" plank of the Indiana Democratic platform. There is Capt. Nelson of Logansport, insisting upon government ownership of the anthracite mines. There are the Democrats in Wayne county declaring for the Kansas City platform. Then there are Democrats who are afraid to make speeches because they may forget themselves so far as to mention the name of William Jennings Bryan.

Let Him Explain.

From the Kansas City Journal.

Mr. Bryan says it was the Almighty, not the Republican party, that gave the country prosperity. Perhaps Mr. Bryan will explain why the Almighty never gives the country such blessings when the Democratic party is in power.

THE DEATH ROLL.

The Rev. John D. Owens.

The Rev. John Dyer Owens, a United Presbyterian minister, and a member of the Allegheny county bar, died yesterday morning at his residence, corner of South End and Hazelton avenue, Allegheny. He was 56 years old and death was due to general debility. Mr. Owens was born in the Third ward, Allegheny, and was a resident of the North Side the greater part of his life. He received his early education in the old Third ward public school, and later attended Elders Ridge academy. After his graduation he studied law in Pittsburgh and in 1879 was admitted to the Allegheny county bar. After practicing for one year the Rev. Mr. Owens entered Washington and Jefferson college, from which he graduated in 1874. He then took the three years' course at Western Theological seminary, from which he was graduated in 1877. The first place to which the young pastor was assigned was Attleboro, in Huntingdon county, where he remained for three years. He had subsequent charges in Sewickley, Westmoreland county; Yellow Creek, Columbiana county, O.; Mt. Zion and High Hill, in Muskingum county, O.; Harrison Springs, Amsterdam and Kilgore, in Carroll county, O. In 1896 he returned to Pittsburgh and again took up the practice of law. Since 1898 he was stated supply at the Morningside church. Early in 1862 he enlisted as a drummer boy in the One Hundred and Ninety-third Pennsylvania volunteers and servide until January of the following year, when he was honorably discharged. He again enlisted in the One Hundred and Twenty-third regiment and served until the close of the war. During his residence in Westmoreland county he was a member of Henry Cope post of the Grand Army of the Republic. He is survived by his widow, two sons and three daughters: Brice Roy, William Aleton John Dyer, Jr., and the Misses Olabelle and Wilma. Funeral services, in charge of the Rev. Drs. D. S. Kennedy and J. A. Platts, will be held at the family residence this evening at 8:30.

William F. Everson, Jr.

Telegrams received in the city last night announced the death in Denver, Col., of William H. Everson, Jr., a member of the well-known family of that name which has been prominent in Pittsburgh for so many years. Mr. Everson had been engaged in mining operations in Colorado for some years past and made his home in Denver. His death occurred yesterday, but no particulars have been received. The remains will be brought to Pittsburgh for interment. Mr. Everson was 35 years of age and a native of Pittsburgh. His father was the late William H. Everson, the iron and steel manufacturer. He is survived by five brothers and two sisters. The former are John Q. Everson of the Equitable Assurance society, Barclay M. Everson of the Baldwin locomotive works, Dr. M. W. Everson of Fifth avenue, Oakland, T. B. Everson of the Carnegie tube works and George H. Everson of Pittsburgh. His sisters are Mrs. W. G. Mercein and Mrs. C. C. Thompson, both of whom are residents of East Liverpool, Ohio.

Mrs. Mary Graham.

Mrs. Mary Graham died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Denholm, No. 421 Center street, Wilkinsburg, yesterday morning. She had been in poor health for a number of years. She was 76 years old and had been a resident of Wilkinsburg for 20 years. Since the death of her husband, Malcolm Graham, seven years ago, she had been living with her daughter. Before her marriage Mrs. Graham was Miss Mary Boggs of Evans City, and was related to the Boggs family of Pittsburgh. She is survived by six children: Mrs. Fred Buell of Evans City, Prof. R. O. Graham of Bloomington, Ill.; Mrs. J. H. Harper of Butler, A. C. Graham of Wilkinsburg, Mrs. George Denholm of Wilkinsburg, and J. L. Graham of Niles, O. Mrs. Graham was a charter member of the First United Presbyterian church, Wilkinsburg. The remains will be taken to Butler tomorrow for interment.

Samuel B. Kingdon.

Samuel B. Kingdon, one of the best known journalists of Boston, died suddenly yesterday of heart failure, aged 61. He first became prominent as a newspaper man in Ohio during the days of the Morgan raiders. He was connected with the Dayton Morning Journal when the office of that paper was wrecked by a mob after the arrest of Clement L. Vallandigham by federal troops. He was one of the publishers of the Miami Visitor and later was with the Springfield Evening News. He served for a time in the Thirty-second O. V. I., and then in the postal service at Wilmington, Del. In 1870 he went to Corry, Pa., then the great distributing center of the Pennsylvania oil regions, and was for two years associate editor of the Corry Evening Blade. The rest of his career was equally varied. He was admitted to the Massachusetts bar and joined the staff of the Boston Transcript.

Albert Hamilton Buried.

The funeral services over the remains of Albert Hamilton, the glass manufacturer, who was shot and killed in New York last Friday by W. W. Cornwell, were held yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence No. 409 South Highland avenue. The Rev. Dr. R. S. Holmes, pastor of the Shadyside Presbyterian church, conducted the ceremony, and immediately afterward the interment was made in Hazelwood cemetery. It was private, although Mr. Hamilton was a member of fraternal organizations, including the Masons. The pallbearers were members of Pittsburgh commandery. Many individual members of the Pittsburgh commandery, Knights Templar, and Gen. Alexander Hays post No. 3, Grand Army of the Republic, were present. There were many handsome floral tributes, including a large and handsome design from Mr. Hamilton's employes.

Peter Simon.

Peter Simon, 68 years old, a pioneer resident of Rankin, died at his home in Baltimore street, that place, early yesterday morning of rheumatism. He was born in Germany and came to America and settled in Rankin in 1865. He built the second house erected in the borough and for many years was one of its leading business men. He is survived by his widow and six children: Joseph and Peter Simon of Rankin, Anthony Simon of Braddock and William Simon, first sergeant of Company E, Twenty-eighth infantry, stationed in the Philippines; Mrs. Mary Arbeiger of Rankin and Mrs. Frank Abele of Homestead. He was a charter member of St. Joseph's German Catholic church, Braddock.

Mrs. Ann Conner.

Mrs. Ann Conner, 82 years old, died at the Home for Aged Women, Wilkinsburg, yesterday morning of general debility. Mrs. Conner had been an inmate of the home for 12 years and was one of the oldest of its occupants. She formerly resided in Pittsburgh. She is survived by one son, Thomas Conner, a clerk for the Crucible Steel Company, and a sister, Mrs. Margaret Bigley of Lawrenceville. Mrs. Conner was a member of the Episcopal church, and the funeral services will be conducted tomorrow afternoon by the Rev. Dr. Paxton, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church, Wilkinsburg. The interment will take place at Homewood cemetery.

Obituary Notes.

S. H. Gorham of Marshall, Mich., president of the First National bank of that city, is dead.

Hugh McCullough, aged 80, of Sallieville, O., died yesterday. He started to learn the saddler's trade at 16, and followed that occupation for 60 years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Coleman, aged 73, widow of John G. Coleman, is dead at her home at Indiana, Pa. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. Mary E. Stewart, and an adopted daughter, Mrs. John F. Hastings of Indiana.

Daniel J. Cooney, 46 years old, a foreman at the Republic iron works, is dead at his late home, No. 2001 Carpenter alley, South Side. He was a member of several fraternal organizations. His widow and three children survive.

William Manrahan, aged 86, died Sunday night at his residence at Sharon, Pa. He was a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Catholic Benefit association and the Hibernian Rifles. He is survived by his widow and seven children.

William N. Jarrett, 45 years old, a well-known insurance man of the South Side, is dead at his late home, No. 418 Charles street, Knoxville. He was a Mason and a member of the South Eighteenth Street Methodist Protestant church. His widow and two children survive.

Two of a Kind.

From the New York Tribune.

Having got himself, through his peanutty loquacity, into a pretty tight coal hole, Mr. Hill determines henceforth during the campaign to maintain a policy of silence. "The trouble with me," remarked a parrot upon a certain historic occasion; "the trouble with me is that I talk too much."

Humpty Dumpty Bill.

From the Philadelphia Inquirer.

The wily David Hill prepared a platform on the assumption that the coal strike would last until after election. At present he is in the position of that historic Humpty Dumpty who had a great fall. There is nothing left for him to stand upon.

GOOD MILLINERY IN GOOD TIMES

Much Truth in the Newspaper Jokes About Women and Their Hats.

B. Darling of New York, who is registered at the Pfister, is in a business which is more easily affected by prosperity, or lack of it, than any other in the country, says the Milwaukee Sentinel. He travels for a firm which handles trimmings for women's hats, and accordingly the stories told by Mr. Darling it can be easily seen whether times are good or bad by the number of sales made to the trade.

"When the head of the family is earning good money," said Mr. Darling, "his better half as well as the daughters are privileged to buy new hat trimmings and are not compelled to rake out their last year's fixings from some old box stored in the attic. These comic paper jokes about the discussions between men and their wives are too true. The average woman thinks that she should have a new hat every spring, summer, fall and winter, but the average husband, on the contrary, thinks that a new hat every other year ought to do her just as well, especially as the principal part of the trimmings is composed of trimming, and that the headdress does but little, as far as protection from the elements are concerned. Wings, feathers, flowers and birds can be used over and over again where they are not permanently injured, and the husband, who knows nothing about the styles, sees no reason why his wife should not utilize the odds and ends which have accumulated in the course of time, because you know that women seldom if ever throw anything away as absolutely useless.

"Just at present we are doing as well as we have for the last few years, the hard times which some say are to follow the coal strike apparently having not reached us. The agitation begun by the Audubon society has not affected the sale of bird trimmings to any great extent, although in some sections the influence of the society has been felt more than it has in others. We do not sell many birds in Wisconsin, although the business generally has been good. The middle west, in my opinion, is one of the most prosperous parts of the United States. Sea gulls are in great demand, but in so far as there is a law which prohibits the sale of American birds we are compelled to import all of our gulls. The supply is limited, and it was exhausted some weeks ago."

JUDGE WATCHES INTEREST OF MOLINEUX

Will Not Allow Prosecution to Draw Conclusions for Jury's Benefit.

CORNISH ON THE STAND

HE PRESIDES AT THIRD TRIAL OF ROLAND B. MOLINEUX FOR MURDER.

Justice John S. Lambert of the New York City Supreme Court.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 20.—The jury for the trial of Roland B. Molineux, charged with the murder of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams, was completed today. Assistant District Attorney Osborne this afternoon made his opening address for the state, after which the taking of evidence commenced.

Speaking of the absence of certain witnesses, whose evidence he wished to obtain, Mr. Osborne said that although the defense had the right to take the evidence of absent witnesses the prosecution did not have that right. There were witnesses out of the state who would not attend for him and if the defense did not produce them he intended to comment on their absence.

"Not now," interrupted the court.

Continuing, the district attorney recited the details of the case and speaking of Cornish, said:

"You gentlemen may think it was foolish of Cornish to give the contents of a bottle received in that way to Mrs. Adams."

Must Not Draw Conclusions.

"That is drawing on the imagination of the jury," interrupted the court.

The assistant district attorney, after explaining the nature of different poisons, was advancing a theory as to the efforts at secrecy made by the prisoner, when the court interrupted him again.

"You can tell the jury," Justice Lambert said, "what you will prove, and not the deductions you want them to draw."

"I expect to prove those facts, your honor," Mr. Osborne replied.

"Very well," replied the court; "prove them and let the jury draw their own deductions."

At the conclusion of his address, which occupied an hour and a half, Mr. Osborne asked for an adjournment until tomorrow morning, which was denied. He then called Dr. Edward F. Hitchcock, the first physician to see Mrs. Adams after she was taken ill. The doctor said he saw a "suspicious appearance" in the throat of the dying woman and administered whisky, but without effect. He put about one-sixth of a grain of the stuff from the bromo seltzer bottle to his tongue and detected hydrocyanic acid. Traces of mercurial poisoning were on Mrs. Adam's lips.

Wrapper and Holder in Evidence.

Dr. Hitchcock identified a piece of paper as the one that Cornish gave him as the wrapper that inclosed the bottle and holder when it reached him at the Knickerbocker Athletic club. It was admitted in evidence. The bottle holder and bottle were also admitted, after the witness said he saw them on the dining table in Mrs. Adams' flat. The witness said he was sure one of the cyanides caused the death of Mrs. Adams.

Under cross-examination he said he gave Cornish no antidote for the poison, but nitrate of bismuth to relieve the stomach irritation complained of. Cornish was sick until he reached the street, the air reviving him.

It was 1:30, the usual time for adjournment in the criminal court, when Dr. Hitchcock had concluded his testimony, but Justice Lambert called for the next witness, and Mr. Osborne produced Harry F. Cornish, who told of the receipt of the package at the clubhouse on December 24, 1899. It was put on his desk by one of the clerks. He tore off the wrapper and threw it away. Later, at some one's suggestion, he picked the paper up and wrapped it around the package again. Then he told of speaking of the anonymous gift at dinner that evening and said Mrs. Rogers suggested that he bring it home and give her the holder, the description of which seemed to match the silver on her toilet table. The trial was adjourned until tomorrow.

DEMOCRATS HAVE NO CASE IN COURT

TO DESERT OLD ISSUES

Still Do Not Bring Forward New Ones—Apathy of People Explained by Paucity of Ideas Offered by Opponents.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 20.—Secretary of the Treasury Shaw addressed a large and enthusiastic gathering at Tomlinson hall tonight. Hon. Hugh H. Hanna presided. Secretary Shaw was enthusiastically received. He said in part:

"About the only time when the American people study statecraft is during a political campaign. Every campaign ought to be educational. Both parties complain this year of great lethargy and apathy on the part of the people. The reason is simple. There is no issue between the parties. The Republican party presents its time-honored, time-tested principles of sound money, stable currency—in other words, good, reliable business tools and equipments, implements of trade—and its equally time-honored and time-tested principle of protection to American labor, and a conservative, stable, liberal policy towards the people inhabiting our insular possessions. Our political opponents present nothing in opposition. Gentlemen of the jury, there is no case to try.

"It is true that our opponents have declared in their last two national conventions in favor of the free and unlimited coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1, with gold. They have said that whoever possesses 29 cents worth of silver bullion may have it coined into a piece of money marked '$1.' But our opponents do not dare so much as refer to their platform of 1896, or their platform of 1900, in this year's canvass. Gentlemen of the jury, there is no case to try, and for that reason it is difficult to arouse any interest in the campaign.

"The Democratic party in 1892 reiterated for the last time in its history a principle as time-honored as the Republican principle of protection. Listen to its language:

"'We declare it to be a fundamental principle of the Democratic party that the federal government has no constitutional power to impose or collect tariff duties except for the purpose of revenue only.'

"But the same party has not dared, does not dare, to repeat that declaration now. Gentlemen of the jury, there is no case to try. All they now ask is that the protective tariff law shall be revised, and that they shall be permitted to revise it. They do not dare ask that protection be eliminated.

"The only criticism I have to offer tonight, of our political opponents, is this. They seem to be more anxious to discover an issue on which they may win a campaign than they are to formulate a policy for wise government after they shall have won their campaign."

Will Get Schwab's Check.

It was announced yesterday by T. C. Jones and T. E. Gardner, trustees of the McKeesport Carnegie library, that the $2,500 they had started to raise three weeks ago for books for the institution, had been secured. The last check was $500 and was given by the National Tube Company. C. M. Schwab, president of the United States Steel Corporation, offered to give $2,500 if McKeesport citizens would raise a like amount.

BURGLARS CHASED BY OFFICERS' BULLETS

Tried to Break Into the Park Hotel at Sewickley—A Pony Shot.

An attempt was made early yesterday morning by burglars to effect an entrance to the Park Place hotel in Sewickley. About 2 o'clock E. P. Coffin, proprietor of the hotel, who is also cashier of the First National bank of Sewickley, was awakened by the noise of some persons trying to force their way into the basement of the hotel. He threw open the window of his room and saw a negro running through the bushes.

The local police were notified and four of the officers of the Western Pennsylvania fire patrol, specially engaged by the borough to police the place, responded. As they entered the grounds surrounding the hotel they saw a man slinking through the bushes toward the river. They gave chase, but the fellow escaped. Six shots were fired at him.

After daylight Mr. Coffin's hostler discovered that the family pony had been struck by one of the bullets. It is thought that the two negroes are the men who robbed the residence of A. Glamser, at Osborne station, a few nights ago.

DAY OF RECEPTIONS.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—After a day filled with receptions, addresses and processions of students, the second day's celebration of the installation of Edmund James as president of Northwestern University ended tonight with the formal opening of the new law school of the university. Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States supreme court was the guest of honor.

The day was given up to varied forms of entertainment for the distinguished visitors, among the attractions being a football game in the afternoon between the scrub teams of the University of Chicago and Northwestern university. The program included a meeting of the student body, which was addressed by Dr. James E. Murphy and by President James W. Bashford of the Ohio Wesleyan university. A reunion of alumni was held and addressed by Bishop Moore.

A torchlight procession was held this evening, while a reception in honor of President James and the official guests of the university was given by the Country club.

WORKINGMEN TO HAVE A CHANCE

Movement Started to Give Them Plenty of Time to Vote on Election Day.

MARTIN WITHDRAWS ONE

Substitutes B. F. Anderson, Citizens, for O. K. Gardner, His Legislative Nominee—Registry Fraud Disclosures.

Thousands of workingmen who heretofore have had trouble getting to the polls on election day before their day's work began, and who usually found the polls crowded when they got home from work and desired to vote, will have plenty of opportunity on November 4. The chamber of commerce has recommended that on that day the manufacturing plants of the county close down, so that their employes may have an opportunity to cast their ballots, but one huge manufacturing interest had already anticipated the chamber of commerce and decided on that plan. Men working for the Westinghouse company will have an afternoon off.

The Westinghouse works at East Pittsburgh, Swissvale and Wilmerding employ about 9,000 persons. When the whistles blow at noon on election day all the plants of the Westinghouse Air Brake Company, of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, and the Union Switch and Signal Company will shut down for the day and the employes will have the afternoon to themselves. That the men may get home in plenty of time to vote the companies will charter special trains. It is also understood that the wages of the employes will not be docked for the half-day.

Men Are Interested.

Officers of the Westinghouse interests said yesterday that they are not especially interested in the election; that they neither know nor care how their men are going to vote, but that, knowing the great interest citizens generally and their workingmen particularly are showing in the election, they determined to give them an opportunity to vote, so far as lay in their power.

Alderman John A. Martin went to Harrisburg yesterday, bearing the papers withdrawing Onslow K. Gardner from the Democratic column. Gardner and John Whitney are the Democratic nominees in the Third legislative district. Alderman Martin at the same time filed papers in the state department substituting the name of B. F. Anderson for Gardner's name. Anderson is one of the two candidates of the Citizens party.

At Citizens headquarters it was said that there was no agreement with the Democrats; that the Citizens did not intend to withdraw one of their men in return for the withdrawal of Gardner, and that the Citizens ticket will appear in the Citizens column in the official ballot without change.

To Continue the Fight.

Secretary Robert Ostermaier of the machine city committee announced yesterday that the machine has leased the Sixth avenue auditorium until March 1. He said it was the intention to continue the fight after that date; that no matter who might win the election the organization intended to go ahead with its campaign for the recordership.

"Who is the candidate of the organization for recorder?" Mr. Ostermaier was asked.

"That I do not know, but we are going to put up the best man we can, and we don't care who he is, just so he is a Republican and is willing to go into the Republican primaries."

The machine congressional, legislative and county candidates held their regular weekly meeting in the Sixth avenue headquarters yesterday afternoon. After the meeting it was announced that all the candidates were confident of winning.

Big Democratic Meeting.

The Democrats have made partial preparations for a big rally to be held in the East End on Monday, October 27. James A. Nolan, Democratic candidate for secretary of internal affairs, George W. Guthrie, W. U. Hensel and John B. Head will be the principal speakers. The meeting will be under the auspices of the East End Democratic association.

To break the force of proceedings about to be entered by the Citizens party against assessors in the Seventh and other wards, the machine yesterday took a turn at challenging the correctness of assessors' reports.

S. F. Peterson, through Attorney William Hunter, filed in common pleas court exceptions to the return of George W. Newcomer, assessor in the first district of the Fifth ward. Peterson alleges that Newcomer failed to perform his duty and placed fictitious names, names of non-residents and names of men not competent to vote upon his books.

Right to Vote Challenged.

The following are the names said to have been wrongfully placed on the return:

H. G. Brown, William Bradley, Jr., John Brennan, Richard Connolly, Daniel Cody, August Cook, Albert Dale, Thomas Dillon, Joseph Dillon, F. Ebner, John Flynn, John Fisher, M. F. Fitzgerald, William Flinn, R. A. Gross, Thomas Greene, C. Hillman, C. Hatfield, Mr. Joyce, A. Jerome, Joseph King, M. Kenney, E. Lindsay, William Lydon, William Lorden, A. KNOX NOT YET READY TO REPORT ON CANAL

Making a Thorough Job of It and May Not Submit the Document for a Week.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
501 Fourteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.

Attorney General Knox called on the president today for a brief conference on the isthmian canal. It was Mr. Knox's intention to present his complete report to the president either today or tomorrow, but he has now decided to make some additions, and said today it might be a week longer before the report is submitted.

In addition to the report of validity of the French title to the Panama canal, Mr. Knox's statement will give an exhaustive legal history of the canal property and the French title thereto.

Although the greatest secrecy is still maintained among officials, it is now taken for granted that the report will be favorable to the soundness of the French rights.

Senator John T. Morgan, so long prominent in canal legislation, said today: "I have no means of knowing the character of the attorney general's report, but I wish to say that I am eminently pleased with the manner and promptness shown by the administration in this investigation. As I said to you at the time the bill passed the senate, I am now convinced that we shall have an American canal across the isthmus, and an American canal without delay. The president is much interested in pushing the work as soon as the legal preliminaries are out of the way, and I have no doubt will appoint the canal commission at once."

TWO ALLEGHENY CANDIDATES WHO ARE HUSTLING FOR VOTES.

JOHN M. GOEHRING,
Who Is Charles A. Muehlbronner's Opponent in Forty-second District.

JOHN FRANCIS,
Candidate for Legislature in the Second District.

MASSES LOVE JESUS BUT HATE CHURCH

Dr. Harper Says Theological Seminaries Create Spirit of Pride in Students.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Ceremonies in connection with the inauguration of the Rev. Joseph H. George, D. D., as president of the Chicago Theological seminary began today. Dr. William R. Harper, president of Chicago university, addressed the professors and students of the seminary on "The Theological Seminary in its Civic Relationship."

President Harper arraigned the present day church on the charge of ultra-exclusiveness, and suggested that the ordinary theological seminary creates in the student a spirit of pride and superior exclusiveness which is reflected in the life of his church.

"The mass of the laboring people feel kindly toward Jesus Christ," said Dr. Harper, "but hate the church. We may say that they are not justified in this; we must, however, deal with the fact. The church has alienated likewise the wealthy class, and is rapidly alienating what may be called the intellectual class. Jesus' work and teaching were for all classes."

Hotel Man Held for Court.

BROOKVILLE, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—W. S. Gessler, proprietor of the City hotel, Punxsutawney, and two bartenders, were today bound over to the November term of court to answer a charge of selling to minors, the case growing out of the evidence presented at the coroner's inquiry into the death of Agnes Tompkins at Punxsutawney. No new evidence bearing on the case was presented.

Body Found in Ohio River.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The dead body of a large, well-dressed man, about 40 years of age, who from marks upon his head had evidently met with foul play, was found afloat in the Ohio river here this evening. It had been in the water for three weeks or more. There was nothing on the body by which it could be identified.

Insane Man Killed by Jumping.

LISBON, O., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—John Runyon, aged 60, an insane inmate of the county infirmary, leaped from a third-story window last night, and was picked up this morning dead, with a broken neck. He had carefully planned his escape and had thrown out a mattress to break the force of his fall.

Drowned While Asleep.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—David Johns and Jonathan Longfellow in search of work went to sleep on the wharfboat last night. Johns saw Longfellow roll into the river and drown at 3 o'clock, and walked 13 miles to Marietta, O., today to notify his family. The body was found.

Identified Dead Robber.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Chief of Police James, of South Sharon, has identified one of the robbers killed in Cleveland as one of the gang which bound and gagged two policemen and stole $250 from the Beechwood Improvement Company at South Sharon.

Struck Dead by an Engine.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Frank C. Gaston of this city was instantly killed by a shifting engine in the Pennsylvania yard at Oil City, last night. He worked for the Oil Well Supply Company of Oil City. He was the son of R. L. Gaston of this city.

Safe Blowers in Ben Avon.

The safe in the office of Cook & Colvin, lumber dealers, in Ben Avon, was found wrecked and robbed yesterday morning when the employes of the firm reported for work. A hole had been drilled through the lock and the safe opened with nitro-glycerin. The burglars secured about $60 in cash. It is not known whether the safe was blown on Saturday or Sunday, as no one had been at the office since it was closed Saturday night.

LATEST NEWS OF NEARBY TOWNS AND COUNTRY

SIX BIG COAL PLANTS READY FOR OPERATION

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

STEUBENVILLE, O., Oct. 20.—The coal development in the southern and western parts of this county is of such extensive proportion that in the next year it promises as a field to be a rival of the famous Hocking Valley and Jackson districts. Six big corporations are starting mines at as many points between the river and Adena, and more are contemplated.

The Portland Coal Company has a new mine just ready to open at Connorsville. The United States Coal Company is about ready to start its mine on Dry Fork. The Jefferson Coal Company will be ready to ship coal in a few days from its new mines on Piney Fork, the Upstill Company will be loading coal from a temporary tipple at its new mine near the Mt. Pleasant station, the Roby Coal Company has a mine ready to start near the Long Run tunnel and the O'Neal Coal Company is opening a mine west of the Long Run tunnel.

The Upstill Company was formerly known as the Lone Tree Coal Company. It has a valuable coal field and will develop it extensively. The Roby Coal Company owns quite a tract west of Long Run and is ready to do a lot of work. The O'Neal company will make two openings. The United States Coal Company proposes to develop on a colossal scale. It has nearly 20,000 acres and nine mines opened and almost ready for business. These mines are all located on Dry Fork. The Jefferson company will operate two mines and one of them is already doing business. One reason for delay in getting the mines started to work is that the Lake Erie, Alliance & Wheeling railroad was not completed as soon as expected. The railroad is built up Piney Fork to within four miles of Dillonvale. Every mine will be started the day the railroad reaches them, which will not be very many weeks.

NOTED PRISONER DEAD.

Got Ten Years for Forging 25-Cent Order—Broke New Jail and Stole Sheriff's Bloodhounds.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—George Hon, probably the most noted prisoner in the Ohio penitentiary, died today. Hon was serving 10 years from Adams county for forgery of an order for 25 cents' worth of tobacco. His career after his arrest was what made him famous. He was the first prisoner incarcerated in a new jail, the builders of which offered $100 to any prisoner who would escape. Hon was in jail about 24 hours, when he escaped. The sheriff pursued him with bloodhounds. Hon made friends with the dogs, stole them and sold them to a farmer. He stole and sold the lap robe and cushion from the sheriff's buggy. He was chased into Michigan and when recaptured claimed the $100 for breaking out of the jail. He was refused it and brought suit against the county, but lost his case. His actions so incensed the officials that he was given the limit of the law.

Celebrated Golden Wedding.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Mr. and Mrs. Robert Baker of near Charleston celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary yesterday. They were married in Pittsburgh and have lived in Mercer county for 10 years. They have three children, William of Franklin, John of Pittsburgh and Mrs. David Martin of Cleveland. In addition to the sons there were about 50 neighbors and relatives present at the anniversary. The old people were presented with a purse containing about $55, a gift from their children.

State Charters Issued.

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20.—Charters were issued as follows: Leechburg Banking and Trust Company, Leechburg, capital $25,000. Scott Gas Company, Bethel township, Allegheny county, $1,000; Castle Shannon Gas Company, Bethel township, Allegheny county, $1,000; Summit Park Gas Company, Bethel township, Allegheny county, $1,000; Dormont Park Realty Company, Bethel township, Allegheny county, $1,000.

AN OHIO TOWN LOST ITS MAYOR.

SALINEVILLE, O., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Salineville is without a mayor and the town's affairs are in consequent confusion. Mayor Kirk went to Washington to attend the G. A. R. encampment and has not been heard from since. Prisoners are being turned loose, there being no one to sentence them.

If he does not appear soon, council will declare his office vacant and appoint a mayor.

PROMINENT YOUNG PEOPLE MARRY.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Douglass.

Punxsutawney, Pa., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The marriage of Clarence Douglass and Miss Larue Minish, prominent young society people of Punxsutawney, took place here at 1 o'clock yesterday. The Rev. D. J. McLean of the First Baptist church officiated. The ceremony was performed at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Minish, and was witnessed by a number of guests. The bride was dressed in mode mousseline over white silk and was attended by Miss Anna Bell of this place. Mr. Banks Young of Lindsey was best man. The bridegroom is a druggist in the growing town of Richmond, nine miles from here, and the happy couple will make that place their future home.

BAPTIST MINISTERS MEET AT GREENSBURG

Organizations of Four States Hold Anniversary Services.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 20.—Prominent divines of the Baptist church are here to attend the anniversary of the four state organizations that is held in the First Baptist church. The State Ministers' union began its session this evening. The Rev. William Coulson, pastor of the local church, welcomed the delegates and the response was made by the Rev. Lemuel Call Barnes of Pittsburgh. Mrs. Harriet Newell Jones of Philadelphia discussed "Women and the Kingdom" and the Rev. Owen James, D. D., of Jamestown, N. Y., made an address "Our Inter-Denominational Duties."

Tomorrow morning the devotions will be led by the Rev. R. B. Dunmire of Homer City and after the election of officers the following papers will be read: "Some Present Day Needs of Our Church," the Rev. John C. Ball of New Bethlehem; "The Pastor's Relation to Denominational Societies," the Rev. J. R. Wood of Philadelphia; "Some Present Problems of Church Life and Work," the Rev. J. T. Davis, McKeesport.

Accident Caused Death.

MONACA, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—John B. Potter, a contractor of Monaca, died this morning. His death was due to an accident on June 31 last, when his skull was fractured as the result of being trampled upon by a runaway horse. He is survived by the following children: John Potter, Monaca; Washington Potter, Pittsburgh; Mrs. H. I. Taylor, Ada and Ella Potter, Monaca.

Ohio Furnace Banked.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The Lowellville furnace of the Ohio Iron and Steel Company was banked last night. The company has not received a full day's supply of coke in a week and for this reason it was necessary to suspend operations.

SIX MEN ARE KILLED IN RAILROAD ACCIDENTS

Trainmen and Unknown Tramps Meet Death Near Harrisburg.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 20.—Three tramps were killed and 21 cars piled up in a wreck on the Reading road near Palmyra today. One of the wheels of a long train of coal and merchandise broke while a train was rounding a curve.

Twenty cars left the track and the road has not yet been entirely cleared. One of the most completely wrecked of the lot was a box car on which four unknown tramps were riding. Three of the men were killed and the fourth had a narrow escape. The bodies of the men were removed to Lebanon.

Samuel Ruch, yardmaster at Lykens, and Fireman Warren Tiggert of Harrisburg were killed in an accident on the Lykens Valley branch of the Pennsylvania railroad at Big Lick today. They were on a dirt train going from Williamstown to Lykens. The engineer lost control of the engine on a heavy grade and it jumped the track. Ruch and Tiggert were thrown under the train, which was badly wrecked. The engineer escaped by jumping.

William H. Weizel of this city, while trying to board an engine on a westbound Pennsylvania railroad freight train today at Mifflin, fell under the wheels and both legs were crushed. Mr. Weizel was assigned to special duty for instruction of firemen on the middle division. Weizel died tonight at the Harrisburg hospital.

Pittsburgh Student Wounded.

INDIANA, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Frank Hogue of Pittsburgh, a student at the Normal school here, lost two fingers in a hunting accident this morning. He was out with a party and had stopped to rest on the top of a fence. The gun was discharged and the entire load of shot passed through his right hand. Physicians found it necessary to amputate the second and third fingers.

Teachers' Institute Meets.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The institute of the Lawrence county teachers convened here today. There are 354 teachers in attendance. Miss Gertrude Clark of Pittsburgh is soloist at the institute.

LAWRENCE REPUBLICANS INDORSE E. F. ACHESON

County Committee Pledges Him Its Support for Congress.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 20.—At a meeting of the Republican county committee here this evening the following resolutions were passed:

Whereas, the Dauphin county court has decided the certificate of the nomination of the Hon. Ernest F. Acheson to be irregular, thereby depriving the Republicans of the Twenty-fourth district from having a name for congress in the Republican column; but

Whereas, the Hon. Ernest F. Acheson was made the Republican nominee by the direct vote of the majority of all Republicans in the district, and whereas it is important not only to this congressional district, but to the nation, that a Republican be elected to fill a Republican seat, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Republican committee of Lawrence county recognize the Hon. Ernest F. Acheson as the Republican nominee and pledge our honest and best effort to secure his election; that we earnestly appeal to every true Republican in this district to assist in his election; First, because he was fairly nominated, and, second, because his long years of experience in congress, his standing on important questions in that body, and his recognized ability will insure to the district much better representation than could be reasonably expected from one without such experience.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—What promises to be the most active campaign in the history of Washington county politics has commenced. The Republican headquarters is a busy place and literature is being sent out to all parts of the county instructing the voters how to mark their ballots to insure the election of Ernest F. Acheson to congress. Those who have opposed Acheson in the contest at the primaries are assisting in the campaign work and assurances have come from the most influential anti-Acheson workers that they will work for his election.

There will be a meeting of the county committee tomorrow to choose a chairman to succeed the late W. M. Phillips and make plans for a vigorous campaign in the county. Representative Acheson returned home this evening from New Castle and is much pleased with the outlook in Lawrence county.

CORONER HAGAN RETURNS.

Jury Found That Weimer Died of Congestion of the Brain.

BELLEVERNON, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Coroner A. C. Hagan appeared this morning and finished the inquest over William Weimer, who died in the lockup on the night of September 20. The coroner stated that he had gone to Ferrypopolis on Saturday to view the body of Weimer, who was buried there. It was late when he got through, and instead of returning here went to his home at Fairchance, thinking those interested would understand.

A large number of witnesses were heard at the inquest. Friends of Weimer had claimed that he was roughly handled by the officer arresting him, and that he died from effects of being allowed to fall on the pavement. The jury found that Weimer's death was caused by congestion of the brain, the result of alcoholism.

STATE AND NEIGHBORHOOD.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—Fred Adams, aged 17, of this city, was killed by a Pennsylvania train.

YOUNGSTOWN, O.—The Bessemer plant of the Republic Iron and Steel Company was closed down on account of the scarcity of pig iron.

MASSILLON, O.—J. W. Foltz, clothier, made an assignment; the assets are $28,000 and the liabilities will reach about the same amount.

MERCER, PA.—Dora Wisner, of near Fardee, this county, was attacked by a mad dog and has been removed to the Pasteur institute in Pittsburgh for treatment, the poor board bills being charged.

ALLIANCE, O.—The State Anti-Saloon league scored a point in its crusade against violators of the liquor law. Emile Schultz, a local saloonkeeper, was found guilty of Sunday selling and selling after hours, and fined $125.

NEW CASTLE, PA.—Peter Walsh and John Shields, who have been working at Moravia, were arrested charged with stealing a horse from F. D. Walsh, a contractor, of Pittsburgh. The men were caught at Mahoningtown with the horse in their possession.

ASHTABULA, O.—Ten coal laden cars on a westbound Pennsylvania freight train went through the bridge at Mill creek, which is 70 feet above the water. Two cars and the engine passed over safely. The bridge was demolished. No one was injured.

M'COMBER BILL WAS INDORSED

Temperance Advocates Had Field Day in Pennsylvania Presbyterian Synod.

COLOR QUESTION WAS UP

Refusal of Board of Foreign Missions to Support Negro Missionaries in Africa Caused Stir. Pittsburgh Aid Leads.

At the afternoon session of the closing day of the Pennsylvania state synod of the Presbyterian church, in the First church, Allegheny, yesterday, a resolution was adopted indorsing the McComber bill, which will go before congress this session. The bill provides that no liquor be sold in any building or grounds owned or occupied by the United States government.

Robert L. Glass, an elder of the Pittsburgh presbytery, introduced an amendment to the liquor resolution presented by the Rev. J. F. Hill, indorsing the Prohibition party. After arguments from a number of prominent clergy, the resolution was defeated.

In presenting the liquor resolution, Dr. Hill made the statement that the word temperance today meant total abstinence and not moderation, as the word had hitherto been used. Dr. Hill recommended that all the members of the Pennsylvania State synod co-operate with the temperance committee of the general assembly, in the crusade against the liquor traffic.

Indorsed the Bill.

The resolution adopted, appertaining to the United States Government is as follows: "That the officers and members of our synod bring all proper influences to bear upon their representatives in congress looking toward the passage of the McComber bill, which provides that intoxicating liquors shall not be sold in any building owned by the United States government or in any grounds occupied by same."

The Rev. Henry W. Woods of Washington created quite a stir with a question he launched into the synod. When the report of the Lincoln university had been read, announcing that 202 students were enrolled in the theological department, Dr. Woods wanted to know whether "Any of these colored men ever went to Africa as missionaries to their brethren?" The Rev. William P. White, secretary, stated that 19 black men had gone to Africa and that it was a great shame that the Presbyterian board of foreign missions would not support black missionaries in Africa.

Pittsburgh in the Lead.

The Rev. Henry D. Lindsay made the report of the work among the freedmen, whose headquarters are in Pittsburgh. He showed that nearly all the presbytery churches gave to the cause. There are 78,000 colored people in Pittsburgh. This city gave $12,896 last year. Allegheny came next with $4,520. The Philadelphia presbytery was scored for giving so little, it being the largest presbytery in the synod. Dr. Charles McIntyre read the report of Lafayette college and stated that Brainerd hall would be dedicated next Monday.

The report of the committe on foreign missions was read. It recommended a field synodical secretary, with a salary of $3,000 a year and expenses, and indorsed a plan of Dr. C. M. Mateer for a $250,000 fund to build a college in China. The first resolution was tabled and the last adopted.

The report of the standing committee on education showed that $41,811 had been raised during the year to be devoted to educational work. The amount is an increase of $8,239 over last year. The report of the committee on finance showed a balance of $40,467 and a satisfactory result from the auditing of the accounts. The committee recommended the assessment to be made the same as last year. J. Verner Bell was appointed chairman of a special committee on popular meetings at the next synod.

Moderator McEwan formally adjourned the synod and called the next to meet at Dubois on the third Thursday of October, 1903.

GLUE PLANT DESTROYED.

Incendiary Fire Caused a Loss of $120,000 at Springdale Early Yesterday Morning.

Fire, believed to be incendiary, yesterday morning completely destroyed the plant of the American Glue Company at Springdale, 16 miles from this city, on the West Penn railroad. The loss is estimated at $120,000, fully covered by insurance. It is the fourth time during this month that a blaze was discovered in the plant. During the fire a number of ammonia tanks exploded, but no one was injured.

The fire was discovered shortly after 4 o'clock by the watchman, who roused the 200 employes of the plant to help fight the flames. The main building, measuring 300 by 150 feet, was a three-story frame structure and doomed from the start. The roof fell 30 minutes after the fire was discovered. Springdale is without fire protection, but the company had a large supply of hose and a water plug system of its own. The fire spread so rapidly that many of the plugs were put out of commission, owing to their location.

The first floor was occupied with machinery and thousands of packages of glue in barrels and boxes. The two upper floors were stocked with drying frames and used as a barrel and box-making shop. At one end of the first floor an ice plant recently installed, at a cost of $75,000, was destroyed.

The fire was a spectacular one, the flames lighting the country up for miles around, and all the inhabitants of the town turned out to watch the fire. The office building was also destroyed, with two freight cars which were standing on a siding. The stable and boiler house were saved, but badly scorched.

The plant was equipped with an automatic fire alarm system, which not only notified the watchman, but also turned a spray of chemicals on the blaze. The alarm was sounded at 9 o'clock Sunday night, but upon investigation no fire was found in the building. The plant was formerly the W. A. Hoveler Glue works, but about four years ago was merged into the combine. King Upton and John Stevenson of Philadelphia are president and secretary.

ONE WHITE MAN DEAD.

Race Riot at Littleton, Ala., Not as Serious as Feared.

BIRMINGHAM, ALA., Oct. 20.—At Littleton, the scene of the riot last night between negroes and white men, everything is quiet.

Jess Creel, the white man who was reported to have been killed, appeared in Littleton this morning, saying he had spent the night in the woods, but Joe Thompson (white), who was seriously wounded, died this morning while being brought to this city.

WHEN THIS COLOSSAL PROPOSITION

Unique in the annals of Real Estate, is read by the People of Pittsburgh, the rush to

will be like a mighty tidal wave, ten times greater than yesterday, and it was a banner day, and every lot there will have been secured by some fortunate investor. Thousands will come, but only hundreds can be served. Do not let it be said you missed your opportunity because you were too slow. Your neighbors will be there if you are not, so come at once.

READ CAREFULLY WHY

$15,000 FIFTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS $15,000

WILL BE GIVEN AWAY ABSOLUTELY FREE.

The most remarkable offer in the Real Estate History of Pittsburgh. No petty little present or $5 bonus, but every lot buyer on Tuesday and Wednesday and also Thursday

if any lots are then left, will upon the first payment of $10.00 per lot, receive an additional credit, equalling fifteen per cent of the list price of such lot or lots.

AND BETTER YET—This credit will be applied to the monthly payments requiring you to only pay one-half the stipulated amount per month until it equals the amount of your credit.

FOR ILLUSTRATION—A lot costing $200.00, hand money $10.00, monthly payment $4.00, you pay $10.00 and immediately receive a cash credit of $40.00, then instead of $4.00 per month, you only pay $2.00 per month for 15 months, after which the regular monthly payments are resumed.

Another illustration—To make this proposition perfectly clear: On a $200.00 lot in 15 months you have actually only paid, including the $10.00 hand money, $40.00, but you have receipts showing $70.00 paid. On a $500.00 lot in 15 months you have actually only paid, including the $10.00 hand money, $85.00, but your receipts show $160.00 paid.

Better yet—On five $500.00 lots in 15 months you have actually only paid, including the hand money, $425.00, but you have receipts for $800.00, on account of same. Thus showing a clear profit of $30, $75 and $375 respectively. This is money actually made. Can you make money any faster or easier?

The prices and terms of each lot are plainly to be seen on our printed list. The identical price lists that were used all last week. This is a straightforward, clean-cut proposition.

It means a clear, clean profit of over $15,000 to the lot buyers at Lincoln Park this week.

The price of every lot is lower than any corresponding lot anywhere in the same locality.

AND PLEASE REMEMBER you are not merely sold a lot at a discount of 15%, but the lot is sold at its list price, the agreement is made to you for the list price and you are given credit on your receipt book just as though you had paid that much additional cash. You can sell your lot at the price specified in your agreement.

You make 15% clear, and the purchaser from you has a bargain. There is absolutely no interest to pay.

In case of sickness or loss of work your payments are suspended for 3 months and all your remaining payments are thereon extended 3 months, merely by paying interest on the suspended payments for the space of 3 months.

Accompanying each deed will be given free a title policy of the Guarantee Title & Trust Co. in the Frick Bldg., City.

A further discount of 10% will be given if lot is paid in full within 60 days. And remember

That LINCOLN PARK is directly on the line of the East Liberty via Center Ave. electric line, right adjoining East Liberty, only a few minutes' ride from the market house—only a few minutes' walk from Homewood or Brushton.

Lincoln Ave. bridge is completed and the cars are running through, over it to Lincoln Park.

Lincoln Park is not a farm but has graded and curbed streets, sewered streets, one paved street, gas and water on every street. And the very finest modern brick houses of any plan in the city. It is only three or four blocks from the new railroad route over which the P. R. R., W. P. R. R. and A. V. Ry. will run into Pittsburgh.

The new macadamized road to Verona just completed runs past the plan—the new Verona Boulevard runs through the plan—Travella Boulevard in Lincoln Park is one of the most beautiful streets in Pittsburgh.

Within three blocks of Lincoln Park, one of the finest institutions will be built at a cost of $350,000, eleven acres having been secured and paid for, the pictures of this institution having appeared in last Sunday's papers. Within three blocks of Lincoln Park both the German and English Catholic churches have secured sites.

Lincoln Park is in the most rapidly developing and therefore the most rapidly enhancing district in the city.

It is the most beautifully picturesque spot for miles around. Without question the cleanest and most healthful location. And when this remarkable offer is considered it must also be remembered that the price of these lots is only from $100 to $700, only a few being higher. There is no interest. A payment of $10 cash will secure any lot and balance at rate of 2% per month. It takes nerve to give away $15,000. It is easy for you to take advantage of it. This offer will never be duplicated again. This is your only and last chance.

Agents Will Be On the Grounds from 7 A. M. to 10 P. M. During These Three Days.

The Entire Stock Having Been Moved to Kaufmann's,

The Sale of the goods of the Patterson Dry Goods Co. began yesterday, and "The Big Store," thrice bigger than any other in town, is scarcely big enough to hold the multitudes of purchasers. Fortunately special arrangements have been made to handle the crowds. Some of the departments have been temporarily enlarged, dozens of extra tables have been added, and hundreds of additional salespeople have been hired. Thus, while the number of shoppers is probably the greatest in the history of the store, there are no delays or confusion, and everything is running like clock work.

CHALLENGE FOR GEO. W. GUTHRIE

Senator Brown Will Give $1,000 to Charity If Opponent Meets It.

MEETING AT MEADVILLE

Offer Holds Good If Challenged Person Can Draft a Senatorial Reapportionment Bill That Will Be Constitutional.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Meadville, Pa., Oct. 20.—The Republican gubernatorial party, reinforced by Congressman Dalzell, tonight faced an audience which packed the stage and auditorium of the opera house, bulged out the windows and doors and blocked the street for nearly a square. It was such an audience as John Dalzell said he had seen in no other state.

It was the climax of an interesting day, beginning with a demonstration at Stoneboro, on the way to New Castle, where Judge Pennypacker, ex-Senator Brown and Col. Ned Arden Flood addressed an enthusiastic afternoon meeting of Lawrence county Republicans. The afternoon meeting at New Castle was preceded by a reception in the St. Cloud hotel, where Judge Pennypacker met a man who resembled him so closely that he was introduced by mistake as the candidate for governor. He was John F. Pitts of Mount Johnson. He is enthusiastically for Pennypacker.

Brown's Challenge to Guthrie.

The meeting in the New Castle Opera house was presided over by A. L. Martin, Senator Brown awakened hearty applause by an offer to give $1,000 to charity if the Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, George W. Guthrie, would produce in two weeks a constitutional senatorial re-apportionment bill. Said the doughty Republican candidate for lieutenant governor:

I took occasion recently to notice the criticisms of my opponent on the legislature of 1899 for having failed to pass a senatorial apportionment bill. I then explained that it was a political and legal impossibility, with the districts as they are today, to reapportion them in conformity with the requirements of the present Constitution as to population, as to the districts being of contiguous territory, etc. My honest belief has been and is that a measure to that end cannot be devised. Mr. Guthrie has undertaken to call me to account for my statement, and sundry newspapers are following his example.

I, therefore, make public this challenge here, among my friends, where my word is known to be good. I will give to any charitable institution of this state that Mr. Guthrie may name, $1,000 if within two weeks he will produce a draft of a senatorial apportionment bill which, as applied to the districts of the state today, will be pronounced constitutional by three lawyers, one of whom he ch sen by him, one by me and they to select a third.

Concerning the house reapportionment I have only to say that the Democrats and insurgents controlled the situation, as was demonstrated by our ineffectual efforts to pass the McCarrell bill. As chairman of the apportionment committee, I would have known of any effort being made to bring about the passage of a legislative apportionment bill, but no such effort was made. There was an earnest and persistent effort to secure a senatorial reapportionment, because many of the senators wanted their districts changed for personal reasons; but when we figured on the population of the counties comprising districts, as shown by the last preceding census, the difficulties in the way of such arrangement, in accordance with constitutional provisions, appeared to be unsurmountable.

Acheson Still in the Fight.

Congressman Acheson, whose nomination was declared invalid, and who is opposing J. C. Cunningham in the Washington-Lawrence-Beaver district, was present and announced that he is still in the fight.

At Meadville the party was met by County Chairman Col. D. S. Richmond, Congressman Arthur L. Bates, Capt. J. A. Bolard, Clark D. Eckels, L. C. McLane, H. M. Cutshall, C. S. Burwell and R. O. Stuckenrath. Half the town turned out at the station and greeted the candidates with cheers. The demonstration was continued all along the line to the Hotel Lafayette, where the party took quarters and the candidates held an informal reception.

At the meeting in the opera house tonight nearly 2,000 persons crowded into the building and demonstratively applauded all the speakers. Ex-Judge John J. Henderson presided and half the voters of the town acted as vice presidents, including Dr. Flood, who was a candidate for the nomination for lieutenant governor.

Judge Pennypacker made one of his characteristic addresses, showing how the Democratic party devoted its time to faultfinding over trifling matters while the Republican party is going right ahead continuing the era of prosperity which had followed the adoption and administration of wise Republican legislation.

Dalzell on Keystone Enthusiasm.

The judge was loudly applauded, as was Congressman Dalzell when he said that after campaigning in other states he could frankly say that in none of them did he meet such large and enthusiastic audiences as those which attested their loyalty to the Republican party in Pennsylvania. Mr. Dalzell showed how the Republican party had sent a wave of prosperity over the country, and in concluding, said:

"If you've got a good platform and a good candidate, as you have in this campaign, my advice to you is to let well enough alone."

Among other things Mr. Dalzell said:

Fault finding, doubts and hesitation, if indulged in, can lead only to ruin and disaster. Faith, hope and courage are the watchwords that lead on to success. The former are the characteristics of the Democratic party; the latter are the glorious characteristics of the Republican party, from Abraham Lincoln to Theodore Roosevelt.

I have found by experience that the American people are not much interested in the discussion of the Philippine question. They take it for granted that the policies inaugurated by Mr. McKinley, courageously adopted by Mr. Roosevelt and indorsed by the Republican party, and indorsed also two years ago by the American people, will be successfully carried out by the continuance in power of the Republican party. I, therefore, address myself to other themes in which the people are more interested.

Opposing Policies on Trusts.

Our Democratic friends are greatly exercised upon the subject of trusts. Now, trusts are combinations of capital and combinations of labor, and they are both equally legitimate, so long as they keep within the bounds of law. Technically speaking, there is not such a thing as a trust in this country today. A trust originally was an aggregation of corporations whose interests were placed in the hands of trustees to be managed for their joint benefit. The supreme court said that was an illegal combination, and all those devices were set aside.

What you mean by a trust is a corporation of great capital. The difference between the Democratic party and the Republican party, with respect to these so-called trusts, is just this: The Democratic party says, "Destroy them; they are a menace to civilization." The Republican party says, "Regulate them; preserve what is good, but do away with what is bad."

It would be a calamity beyond description if you should have a democratic house that would render further legislation in the carrying out of these policies impossible; that would be pulling in one direction while a Republican senate and executive were pulling in another direction. Pennsylvania is a Republican state, and, therefore, must have a Republican governor. When you have an honest platform such as the Republican platform is, and an honest man like Judge Pennypacker, there is an appeal to the loyalty of every honest and patriotic Republican in Pennsylvania.

There is a good old maxim to follow in this campaign, and that is to let well enough alone.

MACHINE DEPENDING UPON OUTSIDE AID

Foraker and Elkin for Allegheny Meeting—Flinn's Italians Busy These Nights.

Realizing the hopeless nature of its case, the machine is still depending absolutely on outside aid to win in the county fight. For its Allegheny meeting in Carnegie music hall, October 29, it has secured the services of Senator Foraker of Ohio and Attorney General Elkin as speakers. Congressman Graham also will speak.

Booth & Flinn's Italians are kept busy these nights attending political meetings. When the Muddy Water party does not need them they are pressed into service for the machine. They have been ordered to report for duty at a meeting in the Sixth avenue auditorium tonight.

All the independent voters of Camden Park turned out last night to attend the Citizens party mass meeting in the town hall. A large audience assembled at Grange hall, at Gayly, to attend the Citizens party mass meeting. Meetings were held in the school house at Millerstown, in the Beiman school hall, in the Twenty-first ward; at Wehver's hall, in East Pittsburgh; at No. 61 Reed street, Eleventh ward, and in the Eighth ward, Allegheny.

Citizens party mass meetings are scheduled for this evening as follows: Zimmerman hall, Grandview avenue, Thirty-fifth ward; West Elizabeth, Knights of Pythias hall; Ralston school, Fifteenth street and Penn avenue; Newtown school, and the Sixth ward headquarters in McKeesport.

SAMPLE BALLOTS SENT.

In Some Counties They Are Eleven Columns Wide—Last Day for Withdrawal of Candidates.

HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—This was the last day for the withdrawal of candidates for the November election, but substitutions may be filed until November 4. Allen F. Cooper of Uniontown, Republican candidate for congress in the Twenty-third district, composed of Somerset, Fayette and Greene counties, has withdrawn from the Citizens ticket. Samuel J. Kistler of Allentown was substituted for John H. Pascoe, deceased, Republican nominee for senator in the Lehigh district.

Sample ballots have been sent by the state department to the prothonotaries of every county in the state. In some counties the ballot will be 11 columns wide, including the blank column, the uniform size being 10 columns. On these ballots with 11 columns there are two columns with the state ticket blank and simply having the congressional, senatorial, representative and judicial spaces. They are for use in Washington, Beaver and other counties where the "Regular" or similar parties have placed tickets in the field.

MEMORIAL SERVICES.

W. C. T. U. Honors Its Members Who Have Died During Year—Annual Reports Received.

PORTLAND, ME., Oct. 20.—A service in memory of members and friends who have died during the year was a touching feature of the fourth days' session of the national W. C. T. U. convention. Reports of superintendents also were presented.

During the forenoon 10 minute reports were made by seven superintendents. Mrs. Mary F. Lovell of Pennsylvania, for the department of mercy, said:

"A department that makes it its chief aim to systematically implant the humane idea in the mind of the human race deserves success.

"California has enacted a state law during the year, requiring humane education in the public schools. In Colorado the same has been done, and credit is frankly given to the W. C. T. U."

Mrs. E. D. Martin of New York urged the adoption of Miss Helen Gould's resolution to regulate the midway dances at the St. Louis world's fair.

"The Prince of Finance."

The greatest manipulator and wonder of the financial world is J. P. Morgan. He is a man of vigor and force; lives well, but confines his diet principally to poultry and eggs. Moral: Get your supply of eggs from Keystone Commercial Company, 55-59 Carson street, Pittsburgh.

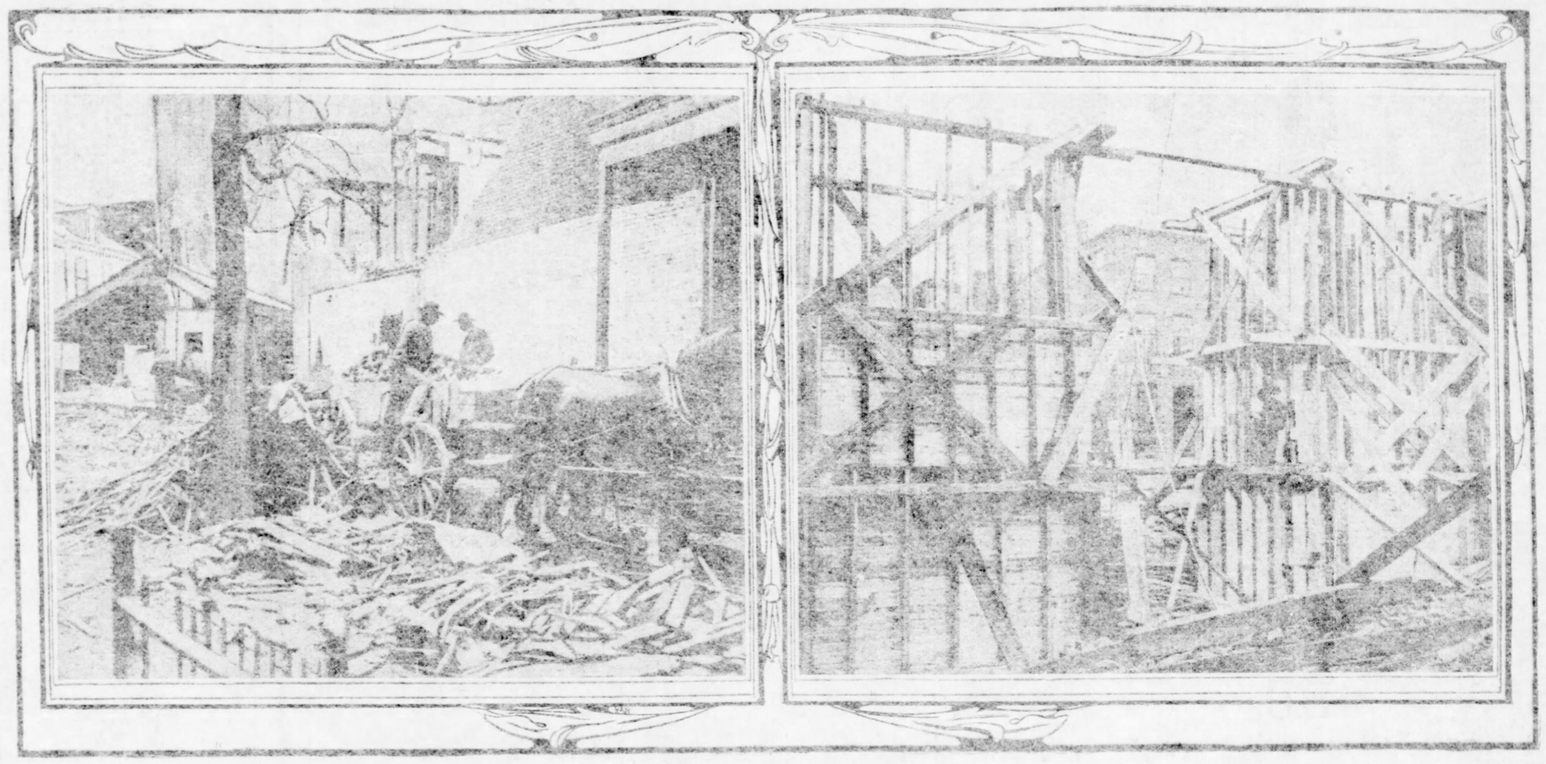
233-235 FIFTH AVENUE

WORK OF CLEARING THE WAY FOR THE ENTRANCE OF THE WABASH IS PROGRESSING IN THE MOST AMAZING MANNER.



The first picture shows the work of demolition going on at the angle formed by Liberty avenue and Ferry street. It is here that the toe of the great "flat iron" structure that is to be erected for use as an office building and passenger station for the Wabash will rear its proud front. The small shed shown in the picture was a blacksmith's shop, and it was not until Saturday morning that the "smithy" consented to get out peaceably instead of waiting until he should be thrown out.

From now on it is going to take hustling to keep up with the progress of the Wabash in its entry into Pittsburgh.

The Wabash's war-cry is "Follow the flag," and every day now, sees it waving far in advance of where it was the day before.

WYOMING LOOKS CLOSE

Democrats Will Not Be Able to Carry Bradford—Will Visit Wilkesbarre After the Miners Return to Work.

By WALTER J. CHRISTY,
Staff Correspondent.

Athens, Pa., Oct. 20.—Pattison and Guthrie made a dash through Wyoming and Bradford counties today.

While it is possible for the Democrats to split about even in Wyoming, they admit the probability of success in Bradford is slight.

To reach this town, about three miles from the New York line, the state had to be crossed. The route runs through the anthracite mining region. As the train rolled through the mining towns there were no demonstrations either for or against Pattison.

At Wilkesbarre, where the great convention of striking miners was held today, the train stopped for some time. There was no crowd at the station. The only man to come on board the private car Olympia was John M. Garman of Nanticoke, former chairman of the Democratic state committee.

Pattison will be in Wilkesbarre next week. Today he made no speeches in the strike region. He will not attempt to make addresses until the diggers have gone back to work.

The first stop was at Tunkhannock, in Wyoming county, this afternoon. Just to be accommodating, Judge E. M. Dunham, a Republican, adjourned court so that the Democrats could have a meeting place. Ex-Gov. Pattison did not the talking in that town, there not being sufficient time to allow Mr. Guthrie to make an address.

Wyoming is a close county. It is naturally Republican by 200. This year but little interest is being taken in the campaign, and it is difficult to tell which party will have a majority.

A second matinee was given at Towanda, county seat of Bradford. The opera house was well filled and Pattison, Guthrie and Nolan made speeches.

Guthrie spent considerable time discussing the work of the last legislature. He charged that Speaker W. T. Marshall, a candidate for re-election to the house on the machine ticket in Allegheny county, had permitted the padding of rolls in the house to secure the passage of bills. He quoted from testimony given in the Harris-Meek libel case tried at Clearfield last February to substantiate his charge. He said that when men who had been improperly marked up as voting for certain measures objected, the speaker ruled that he would not permit the integrity of the clerks to be questioned.

Mr. Guthrie attacked the Baker ballot act today because it put the settling of all election disputes growing out of nominations of candidates for state office into the hands of the Dauphin courts. He holds that the local judges should have jurisdiction over these cases.

The candidates came here tonight. They addressed a large meeting, but did not bring in any new issues.

Democrats are making an effort to defeat the re-election of Congressman C. F. Wright in the Fourteenth district, composed of Bradford, Wyoming, Susquehanna and Wayne counties. Their candidate is Col. James S. West of Susquehanna. He has to overcome a Republican majority of 5,000, and there is little danger of Wright's defeat.

ROOSEVELT NOT FOR LILY WHITES

REBUKE FOR PRITCHARD

The President's Sentiments Made Known to the Colored Element in a Letter from Gen. Clarkson No Discrimination of Races.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
502 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.

The rejuvenation and reorganization of the Republican party in the south into a white man's party probably has received a serious setback from alleged statements made by the president recently to a delegation of colored men.

The reputed statement by the president, that he does not approve of political discrimination against the negro and would punish white Republicans exhibiting such discrimination, have been confirmed by letters and statements from Gen. James S. Clarkson, surveyor of the port of New York. Gen. Clarkson, who became familiar with the negro vote of the south during his management of political affairs for President Harrison, was present some time ago when the president was called upon by the delegation of prominent colored ministers. He took part in that conference.

Since that time Mr. Clarkson has been writing some letters. One of them says:

My Dear Mr. Preston—I am glad to have your letter. I need no thanks for what I did supporting the fine New York party in Alabama and other southern states. No self-respecting Republican can tolerate any such attempted departure from the cardinal doctrine of the party. The president has no sympathy with it, and you may assure all your friends, and your whole race, that he is as sound on the doctrine of human rights and manhood suffrage as I am.

I shall be glad to hear from you whenever you have anything to communicate.

The man to whom the letter is addressed is a prominent negro politician of North Carolina, and the letter was read at a meeting of negroes in Raleigh, N. C., to protest against the exclusion of negroes from the Republican state convention of North Carolina held some time ago.

The movement for the exclusion of the negro originated with Senator Pritchard and spread to North Carolina, under the impression that the movement had the indirect sanction of President Roosevelt, while leaders in all the southern states were preparing to read the political funeral oration of the negro, Virginia was about to follow the lead of the other states, and there were glowing promises of Republican acquisition all through the south with the negro out of politics.

But the negro was found to be so easily eliminated. His vote was worth something in close congressional districts outside of the south, and so he proceeded to ask some questions and intimate that he was feeling mighty independent, anyhow.

TEACHERS ARE MISSIONARIES.

But in Philippines They Have Not Shown Missionary Spirit.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—Some time ago complaints were made by school teachers in the Philippines about the hardships they endured. It was asserted that good places were given to a few teachers and bad places to others. All these complaints were referred to Gov. Taft. His reply has now been received at the war department.

Gov. Taft says the teachers had to enter upon duties which were largely missionary, and hardships were certain to be the portion of some. It was impossible to make all assignments equal, but as the facts became known efforts would be made to equalize the duties of teachers so that all would share in the pleasant duties as well as in the arduous work.

SPAIN VERY WRATHY.

Uses Stronger Than Diplomatic Language on Cebu Affair.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—It is learned from Manila papers received at the war department, that on investigation the presidente of Cebu was exonerated from all blame on account of the assault made upon the Spanish consul at that place. The presidente was suspended at the time charges were made and has not yet been reinstated. Seventeen policemen were arrested for the assault at the time. Four were convicted.

The Spanish minister, in making a complaint to the state department about the assault, used language which went further than that ordinarily employed in diplomatic correspondence, showing that his government was very much incensed.

DEFAULT OF A SYNDICATE.

Agreed to Build Interoceanic Railroad and Settle National Debt.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—Consul Alger at Puerto Cortez, Honduras, reports to the state department that, on account of the failure of the American company, styled "The Honduras Syndicate," to carry out the terms of its contract, its concession has been cancelled.

The company was authorized to construct an interoceanic railway, to settle the foreign debt and establish a bank. The syndicate has asked for an extension, and the application will be settled at the next Honduras congress.

BURGLAR VISITS WOMAN'S SCHOOL

USES THE FIRE ESCAPE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Mexico, Mo., Oct. 20.—Several young women of Hardin college were aroused this morning from their slumbers by a bold and ingenious burglar, who entered the upper story of the big building by the fire escape. At the point of a revolver he ordered the frightened girls to deliver their money and jewelry.

All obeyed save the Latin teacher, Miss Bertha Pattengill of Atlanta, Ill. She grappled with the burglar in trying to get out of her room. He became alarmed and fled down the fire escape.

The first room entered was that occupied by Miss Louise Lackland of Mexico, granddaughter of Rufus Lackland, a St. Louis banker, and Miss Grace Verity of Kansas City. When he entered the young women awoke, but he commanded them to be quiet and tell where their valuables were. He secured about $6 from Miss Lackland and $1 from Miss Verity.

On leaving the room he told the girls it would be useless to attempt to raise an alarm, as his partner was in the hall to prevent it. He next entered the room of Miss Laidlaws of South Dakota and secured a gold watch and $4 in money. Miss Laidlaws did not awaken. The room occupied by Miss Louise Lackland of New Franklin was the next one entered. There he secured about $4 and a locket containing three pictures.

He then went to Miss Pattengill's apartment and met his first resistance.

This morning's mail brought a letter from the burglar addressed to Miss Blackmar. He returned the locket, saying it was of no value to him. He signed himself the "Gentleman Burglar," and said he had a partner.

TRADE UNIONISM SCORED.

President of Free Labor Association Says Excesses of Organizations Are Disgrace to Workingmen.

LEEDS, ENGLAND, Oct. 20.—The annual congress of the Free Labor association opened today. The delegates represented 400,000 workmen. President John Chandler made a virulent attack on trades unionism. He claimed that the growth of industrial freedom greatly tended toward the diminution of strikes, and declared that trades union excesses in violation of personal freedom were a disgrace to labor in this country.

Nothing could more forcibly illustrate the intolerance which perverted trades unionism than the statement said to have been made to the Rev. Charles Edwards, a Pennsylvania clergyman, some time ago, by a non-unionist, that striking coal miners had threatened to cut off the ears of every man returning to work.

"If British trades unionists do not sympathize with these abominable atrocities," the speaker asked, "why do they vote £1,000 in aid of the strikers of America who made such an infamous threat?"

MORGAN'S GOOD BARGAIN

Harvester People Grumbling Because He Made $5,000,000 Out of Their Combine.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—In his capacity as underwriter of the big harvester combine, recently capitalized at $120,000,000, J. P. Morgan is accused of getting larger returns for his work than the harvester people thought he ought to have, according to gossip in La Salle street.

It is said that, in addition to his contract fee of $1,500,000, which he received for promoting the merger, he made $3,500,000 by purchasing an independent company and selling it to the trust.

EMPIRE BLOCK FOR NEW HOTEL

Owners Said to Propose Converting Big Building to New Use.

COST OF CHANGE $75,000

Many Offices in Empire Now Vacant as Result of the Exodus to Frick Building—Hotel Plan Meets With Favor.

The Empire building, at the corner of Liberty avenue and Fifth street, is likely to be converted into a modern hotel. This statement emanated from an authoritative source yesterday. The fact that it is directly opposite the proposed passenger station of the Wabash and on what will be the main thoroughfare of the city adds attractiveness to the proposition.

The Empire building is one of the best of Pittsburgh's office structures. It was designed by Architects Topp & Craig and was opened to the public in the spring of 1900. The building is 12 stories high and contains 108 offices and two large store rooms. It is of the latest steel frame construction and equipped with all the conveniences.

Last spring when the Frick building was opened the Empire building suffered much from the removals to the larger and new office home. The National Tube Company, whose lease of the entire second floor expired last April, moved to the Frick building, and several other large manufacturing concerns left the Empire building with nearly 50 offices on the upper floors vacant. The greater part of these leases were taken over by H. C. Frick, who is now paying the rentals on the vacant rooms. For some time it has been rumored that the Empire was not a paying proposition, and these stories have been more frequent since the exodus last spring.

Herbert DuPuy, the owner of the Empire building, is out of the city. It was learned, however, from Louis M. Stevens, the superintendent of the building, that he had heard talk of the "Empire hotel," but he was not in a position to say what had been decided. He stated that the proposed change would be a much easier matter than was generally supposed. From the arrangement of the building it would be possible to convert it into a hotel with comparatively little change in the arrangement of the rooms.

The building cost about $375,000. The proposed change would. It is estimated, cost about $75,000. The largest item would be the bathrooms and plumbing. The arrangement of the first floor is such that a lobby and offices could be made with little change. The upper floors would include at least 150 rooms, besides the parlors and halls.

Many business men believe that the natural trend of traffic after the completion of the Wabash station will be down Liberty avenue, instead of up Fourth avenue. The removal of the Pennsylvania railroad tracks from Liberty avenue will make this even more certain.

RETURNED ALONE.

Detective William Elmore Finds Trouble in Getting Evans.

Detective William Elmore, who went to Columbus, O., on Sunday night, with requisition papers for John M. Evans, charged with embezzling about $40,000 in stock and money from the Keystone Gold & Copper Mining Company of Colorado, returned to Pittsburgh last night without his prisoner.

Evans' counsel, Attorney W. S. Anderson, defended his client at the hearing in Columbus yesterday morning by the claim that Evans is not a fugitive from justice and he had not been in Pennsylvania.

Detective Elmore was represented by Judge W. T. Ayers, who made the argument in favor of bringing the prisoner back to Pittsburg. Gov. Nash reserved his decision until next Monday. Detective Elmore will go to Columbus on Sunday night.

CHURCH OFFICERS SUED.

Constable Shinton After Homestead Churches and Police.

Constable Thomas Shinton of Homestead caused a sensation yesterday morning by making informations before Justice Edward J. Morton against the officers of St. John Greek Catholic church and St. Anothony's Polish Catholic church, charging them with selling liquor without license at balls, in the Fifth Avenue opera house, Homestead. Constable Shinton also announced that he would return three Homestead wholesale liquor dealers to court for supplying beer after they had been warned not to do so.

Constable Shinton alleges he visited the opera house on the nights of September 29 and October 13 and purchased 25 cents' worth of checks with which he purchased beer. The officers of both churches number about 30. Constable Shinton yesterday said he has a complaint against the borough police and that he would go before council at the next meeting and make a formal charge, alleging that the police refused to assist him in preventing the sale of beer in the opera house.

INSPECTED NEW CHURCH.

Bishop Tichon of the Greek Catholic Church Visits Pittsburgh.

Bishop Tichon of the Greek Catholic church arrived in Pittsburgh from San Francisco yesterday morning. He inspected the new Greek church at Vine and Reed streets, Allegheny, which is to be dedicated early next month by Bishop Innocent, who is expected to reach this city in about 10 days to organize the congregation. The pastor of the new church will be the Rev. John Nedzelnitsky, the present pastor of the church in Karr street, Allegheny.

The new church is a handsome one and the interior will be elaborated decorated with works of art, many of them being donations from wealthy Russians. As in all orthodox Greek churches there will be no pews or seats, the communicants standing or kneeling during services. Bishop Tichon expressed himself highly pleased with the new church and later in the day left for Osceola Mills, where he will inspect a church being erected.

For Allegheny Schools.

At a meeting of the Allegheny High school committee last night it was decided to receive bids for coal for supplying the school buildings, on October 27. The committee recommended that the contract for school clocks be awarded to the Poole company, conditioned that the company give a five-year guarantee and give bond. The selection of hardware was referred to the building committee. The arrangement of the scientific department and lighting of the engine room was referred to the same committee.

Rifles Elected Officers.

At meeting of the Central Independent rifles the new independent military organization of Allegheny, the following officers were elected: President, the Rev. J. Allison Platts; vice president, P. H. Mills; secretary, T. C. Waite; treasurer, Dr. O. L. Miller; assistant secretary, Harry B. Naylor. Dr. Laird O. Miller was elected captain.

SOCIETY

THE Art society last evening inaugurated what promises to be one of the most brilliant musical seasons in Pittsburgh. The occasion was also the opening recital of the thirtieth year of the Art society, the forerunner of all later musical and artistic movements in this city.

Carnegie Music hall, after its long summer's rest, cleansed and brightened for the opening, was well-filled with a representative audience, and the recital presented was one of the most enjoyable in many months. It was a song recital by some of the same artists who have inaugurated previous seasons of the Art society with some new ones, but the program which was rendered was entirely new. There were two ensemble numbers for voices and pianoforte.

The program opened with "Flora's Holiday," a cycle of English melodies, a collection of dainty, quaint and interesting verses charmingly arranged in their musical setting by H. Lane Wilson of London. They formed a very pleasing introduction to the solo numbers which followed. The singers were Mrs. Seabury F. Ford, soprano, who is a prime favorite with musicians in Pittsburgh; Miss Jessie Ringen, whose contralto voice is of rare and exquisite quality; Paul DuFault, tenor, a newcomer and cordially received; Herbert Witherspoon, the basso, who made a hit with his song, "Had a Horse," and Miss Adelia Prentice, the accomplished pianist and perfect accompanist.

The latter part of the program consisted of a song cycle, called "More Daisies," and written by Miss Liza Lehmann, whose beautiful "Daisy Chain" was so happily received last season. "More Daisies," with its light, tripping measures, its hide-and-seek of the sunshine and shadow of child life and its gay frolicsome nature, is the charming musical frame with which Miss Lehmann surrounds six of the verses taken from Robert Louis Stevenson's "A Child's Garden of Verse." The interpretation given them by the singers was all that could be desired, adding another to the successes of the Art society.

Wenshelmer—Mendel.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at Hotel Lincoln at high noon last Wednesday, the bride being Miss Gertrude Wenshelmer of Greensburg, Pa., and the bridegroom George Mendel of Wheeling, W. Va. The bride is a daughter of George Weinshelmer, a prominent citizen of Greensburg, Pa.; the groom holds a position with the American Tin Plate Company at Martins Ferry, O., and is a son of John R. Mendel, a wealthy citizen of Wheeling, W. Va. The Rev. S. B. Mase of the United Presbyterian church of Greensburg officiated. After the ceremony breakfast was served in the private dining room of the hotel, after which the bridal couple left on an eastern trip. They will be at home after October 25 at their new residence, Martins Ferry, O.

A Wedding Tomorrow.

A quiet home wedding, at which only about 20 friends of the bride and bridegroom will be present, will be that of Miss Annie G. Morgan of Hazelwood and R. Harvey Marshall of Lafayette street. The ceremony will be performed at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening by the Rev. C. V. Wilson, pastor of the Hazelwood Methodist Episcopal church, at the home of Miss Morgan's sister, Mrs. Thomas F. Greene. The bride-elect is well-known in Hazelwood and is quite prominent in church and social circles. Mr. Marshall is the son of John B. Marshall and is a young business man. Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will start at once after their wedding on a trip which will include Washington, New York, Boston and other eastern cities.

Entertainments in Wilkinsburg.

The Brotherhood of Andrew and Philip of Trinity Reformed church, Wilkinsburg, famous for its successful lectures, has arranged a series for the coming season. There will be six events, as follows: November 14, Spillman Riggs, humorist and musical Impersonator; in "Musical Fits and Misfits;" December 15, the famous Parker Concert Company; December 30, Dr. Thomas McClary, lecturer, on "The Man With the Hoe;" January 20, the Hon. J. Wight Giddings, on "Uncle Sam's People;" February 19, the Wesleyan Male quartet, and Houston, impersonator, and March 5, the Wagner Harp Orchestra and Quartet Company.

Winter Dinner.

The Corpus club, Wilkinsburg, has issued invitations for a series of receptions during the fall and winter months in Assembly hall. The first is to take place on Friday evening, October 24. The others will be held on Friday evenings, November 28, January 2, January 23, February 27 and April 3. A number of out-of-town guests are expected to be present at the initial dance. The officers of the club are W. A. Gilleland, president; S. L. Blachley, vice president; R. A. Brannell, secretary, and W. J. Knorr, treasurer.

Wedding Cards.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Miss Mary Juanita Scott of Saxonburg and Dr. Orville George Crawshaw of Dawson, Pa., which will take place on Thursday, October 30. Miss Scott is the daughter of Dr. J. M. Scott of Saxonburg. The wedding will be held at her home. Mr. Crawshaw and his bride will live in Dawson.

Presidents' Day in Sewickley.

The first meeting of the Women's club of the Sewickley valley will be held at the Edgeworth club tomorrow. It will be the President's Day reception. Mrs. Slack has arranged a short musical program. Vocal and instrumental music of his own compositing, will be rendered by Arthur Nevin.

Will Wed in Sewickley.

Thursday, October 23, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the wedding of Miss Catherine Wilson McDonald and Louis Downer Tracey of Sewickley will take place at the home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McDonald, in Centennial avenue. Invitations have been issued to only relations and a few intimate friends.

Notes of Society.

Watson V. Jones of Wilkinsburg, accompanied by his wife, has gone to New York and Philadelphia.

Miss Josephine Denny Evans, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Evans, of Wood street, Wilkinsburg, who has been in Kansas City, Mo., since last spring, is home again.

Miss Laura Galey, daughter of Mrs. Elsie Galey of Sewickley, and Dr. John Walters of Sewickley, will be married at the home of the bride on Henry avenue tomorrow at 5 o'clock.

An oyster supper was given last evening in K. of P. hall in Sewickley by the ladies of the Maccabees. The supper was given for the benefit of the order.

The Clerical club of Pittsburgh was entertained by the Rev. Robert A. Benton, pastor of St. Stephen's Episcopal church of Sewickley. Dinner was served by the ladies of the church.

PERSONALS.

The Rev. M. A. Barber, pastor of the Bishop Elliotte Memorial Protestant Episcopal church of San Marcos, Tex., arrived in Pittsburgh last night over the Panhandle on his way to attend the annual missionary council of his church in Philadelphia. The session will open tomorrow and will be the first convocation of the members of the church. All the bishops of the church will be present, with delegates from all the Protestant Episcopal churches of the United States. The Rev. M. A. Barber, while in this city will collect aids for his church and expects to be very successful during his stay here. "San Marcos," he said, "is one of the finest resident cities in the world. The climate is even all the year round and the place is a paradise. Last year we experienced a great drought, which affected the cotton crop, reducing it to about one-third of its yield. Corn was a failure, but this year the outlook for both crops is much better. There has been an abundance of rain since August and the grass is rich and sweet for the cattle."

C. R. Bowen and J. G. Lockwood, steel manufacturers of Sheffield, England, are at the Hotel Lincoln. They came to Pittsburgh on an inspection tour, and have visited all the leading industries. Yesterday they visited the Carnegie Steel works at Homestead, and today will visit the Westinghouse plants at East Pittsburgh and Wilmerding. They expect to be in the city until Saturday, when they will leave for the west. They think that Pittsburgh is one of the greatest industrial cities in the world.

"The new plants of the Lackawanna Iron and Steel Company will be the finest in the world when finished," remarked C. F. Town of New Castle, Pa., last night. "The company expects to spend $25,000,000 on them and give employment to 10,000 people. New ore docks and steamers are now being constructed. The plants will be erected at Stony Point, on Lake Erie, and are expected to be ready for operation in early spring."

Thomas Westenholm, a wool dealer of Philadelphia, passed through the city last night. "The drought in Australia has benefited the American wool growers," he said, "and has helped to advance the price of this commodity in America. Some of the finest wool is now being raised here and within a few years we will be independent of the foreign product."

Mrs. Daniel H. Hastings of Bellefonte and her sister, Mrs. R. M. Foutzman of Lock Haven, are registered at the Hotel Duquesne.

NOT WORK ENOUGH FOR ALL STRIKERS

Nearly 2,000 Men Will Be Idle Four Months in Shamokin District.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

SHAMOKIN, PA., Oct. 20.—Mine Inspector Edward Brennan of the Seventh district today said:

"There will be from 1,700 to 2,000 men idle for four months after resumption of work in my district. There are 20,000 men and boys in the district."

Mules were lowered into the underground workings of collieries here today. The Alaska and Locust Gap collieries are ready to resume at a day's notice. The same can be said of the North Franklin colliery, Trevorton and several other operations that have been kept clear of water and falls.

Strikers are preparing to hold a mammoth parade and mass meeting here on Mitchell Day, October 29. If the strike is settled by that time the latter event will also be celebrated on that day.

Unknown persons made an attempt to destroy the Natalie colliery bridge at Green Ridge early this morning. Frank Rhoades, George Raudenbaush, Jr., and William T. Reefeigar, returning to Mount Carmel from Shamokin on a freight train shortly before daybreak, noticed a fire in the direction of the bridge. They hurried to the branch road where they found the lower timbers of the trestle ablaze. They extinguished the flames before any damage resulted.

Typhoid fever developed in the Tenth regiment today, the victim being Private George Wickerman, of Company A. He was taken to his home at Monongahela City by a hospital steward.

NO ARREST WAS MADE OF B. & O. ENGINEER

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BELLAIRE, O., Oct. 20.—The report that P. J. Glancy, the Baltimore & Ohio engineer, had been arrested in this city for the murder of his fireman, J. W. Shilty, near Zanesville, is a mistake. He has been in the city all day, and is much distressed over the reports sent out about his fireman.

It is stated here that there is no doubt but that his fireman slipped from the engine and fell to his death. The head brakeman was the last man who saw him alive. Glancy went to Newark tonight.

MORE ROBBERIES REPORTED.

Downtown Store Flim-Flammed—Cumberland Man Loses Clothing.

About 9 o'clock yesterday morning a man called at the office of the Columbia Phonograph Company in Penn avenue. He stated he was Dr. Stewart of No. 938 Penn avenue, and wanted $25 worth of new records sent to his office as soon as possible, payment to be made on delivery.

The firm booked the order and in half an hour started a messenger boy out to find Dr. Stewart's office and deliver the package of records. At the corner of Penn avenue and Seventh street the messenger was met by a man who told the boy to wait until he brought the money. The stranger promptly disappeared.

Last night J. A. Householder of New Cumberland, W. Va., reported to the detective force that he had been robbed of a new overcoat valued at $50 and considerable other clothing. Householder formerly lived at No. 208 Park avenue, East End, and moved to West Virginia about two months ago. He is employed as a traveling salesman by a Pittsburgh shoe firm.

What Women Are Wearing

A small fad which has taken a very strong hold upon the New York fashionist is the carrying of handkerchiefs in colors to match one's frocks. A cobwebby affair in delicate mull has a border of pink, or blue, or tan, or black, according to the gown worn. These colored handkerchiefs remind one of bandannas, and, whatever the smart woman may say, are not in good taste. Besides, they invariably launder badly. To my thinking, women's handkerchiefs, like men's shirts or cuffs, are always sure to be perfectly correct if of plain white, and nearly always sure to be incorrect if gaudily colored.

Handkerchief and Collar.

Lace handkerchiefs are so inexpensive now, too, and so easily made at home, that the pretty, pure white, "fussy affairs, so distinctly feminine, should satisfy the soul of the most fastidious. One of the latest ideas is to have your handkerchief match your cuffs and collar; for, of course, no girl with any pretensions to good dressing is without the little soft white turnover cuffs and collar which garnish every pretty dress nowadays.

Match, match, match! Everything must match! Two years ago our shirtwaists swore at our skirts, our hats quarreled with our coats, and coats, hats, skirts and shirtwaists all quarreled with one another. But today the smart girl is perfect harmony, a symphony in color that, if put to music, would delight the ear of Mascagni.

An imported white moire hat richly appliqued in cream lace medallions, with narrow mink edging crown and brim, has a single white ostrich plume fastened with rhinestones and falling low in the back on the hair. It is a Hertz-Boyer model, and most effective.

Among the Model Hats.

A pink beaver, duchess shape, faced with closely folded liberty and velvet in the shades of the rich clusters of grapes which ornament its brim, has heavy point Venise lace in grape design draped about it, laced with a soft tint of pink liberty. It is a fetching model and the combination of shades is quite new.

Still another lovely model is of light blue beaver, faced and draped with light blue chiffon, loosely caught with lace in design of heavy grape clusters, a single band of deep nasturtium velvet and light blue ostrich tips showing under the brim at the left. A unique hat is one of the plateau shape, composed of wide black velvet ribbon closely picated, with a handsome black ostrich plume fastened at the right with a fine jet ornament and carried completely around the hat and down on the hair at the back.

A tailored suit has become a necessity. It may serve simply for street wear, or, if rich enough in fabric and make-up, may find a place among one's better gowns.

The Tailored Suit,

Wool material of almost any kind, silk, velvet or corduroy are appropriate.

Suit jackets are oftenest seen in Norfolk blouse or any of the box styles, with modifications or additions. A broad effect at the shoulders is sought, though the Gibson style can no longer be worn by properly gowned women. Most of the sleeves are plain at the top. Between elbow and wrist comes the principal fullness, which is made either bishop or bell shape. This portion of the sleeve is often the most ornamented parts of suit coats.

Black velvet coats are in high favor. The best style has a tight fitted back, blouse front and revers, peplum and any desired garniture. Heavy white satin is the usual lining. Stitching, lace applique, Persian embroidery, braids, medallions, cord and tassels, fancy buttons, etc., are as much approved here as elsewhere. Tabs and tails at the back find greater favor than ever, and many jackets are made with skirt-like capes of various length coming from the belt.

Ribbons of every sort, description, color and fabric will be worn without end this winter. They will be made into flowers, choux, bows and sashes. All things possible for the neck, corsage, belt and hair are made with the ribbon flowers.

Ribbon Much Worn.

Lovely big pink satin and other colored roses present a very natural appearance with yellow stamens forming the center, and now, added to these beautiful ribbon roses, another ribbon flower comes for admiration, the calla lily.

This is made of white satin ribbon with the yellow stamen also of ribbon. Big bunches of these ribbon flowers, with green leaves added, are intended for corsage wear.

The vogue for hanging, swinging, dangling ornaments seems to have come to stay a while. Even the new transparent stocks have little strings and loops and tassel effects of pearl and steel and jet.

Stocks of All Sorts.

Some of the French patterns in the imported neckwear show exquisite designs in basket work; the crocheted rings are introduced in rich effect, with feather stitching appliques of various fabrics and laces, chiefly the heavier linen sorts, Irish and Russian.

One deliciously French transparent stock, with the long stole effect in the pointed fronts, showed tiny blue hearts in narrow bands of taffeta, surrounded by white hemstitching and insertion. French knots are much used in the embroidery on these stocks and collars. Chiffon and extremely sheer linens are in vogue for this new neckwear, combined with cobwebby silk crochet work, and giving the impression, as some one put it, that "the less there is of them, the more beautiful they are."

The Mandarin evening coats are so fascinating in their old oriental beauty that every feminine lover of finery is pining for one. The way in which these coats are made is an interesting little story. Some of the original "coats of the mighty" were secured, and the rich, heavy ornamentation with which they were covered transferred to garments sufficiently shapely in outline and yet retaining the oriental characteristics. Some of them are redolent of delicious perfumes, and all of them are different from anything else of the sort to be seen.

Fascinating Mandarin Coat.

One, a full length cloak, is of Chinese red satin, appliqued and embroidered from throat to hem in the most exquisite outlines of birds, blossoms and butterflies. It is lined with cream moire brocade and finished about the throat and sleeves with just enough of the soft fluffiness that chiffon gives to complete a perfect whole. Another has revers exquisitely embroidered in tiny green parrots outlined in gold thread.

FORMER PITTSBURGHER HEAD OF CARMELITES

Appointment of Mayer a Step by the Vatican Toward Americanization.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
NEW YORK, Oct. 20.

The Very Rev. Rudolph Mayer, formerly of Pittsburgh, has been elected general of the Carmelites at the chapter of the order held last week in Rome. This is another important step in the Americanization of the high officials of the church, and will have significant bearing on the further negotiations over the Philippines question by the Taft commission.

Father Mayer was born in Wurtemberg, but came to the United States at an early age. He was ordained a priest 30 years ago. He then formed the Carmelite order and has held every office in it within the gift of his fellow-members. He labored for a long time in Pittsburgh, where he was attached to Holy Trinity church. Three years ago he was called to Rome to be the rector of the Carmelite college in that city.

During his stay in the United States Father Mayer, like Mgr. Falconio, the expected apostolic delegate at Washington, became an American citizen.

PRESBYTERY MET.

Two New Ministers Ordained, One Goes to Chicago and One to Pittsburgh.

A called meeting of the Allegheny presbytery of the United Presbyterian church was held in the Fourth church, Allegheny, last night to take upon trial for ordination Messrs. John W. McClenahan and E. G. Forrester. The Rev. Dr. McMillan acted as moderator pro tem. Both applicants preached trial sermons and were ordained. The Rev. Dr. McMillan delivered the ordination prayer and the Rev. Dr. D. A. McClenahan of the Western Theological seminary delivered the charge.

The Rev. McClenahan has accepted a call to the Eighth United Presbyterian church of Chicago, and the Rev. Forrester will be assistant pastor of the Second United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh. A call for the Rev. Huber Ferguson of Portland, Ore., as pastor of the Tenth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny was presented and signed by the officers of the presbytery. The call will, it is said, be accepted.

HUSBAND WORTH $80,000.

Mrs. Lizzie Phelps Sues Lester Patterson for That Amount for Breach of Promise.

MANKATO, MINN., Oct. 20.—Mrs. Lizzie H. Phelps, a fashionable milliner, today brought suit in the district court against Lester Patterson for $80,000 damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage. Mr. Patterson was recently married to a wealthy widow at Los Angeles, Cal. He is a wholesale grocer and one of the wealthiest residents of Mankato.

Since his recent marriage he has spent most of his time at Bismarck, N. D., and the complaint in this action was served upon him there.

It is said he will attempt to have the service of the homeland set aside on the ground that service of a civil action on a resident of Minnesota in another state is void.

FRIENDS EXTEND SYMPATHY.

Many Telegrams Received by Family of Librarian Crane.

Many telegrams of sympathy from prominent men in various parts of the country were received yesterday by the family of Walter Crane of Hawkins, librarian of the Braddock Carnegie library, who died Sunday afternoon. One last evening was received from Mr. Andrew Carnegie. It was dated Skibo Castle. Others were from James Gayley, formerly of Braddock, now first vice president of the United States Steel Corporation, with headquarters in New York city. Telegrams were also received from Mayor W. H. Noble of Joliet, Ill.; William F. Morrow of Duluth, Minn., purchasing agent of the ores and mines department of the United States Steel Corporation. Word was received last evening that W. R. Sterling, president of the Illinois Steel Company, and a member of the United States Steel Corporation, will reach Braddock this evening to attend the funeral services, which will be held tomorrow afternoon. James Garrett, first vice president of the Illinois Steel Company, and also a member of the United States Steel Corporation, reached the home of Mr. Crane last evening. Both men had great admiration for Mr. Crane, both of whom were connected with the plant during the nine years Mr. Crane was at Joliet as librarian and superintendent of the club house of the Illinois Steel Company. David Crane, eldest son of Mr. Crane, who has been with his company of the Fourteenth regiment the past two weeks at Mahanoy City, reached home last evening.

Incendiary Fire Is Fatal.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 20.—An incendiary's operations last night not only caused several fires, but cost a human life. Today a charred body, believed to be that of a woman, was found in the ruins of an icehouse which had been burned.

SELF-ADMINISTERED POISON.

Hundreds of people deliberately poison their systems eating. Scientists have proven that uric acid is derived mainly from beefsteak, which people eat from habit. This acid is not found in vegetable foods. Uric acid is best known as the cause of rheumatism, but to its effects apoplexy, Bright's disease and hardening of the arteries, which causes premature age, are traced. The prevention of uric acid may be found in a diet of Toasted Wheat Flakes, which are sweetened with Malt Honey. This is a dextrinized (browned) food, which makes strong muscles and an alert mind. These flakes are delicious, satisfying and strengthening. Toasted Wheat Flakes are sold by grocers in packages bearing a picture of the Battle Creek Sanitarium.

Fine Furs.

The New Things

There are some very swell things in the fur cases this fall—Many new ideas—Exclusive with us—
For instance—
There's a new half shawl scarf, made flat and lined with silk that is very beautiful—and very warm and serviceable as well—
We are showing some rich pieces in Russian and Hudson Bay Sable, Baum Marten and the various foxes—Skins are more expensive than last year—but we have not advanced prices any—
That's one advantage of making our own garments—We are not dependent on some one else to make the price for us—We make most of our fine pieces to special order now—A distinct advantage to you—
Only let us have your order early—

Is Your Good Will Assured?

Attorney General Knox in his address on the Trust Problem last week said:

"Good will is property capable of being appraised, bought and sold. In many cases it is the main ingredient of value. It represents all the struggle, industry, tact and judgment that make success. In estimating the worth of a business it is not infrequently reckoned more valuable than the buildings and machinery that make up the physical plant."

How much is the Good Will of your business worth?
How much would it be worth if you were to die tonight?
Is it assured for an amount in harmony with its value?

1,299 PEOPLE WANTED RUBBER GOODS!

There's a 6-days' record you'll not see equaled elsewhere in a lifetime! But it will be beaten at May's. The more May's great Rubber Goods department becomes known the more customers it has. Two exclusive departments is one of the big features. A department for women, in charge of women, and a department for men, with men in charge. A stock of goods 20 times as large as you would find elsewhere. Everything that comes under the caption of "Rubber Goods"—Trusses, Hot Water Bags, Rubber Gloves, Vapor Bath Cabinets, Fountain Syringes, Sick-Room Requisites, etc., etc., at prices that dealers who don't operate on so extensive a plan would not reap a cent of profit from.

But the Rubber Goods department is only one section of the busy store. Last week 14,960 customers made purchases in the different departments, as follows:

2,403 customers in the Prescription department.
5,093 customers in the Toilet Goods department.
1,056 customers in the Sponge department.

Interesting Novelties in the Local Theaters

Alvin—N. C. Goodwin's New Play.

It may be considered as a fact, with not two dissenting opinions, that Mr. N. C. Goodwin and Miss Maxine Elliott scored an undoubted personal triumph at the Alvin theater last evening when they appeared in a play from the pen of Madeline Lucette Ryley, called "The Altar of Friendship." The audience was a very large one and quite representative of fashion and culture, besides being from the very start a characteristically friendly audience toward the two distinguished players. With these conditions as a basis it is easy to see the end from the beginning. There was much delightful acting, some thoroughly tender and deft emotion, scenes in which the dual art of two masking between the stars was at its best, and a play that served only as medium for these things, but what contributed but little to the sum total of enjoyment. Mrs. Ryley's dramatic facility does not show either expansion or growth since she wrote "An American Citizen" for the Goodwins. There is in this latest play some distinct reminders of that first effort, but in many particulars it is not so strong or so pleasing a work. The story is simple and the dramatic material rather scarce. A young Londoner, Dick Arbuthnot (Mr. Goodwin) discovers on the night of his sister's marriage to a man who has been his friend and chum, that the fellow has had a disgraceful entanglement with a young girl, to whom Arbuthnot has been kind and who has been his stenographer. To shield his sister from the sorrow and shame of this knowledge, Arbuthnot follows the mistake of the father of the girl, who thinks that he and not his brother-in-law, is the guilty man, to go uncontradicted. Arbuthnot is in love with a young American girl, Sallie Sartoris (Miss Elliott), who hears of the scandal and accepts his guilt, refuses to look upon him in the light of a lover, though previous to this they had engaged in a bogus love affair to please her father, who wants to see her married. In the end the truth is told and the wife and lover, while Arbuthnot wins his American sweetheart. There is not much in the dramatic structure of the piece to commend it to critical judgment, but it has been Goodwinized so thoroughly during the two weeks of its existence as the property of these players, that one would be dull indeed who did not enjoy it. It is full of quaint phrases and odd little humorous touches that we are sure Mrs. Ryley could never have written. The incident of misplacing the ring in the last act is a clear case in point. This is unmistakably a Goodwin addendum. The last act is much the weakest of the four, and is rendered all the more inane and pointless by such close proximity to the third, which is the best one in the play.

Of the work of Mr. Goodwin and Miss Elliott there remains little to be said. It is delightful in all its moods and phases. Miss Elliott grows more regally beautiful under the softening touch of matronly charms than ever, when as a girl she bore the title of the handsomest woman on the American stage. It is in her art, though, that she has shown the greatest advancement. Her comedy is sure, intelligent and pervaded by a womanly loveliness that makes it pleasing to the eye and satisfying to the mind. Mr. Goodwin is the same light-hearted, jovial artist as of yore, with a laugh in a shrug of the shoulders and a merriment in the twinkle of his eye. The company is thoroughly good in most respects. Mr. J. R. Crawford as the father of the wronged girl does a splendid piece of acting in the scene when he reveals the shame of his daughter and his own sorrow. Its clear, intelligent force held the audience through several minutes of monologue, an achievement that isn't possible to many players. Miss Julia Dean plays the part of the young wife with great skill and accuracy of method. The rest of the cast is thoroughly adequate and the appointments of the piece are admirable, the second scene being a beautiful setting.

Grand—"The Great Ruby."

It is not surprising that the Cecil Raleigh and Harry Hamilton melodrama, called "The Great Ruby," first kept the Drury Lane theater patrons in a fever of excitement for many months, and then in New York, under the guiding hand of Augustin Daly, had a run of 200 nights. It is the best Drury Lane production we have ever had, and this is saying a great deal, when one remembers the really fine plays that have had their birth in that famous old theater. It is also the most elaborate and expensive production that has ever been attempted by the melodrama producers. It cost its first producer, Mr. Arthur Collins, $30,000 before the curtain went up, and it may be reasonably conjectured that Daly spent an equal sum upon it before it went on the stage of his New York house, with Ada Rehan and a cast of some of the best players on our stage, to interpret it. With this preliminary knowledge of the history of the piece, one can easily understand the enterprise and daring of a stock company manager who attempts to approximate the original production. And yet Manager Collins has done quite approximated, but in very many essential particulars equals both the Collins and the Daly productions at the Grand this week.

The drama is in itself a worthy specimen of good, straight melodrama. It tells a thrilling story, connectedly and brings forward situation after situation of the most startling character, and with such adroitness that the interest never lags nor the seeming possibility of the story become a tax on the imagination. There are five acts and it seems all of them fine specimens of the stage managed and scene painters' art. The first is a jewelry shop in a swell London quarter; the second is the conservatory, waiting room and interior of a suburban hotel, in the third is shown a tally-ho party, and the finale of both a horse race and a cricket match. The fourth is the climax scene and includes a startling and realistic balloon ascension with two men engaged in mortal combat on the edge of the frail basket. The last act returns to the home of the jeweler and the quarters of the officers of the law, where the tangled threads are straightened out. In the production at the Grand every one of these scenes is given with fine accuracy and with great elaborateness. The scenery is new and the appliances are all conceived with special reference to giving effectiveness to the movement of the play. In its scenic and costume equipment the Grand's production is a marvel of excellence and beauty, and doubtless represents the biggest thing of the kind ever undertaken on that stage. If, indeed, it does not eclipse any thing ever seen in local theaters in the way of melodrama embellishment.

Of the story of the play, it may be said that it is interesting all the time and thrilling in spots. A costly jewel, a great ruby, has been stolen by a gang of thieves, at the head of which is a beautiful adventuress, the Countess Charkoff, and a polished villain in the person of Ingraham. It is the pursuit of this gang and the recapture of the ruby that forms the basis for the plot, and which involves an Indian prince, a clever detective, a demure clerk at a fashionable hotel, a mother struggling to marry her daughter off to a rich nobleman, and an inquisitive old lord with two marriageable girls. To complicate affairs the jeweler's wife is suspected of being dishonest, but early in the play it is discovered that she is a somnambulist and this fact is utilized to give still another twist to the already much involved plot and to remove the precious jewel one step farther away from the eager pursuers. There are three love stories to keep the heart interest at fever pitch. The Indian prince, who brings forward the great ruby, is in love with the adventuress whose genius has engineered its theft. The detective forms a tender passion for the little hotel cashier, while there is an impecunious young soldier who loves a girl equally as poor. In the end all the threads are straightened out, the villain is thrown to his death from the balloon and the other lovers find the right partners.

As a whole the drama is one of the most exciting of its class ever seen on the local stage. The company last evening pulled the performance up to a high point of excellence in several instances, and in one or two cases, there was a real triumph scored. Of course of all the players in the cast Miss Marion Ballou was given the warmest reception, for the reason that everybody was glad to see this delightful little woman once more a member of the Grand's forces. She showed her appreciation by a half-tearful wholly genuine speech of thanks, and then turned in and played Louise Jupp, the hotel cashier, with a winsomeness and naturalness that demonstrated how wise Manager Davis was to secure her signature to another contract. Miss Minna Phillips played the adventuress with the skill and intelligence. Miss Taylor played with engaging frankness and force the role of the parvenu wife of the jeweler. Mr. Elliott signaled his departure from the stock by playing the villain with rare ability. Together with Mr. Gremlet of the detective, these two actors dominated the stage and gave the performance a force and realism that it would not otherwise have had. Charles Abbe was humorously pleasing as a senile nobleman, William Ingersoll a Indian prince had but little to do, except in the ballroom scene, which he did well. Willis Martin did a stupid English nobleman without much color or life. As members of the gang of thieves James Cooper and Joseph Wightman were satisfactory, as were also Wilson Taylor as Sir John Garnett, Thomas Meighan as Capt. Dalrymple, Dennie Harris as Hans, and Misses Gale, Sumner, Cummings and More played subordinate roles so as to retain admirably the harmony of the cast. The gowns worn by Misses Taylor, Phillips and Cummings were magnificent specimens of the modiste's art. The audiences, both in the afternoon and at night were unusually large and it looks as if "The Great Ruby" was in for a run. The Grand management announces that the curtain will rise promptly at 2 and 8 o'clock during the run of "The Great Ruby."

Empire—"The Runaway Girl."

Manager McCullough has a lucky hand at the Empire this week. The cast in the production of "A Runaway Girl" is nearly as good as the original cast seen at the Alvin two years ago under the management of Augustine Daly. Mr. McCullough's house last night was an appreciative one of the many good things of the merry musical play, which is just full enough of wholesome fun to make its music thoroughly enjoyable. Miss Louise Willis has Miss Virginia Earl distanced in her rendition of Winnifred Gray, a runaway girl. She is a handsome woman, petite in her stature, and her voice is as clear as a bell. When she sang "The Boy Guessed Right the Very First Time," in the second act, she had her auditors completely won over. George W. Leslie, who has been seen here before with Jefferson, Crane and a host of other stars, has developed wonderfully and makes good use of the leeway in his star part of Flipper. His moonlight darkey specialty, Miss Pearl Virgin, filled the time out of sight, as a cubic little woman and displayed a marked versatility. Herbert Sears as Prof. Tamarind, unconsciously, it may be, is a fair prototype of Dan Daly. Miss Sadie Kirby seizes her opportunity at the finish to show real art. Rose Laflarte, a beauty, wins everybody's heart in her leadership of the chorus in the patriotic medley, "Listen to the Band." "The Runaway Girl" is another Empire winner.

Bijou—"M'Liss."

"M'Liss," Bret Harte's realistic drama of life in a western mining camp, is back at the Bijou this week to be welcomed by hundreds of its old admirers. For the play, suggestive as it is of the '49's hardships and crude, but unerring sense of justice, gains rather than loses in interest as the years go by. Its chief interest, however, lies in the wonderful example of naturalness which Nellie McHenry as M'Liss presents to her audience. A most difficult character to portray, it is in the hands of Nellie McHenry, a wonder of real artfulness. And when the unsophisticated girl of the mountains, who turns out to be the heiress to a fortune in a mining property, comes forth gifted with the culture of a seminary education, the same natural grace and ease of manner makes her a favorite with her hearers.

The company that supports M'Liss is small, but very strong in their rendition of roles more difficult than the ordinary. Charles Drake as Rummer Sniffin, the father of the heroine, lends to the play much humor by his clever imitation of a man in his cups. The hated Mexican "greaser," thief, plotter, murderer and coward, is in the hands of Howard Sidney a splendid type of villainy. Thaxter Mansfield, Dolores, the hated-hearted and brave, loses nothing when acted by M. E. Helsey, who is one of the favorites of the company. John Dayton, the schoolmaster, who loves M'Liss and rescues her from her savage life to wed her at last, is a well poised actor, who is conscious of the possibilities of a difficult role.

Avenue—Vaudeville.

The excellent vaudeville show at the Avenue theater this week is carrying out the policy of the management since the increased prices that was first put into effect last week. The house was crowded nearly all the time during the performance. Among the excellent performers is Albert La Veille, the Frenchman, whose voice is as beautiful as when it charmed audiences in grand opera, and who would charm continuous show audiences if Mr. Guille realized it and displayed less indifference in his partner. Charles and Carlton were original in their sketches and songs and dances, and the Merrills did some risky trick bicycle riding. Other performers were Belle Hathaway and her educated monkeys, Harry Le Clair in female impersonations, Dan Quinn in coon songs and Carry Rogers, the four Oliphants, the Knight Brothers, Collins and Hart, Post and Clinton, the Allens, and Gallando, the instantaneous clay modeler. The entire bill is a good one and pleased the audiences from start to finish.

Duquesne—"Hyde's Comedians."

Hydes' comedians can always be relied upon to present an acceptable entertainment and their aggregation at the Duquesne theater this week includes some of the best specialties in vaudeville. The musical Colbys, the four Mortons and Trovollo, the ventriloquist, divide the major portion of the applause. The old Colby family do not work quite as hard as they used to, but they have added several new and good features to their act. The Mortons have added a minor part to their act and their comedy and singing has been improved and polished up a little. Trovollo is one of the easiest working ventriloquists in the business, and last night he kept the audience in an uproar with a lot of new jokes and new dialogues. The Nichols sisters were well received in their black-faced skits and O'Zav and Delmo made a hit with their juggling. Piccolo's midgets are laughable in their comedy parts. Hall and Staley, the twentieth century burglars, and Tom Henry, the English jester, received some applause.

Academy—"The Dainty Duchess."

The Dainty Duchess Company, which holds the boards at the Academy this week, is one of the standard attractions on the burlesque circuit, and, like all the well-known companies, drew a packed house last night. The act of Lillian Washburn and George Topack is the only one on the program that has been seen before, the rest of the bill being made up of new acts, which went well and were liberally applauded. The two burlesques are good and the chorus is costumed in an unusually rich manner, with changes enough to run from scant to full dress. The comedy is worthy of note. Fenley is a natural comedian—one of the kind that can say any old thing and raise a guffaw, and he is given plenty of opportunity to do so. The olio consists of Tyndall and Slingsbands' comedians, the Hollands, in a clown and doll act, Sisters DeGraff in a singing act, Washburn and Topack in comedy sketch, Lester and Anger, German comedians, and Judson and Slocum, in Hibernian songs. The two burlesques are called "The Duchess at Home" and "Ha'm Seasem."

Mansfield's Remarkable Hit.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Crowds have besieged the box office of the Grand today, but every seat for the balance of Richard Mansfield's appearance in "Julius Caesar" had been sold on Saturday. The management of the theater have made every endeavor to extend Mr. Mansfield's stay, but as he is booked to go to Pittsburgh next week this could not be arranged. Contracts were, however, signed for Mansfield to return to Chicago March 23, and play "Julius Caesar" for three weeks. Mr. Brutus and this production are palpably the hit of this artist's career.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Digests what you eat.

There is no pleasure in life if you dread going to the table to eat and if you can't rest well at night on account of indigestion. Yet many people are living just such lives, and after trying almost everything they give up hope and endure their sufferings as bravely as possible. We would like to recommend to everyone the preparation which has acquired such a wonderful reputation for the cure of indigestion. We refer to KODOL DYSPEPSIA CURE.

It can't help but do you good

It is the only preparation that has ever been devised that contains all the natural digestants in exact proportion, and it is the only preparation that completely digests whatever variety of foods you may wish to eat. That is why it is so highly endorsed by all who have used it.

Rev. W. E. Sitzer, W. Caton, N. Y., writes, "I had dyspepsia over twenty years, and tried doctors and medicines without benefit. I was persuaded to use Kodol Dyspepsia Cure and it helped me from the start. I believe it to be a panacea for indigestion."

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

TIN PLATE MEN HEAR ARGUMENTS

Company and Union Officials State Case for Wage Reduction.

SOME PROMISES MADE

One Is That Proof Will Be Furnished the Men That All Cheaper Plate Is to Displace the "Drawback" Plate.

The special convention of tin plate workers of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers spent all of yesterday listening to President Shaffer and officials of the American Tin Plate Company in arguments for acceptance of the 25 per cent wage reduction on what is known as drawback plate. Delegates were invited to question the speakers, and did so in a manner which indicates that they will not readily consent to the proposed departure from union practices.

The convention will continue today and President Shaffer said last evening that he does not anticipate that a vote will be reached today. It is the purpose to weigh carefully the pros and cons of the questions which every trade unionist and every manufacturer of the country and Wales is watching intently. The attitude of the delegates as gathered outside the convention is nearly equally divided. There are those who are clamoring for acceptance of the proposition as meaning active mills and the cutting off of the large quantity of the cheaper foreign plate now brought here, chiefly from Wales. Others are unalterably opposed to a wage reduction as an abrogation of union principles and they add to this argument that if the lower wages are the means of keeping mills going, this activity will invite more of the independent competition which has already led to a tremendous overproduction.

Speeches by Company Officials.

At 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon the representatives of the American Tin Plate Company were invited into the convention and W. B. Leeds, vice president and general manager; Berthold Goldsmith, district manager in Indiana, and J. R. Phillips, district manager of the Pittsburgh district, made addresses. The speakers invited the delegates to question them freely on any feature of the proposal which they might not understand.

The company officials, among other arguments for the proposition, declared that there would be absolute proof for the workers that when any of the plate for the Standard Oil Company or the packing concerns was being worked, it was to be used only for packages in which to export material. This would be to displace the cheaper Welsh plate, which has been brought here and used for these packages, drawing back nearly all the tariff duty when again shipped out of the country as receptacles for oil, packing house and other products. The managers declared that by no manipulation of the company's patrons could any concern secure the cheaper tin plate, except to be used in this manner and that, therefore, the cheaper plate will in no sense disturb the general domestic trade.

Here to Address Convention.

Others of the American Tin Plate Company officials, who are here to address the convention are District Managers Cecil Robinson of Wheeling and George Greer of New Castle.

One of the disturbing elements in the convention is a protest on the part of delegates that the several mills of the big tin plate company which were lost to the Amalgamated association in the outcome of the settlement of the strike of last year have not been redeemed.

There were several of the mills declared non-union in the strike settlement and the union organization was not to attempt to organize them during the life of the agreement then made, which was to run three years, if a vote of the tin plate trade would consent. The vote was adverse and the agreement expired in July, when the new tin plate scale went into effect. None of the non-union mills has since been organized and some of the delegates are protesting. The non-union plants include the Star and Monongahela in Pittsburgh and mills at Demmler and Monessen, Pa., and Cleveland, O.

NEW FORMATIONS ARE BEING TRIED

EASTENDERS LOADING UP

Will Have Some Ringers in Order to Make the Stars Show Their Speed—Ellis Will Join the Team Today.

Coach Richardson introduced some new formations in the practice yesterday of the Pittsburgh eleven at Greensburg. These formations are something new and have never been seen in this section of the country, and Richardson expects to use them successfully in the games to be played during the season. They will be tried next Saturday in the game with the East End A. A. eleven at Colosseum park.

A report reached the training grounds at Greensburg that the East End team is "loading up" for the game with Pittsburgh, declaring that the big team will not score as many points on E. E. A. A. as it did last week in the game against the Cottage eleven. Richardson expects a hard game with the East Enders.

Tomorrow the Pittsburgh team will have Pittsburgh College for the mid-week attraction in Greensburg. The collegians showed decided improvement in their game last Saturday with California, and it is the intention of Richardson to put in his strongest team tomorrow afternoon.

Matthewson's punting yesterday against the wind was exceptionally strong. Ellis joins the Pittsburgh squad today, arriving at 7:25 this morning. The famous Harvard fullback will be met at the depot by a delegation of gridiron artists.

Shrontz, who has been suffering with an injured leg, is rapidly rounding into form and will be in good shape by Saturday.

Kirby loses his broken hand much to heart and is doing everything possible to get in the league game November 8. He declares he is going to play if he has to have an iron cage made for it. Such nerve and sand is seldom seen.

LARRY TEMPLE WAS NEARLY KNOCKED OUT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, ILL., Oct. 20.—Tom O'Rourke's latest championship hope was mauled out at the American Athletic club tonight when Billy Stift gave Larry Temple a good beating in a fierce six-round battle and all but put his man out in the fourth round.

It was one of the hardest slugging matches seen in Chicago in some time. In the fourth round Temple was sent to the floor four times and was probably saved by the gong, although he got up without taking the count every time and fought gamely until the bell and came back fairly strong in the last two rounds. Both men were tired at the finish. In Stift Temple found a tough proposition. Stift's weight and strength stood him in good stead, but his ring generalship really won him the battle.

In the fourth the men went at it hammer and tongs and Stift finally caught the negro with a full left swing on the point of the jaw, sending him over on his back to the floor. Temple got up only to go down again by the same route, again he got up and a right to the jaw sent him to the mat and then he went down again from a left and right to body and head. At the end of the sixth George Siler gave the decision to Stift.

TRACTION CARS WRECKED.

Pittsburgh Railways Company car No. 57 of the Erin street line was badly damaged yesterday morning in front of the new Philadelphia Company building, in Sixth avenue, by being struck by a steel beam. Charles Armstrong, colored, attempted to drive his wagon into the alley above the new building, and in swinging about, the beam smashed in front of the car. Armstrong was thrown under the feet of his horses, but escaped injury.

Car No. 102 on the Hilltop branch jumped the track at the curve at Beltzhoover avenue and Charles street yesterday morning. Before the motorman could bring it to a stop it dashed over the sidewalk and through the fence into the front yard of the residence at the corner. The line was tied up about an hour. Shortly after the car was again placed on the track another car, in rounding the curve, ran out into the street.

RISKED LIVES TO SEE SHOW.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Two Yale students risked their lives to see a theatrical company's rehearsal at 8 o'clock this morning at the Hyperion theater.

By means of the halyards on the flag pole over the foyer of the theater they let themselves from a neighboring roof down upon the window sill of the balcony. They crawled in and occupied rocking chairs there during the rehearsal of "The Silver Slipper" company. They reached the sidewalk by means of the halyards after the rehearsal without mishap.

To Sell Canadian Products.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—Considerable interest is taken in a proposed trading corporation in process of formation with the object of opening stores throughout the United Kingdom to sell exclusively Canadian products, especially food, at prices minus the middleman's profits. The earl of Aberdeen, former governor general of Canada, is among the supporters of the movement.

Woman Arrested for Murder.

WEST CHESTER, PA., Oct. 20.—Marie M. Roanna, an Italian woman, was placed in jail here today for the murder of Michaelo Imperello, at Avondale, this county, yesterday. It is alleged that Imperello had circulated stories reflecting on the woman's character and that she stabbed him in the heart with a stiletto.

COLLEGE TEAMS HAD AN EXCITING BATTLE

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

GROVE CITY, PA., Oct. 20.—One of the largest crowds of years saw the football game today between Grove City and Westminster college, and they witnessed a battle royal, the game ending in a tie score, 6 to 6. With the exception of about five minutes early in the second half, Grove City had slightly the advantage throughout the game.

In the first half neither side scored, but nearly all the playing was in Westminster's territory. In the second half Westminster scored first by a series of short end bucks. On the punt in there was a kick as to Moore's fair catch, but it was finally allowed and Tennet kicked goal. Grove City then scored after five minutes more play, and Locke secured a goal. With six minutes to play on the next kick off, Grove City received the ball from their 10-yard line to Westminster's 20-yard line, where Crane was called.

Crane, Hildebrand, Locke and Williams were the stars for Grove City, and Tennet, Simpson and Chelsley for Westminster. The line-up:

Dodds and Taylor	R.E.	McBride
Vieball	R.T.	Elliott
Marks	R.G.	Crooks
Williams	C.	Parson
Shaffer	L.G.	Russell
Thomas	L.T.	Meloy
Marshall	L.E.	Tennet
Harper	Q.	Moore
Hildebrand	R.H.	Simpson
Craig	L.H.	Christy
Locke	F.B.	Moore

FIRST ROUND OF MATCH GOLF PLAY

In the first round of match play on the Edgeworth course at Sewickley yesterday for the J. S. George cup some fast golf was developed in the contest between J. C. Neale and W. P. McVay. Neale finally defeated McVay by 2 up and one to play, taking the last two holes in three each. Throughout the match neither ever had a greater lead than one hole. Their best ball was 96 against the "bogey" record of 72 strokes, in the other matches Thomas Robinson defaulted to F. M. Hutchinson; Christy Payne defaulted to C. I. Shannon; S. S. Liggett, who gave Ewart one stroke handicap, defeated him 6 up and 5 to play. W. H. S. McKelvey defaulted to Henry Stanton; W. N. Kerr defeated A. L. Pearson, Jr., 4 up and 3 to play. Pearson having one stroke; J. W. Dix gave G. K. Wright, three strokes, and defeated him by 4 up and 2 to play; Lieut. Joseph Rohrbacher, who had a handicap of two strokes, was one down to Judge Elliott Rodgers.

Today Hutchinson, who has two strokes, meets Shannon; Stanton, with one stroke plays Liggett; Neale, has a handicap of one stroke over Kerr, and Rodgers two strokes over Dix.

WON BY AN AMERICAN.

He Is the Golf Champion of Germany and Austria.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—W. D. Miller, an American, professor of dentistry at the University of Berlin, won the golf championship of Germany and Austria by two up on the Berlin club's links today. Prof. Andrew of Edinburgh university, who is temporarily living in Berlin while studying the German school system, was second.

WILL HAVE A STRONG TEAM.

East Liberty Basket Ball Players Are Working Hard.

The East Liberty basket ball team, which made an enviable record last season, will be stronger than ever this year, having in the line-up such players at John and Ernest Seibel and Kallock, who were the stars of the famous D. C. & A. C. team. The forwards will be Lewis Orr and Lou Seibel, who are a strong trio of youngsters.

The players have been in practice for two weeks and are in fine condition. Games are wanted with such teams as Indiana, East Liverpool, Steubenville, Butler, Carnegie A. C., Carnegie of Braddock, Allegheny college, Geneva college, Beaver, Manchester, South Side, Wilmerding, Sewickley, McDonald, H. L. A. C., or any other teams in North America. Address all communications to Manager East Liberty Basket Ball Team, Box 42, East Liberty.

Marshall Signs With Des Moines.

William Marshall, who has played with the baseball team of the Homestead Library Athletic club for some time, has signed a contract to play next year with Des Moines. He hesitated for some time and finally decided to accept. Marshall is a first-class all-round man and a catcher of fine ability.

SECRET WORK BY YALE'S TEAM

Close the Gates in Order to Get Ready for Syracuse.

RIOT ACT AT HARVARD

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 20.—Yale's football kickers were sent into secret practice today to the profound surprise of the students. The coachers have heard that Syracuse, which plays here next Saturday, is a stiff proposition, and they will work the team daily behind closed gates till then.

The varsity were given their first complicated formation of the season, but did not score, owing to lack of acquaintance with the novelties. In the open practice, using the familiar style of attack, the varsity scored twice. New coachers galore were here, Heffelfinger, Stillman, last season's head coach, Frank Butterworth Cotton and Corbin, assisting Field Coach Swan; Bowman and Neal played a few minutes for the first time since they joined the cripples two weeks ago. Both are still lame.

Read Riot Act to the Players.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—Hard, strenuous practice marked the Harvard football squad's work today. An unusually large staff of coaches was on hand, and some pretty plain talk indulged in. The Crimson is informed that he must show better work at once or explain why he should remain.

Marshall alone was exempted from the general raking over, as he is continuing his great work. The line in general was given attention today, and the tackles in particular. Young Daly was given another try, and he will probably go on the 'Varsity team.

Whipping Pennsy Into Line.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—It was a crippled lot of candidates that came out on Franklin field this afternoon, and as the practice was secret, the men were obliged to apply themselves rigidly to the mandates of the coaches. All efforts were concentrated in an endeavor to whip the team into some kind of shape for Wednesday's game with Annapolis.

Assistant Coach Bull and Dr. Wharton, the giant champion guard, gave the linemen a severe lesson in defense. They took the tackles, guards and center candidates down to the east end of the gridiron, and with Bull at center and Wharton as a solitary guard, the line was plunged into for gain after gain. Wharton carried on in football togs and was able to get into the play with a vim and with such vigor as the squad had never realized before.

Coach Williams was able to see just where the weak spots in the defense were, and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in trying to correct the faults, for they were many.

Cornell Players Slugged.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The increase of dash and spirit which appeared in the Cornell football team this afternoon as a result of the presence of "Joe" Beacham, the famous end and halfback, exhibited itself in a large number of personal encounters between various members of the squad. Larkin and Hull, Waud and Burns and several others engaged in slugging matches.

The entire play of the team was improved over the weakness of last Saturday. This was in part due to the changes inaugurated today by Couches Reed and Morrison. Hunt, the big right guard, was taken from the line and placed at fullback. Webb was advanced to right guard, while Larkin took Tydeman's place at right end. Burns played on the scrub. Purcell is still in the infirmary. His position was taken by Sheble, the freshman whose work last week was extremely promising.

The varsity players, with the exception of Townsend, are in good condition, and Trainer Moakley says that they were less hurt in the Indian game than in the contest with Williams.

Tigers Were Stiff and Sore.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The hard game against Washington and Jefferson on Saturday stiffened up the Princeton players so badly that the 'varsity team was composed principally of substitutes, who had to fight hard to get one touchdown against the scrubs today. It took the greater part of the first half to get this.

Montgomery was again in center, and showed improvement in his work. He was strong on the offensive, several times breaking through his opponent and breaking up the play. Knoll, a post graduate, is a candidate for center. He weighs about 190 pounds, and is fast and aggressive, but lacks a knowledge of even the opening points of football.

SOME LIVELY DOINGS IN HOCKEY CIRCLES

Fourth Team Needed and Many Clubs Wants In--Cash Offers for Players.

These are lively days in local hockey circles. The league as it now stands is composed of the champion Keystone Bicycle club team, the Bankers and the old P. A. C., steady champions up until last season. It is the desire to have four members to the league this season, as this is a far more desirable number and will relieve any team of playing two games a week. There have been several applicants for the fourth position, among others Homestead wants the place.

Homestead is not objectionable but the tactics inaugurated by some candidates caused alarm. One of the players of the Keystone team was offered $35 a week, it is claimed, and a representative was sent to Canada, who at once proceeded to put the other clubs in the shade by the liberality of the offers made for a winter's hockey here. An article recently published in a Montreal paper stated that many of the cracks would remain away from Pittsburgh this season, as they could do better at home.

The managers of the old teams, who found themselves badly in the hole last season, threaten not to go into the sport this winter on account of the heavy back accounts necessary. Besides Homestead the Irvington club of the East End and the Pittsburgh Field club are candidates for admission.

THREE JOCKEYS SUSPENDED.

Two Set Down for Foul Riding and One for Insubordination.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Jockeys Coburn, Dean and Treadon have been suspended for an indefinite period by the judges of Worth race track. Coburn's suspension is said to be the result of foul riding in the Columbia handicap last Saturday, when he caused Rolling Boer to interfere with McCahey and Lucius Appleby. Treadon was set down for foul riding in the sixth race on Saturday, when he pulled Irving Mayor directly across in front of Hayward Hunter. Dean was suspended for insubordination.

Monongahela Team Wants Games.

MONONGAHELA, PA., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—The Monongahela Indians have decided to play football during November, and would like to hear from the Lyceum Athletic club for a game on Thanksgiving and Jeffers from Duquesne, Charleroi, Fayette City, Dravosburg or Brownsville for November 8. Address Thomas Anderson, Monongahela.

AMONG THE AMATEURS.

The Franklin A. C. Juniors would like to hear from any 50 or 60-pound team for Saturday. Address B. Cohen, 1826 Crawford street, city.

Garner A. C. is without a game for Saturday, October 25. Any strong team desiring a game address Gruver A. C., Box 1053, Carnegie.

Ingram would like to hear from some good team for November 1 and 8. Bridgeville or Westlake preferred. Address C. L. Rose, Ingram, Pa.

The Manchester players are badly used up after the game with the Elwood City heavy weights and will not practice until Wednesday, when all players will please report.

The Allemanies of the East End will practice this evening on the Field grounds this evening. All players will please report. Fisher, Pierson and O'Donnell of the All Stars are requested to be present.

All the Victors are requested to report for practice this evening at 7:30 sharp. The Flavels wish to thank the captain, manager and players of the Messenger A. C. for the treatment received after the game.

The Verners practice Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Candidates for positions please report at Friendship park, corner of Liberty and Millvale avenues. Teams desiring games write to W. N. Mayes, 310 Cedar street, city.

Manager of the Saint Agnes Lyceum requests all players to report for practice at 7 o'clock sharp Tuesday night. The Lyceums would like to hear from all strong 110-pound teams. Address Manager John Taylor, 2205 Tustin street.

The Pittsburgh Reserves will practice Tuesday, Thursday and Friday evenings of this week at Thirty-seventh and Liberty streets, at 7:30 sharp. Reserves want a game for Saturday, November 1. Address Manager, No. 1812 Penn avenue.

The Valley A. C. football team of McKees Rocks has open dates for November 1 and 8. All 85 to 95-pound teams having those dates open are requested to address L. W. Garratt, Box 18, McKees Rocks, Pa., or 'phone 74 R. L. Ex. 66, ring 3.

The Brighton Mohawks are without a game for Saturday owing to Orange A. C. cancelling and would like to hear from some strong 100 to 110-pound team. Call up 9 Turtle Creek or 12 Bellevue. Address Thomas Aiken, 1301 Hamilton avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa.

The Laurel Hill association football team would like to arrange games for any date after today. Desire games for November 1 and the Madison A. C. on that date. They would also like to know the date of the meeting to form a league, so they can have a representative present. Address William Smith, McDonald, Pa.

The West End team of Cornegie will please take notice that Original Foster A. C. have cancelled with them for Saturday.

The Wood Streets would like to arrange with other Orange A. C. or Clemens, of Wilkinsburg, for Saturday, October 25, or any other 100-pound team. Address Thomas E. Brown, 140 Fourth avenue, city.

The Tigers of Allegheny will practice tomorrow and Friday evenings and all players will report promptly. Harry, whose eye was cut in the game last Saturday with the Sterling Reserves of Wilkinsburg, will still be seen in his old position. The Tigers wish to thank the Sterling Reserves for the fair treatment accorded them and they fulfilled their part of the agreement to the letter. Next Saturday the Tigers will meet the Valley A. C. of McKees Rocks. Any good 90-pound team desiring a game with the Tigers please address William A. Robeson, 120 Allegheny market, Allegheny, Pa.

WILD THYME WON THE STAKE EVENT

TRACK RECORD BROKEN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

New York, Oct. 20.—Wild Thyme, backed down from 7 to 1 to 3 to 1, won the Casanova stakes at Morris park today by a length from Olefiant, who in turn was a head in front of Lux Casta. Astarita, the favorite, was fourth, a head back. Olefiant, an added starter and heavily played, made the pace to well in the stretch, where Martin sent Wild Thyme to the front and won.

Slipthrift showed a great burst of speed today and galloped home a winner in the fourth race, breaking the track record for 7½ furlongs. The time was 1:34 flat, which is 1⅘ seconds faster than the previous record. J. A. Drake's Runnels, at the prohibitive odds of 1 to 8, won the last race. The weather was clear and the track fast. DOWN IT GOES AGAIN.

This Time It Was Elsie L. Who Broke a Track Record.

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—M. T. Tichnor & Co.'s Elsie L., at odds of 6 to 1, broke the track record at 7 furlongs in the fourth race, the feature of the card at Worth today. The time was 1:29⅖, a fifth of a second off the old mark. It was strictly a two-horse race after the start. Elsie L. led by a good length to the head of the stretch, where Federal, the heavily-backed favorite, joined her. The filly showed marvelous gameness, however, and notched the big sprinter all through the final sixteenth, winning by a narrow head. Hesitate, third, three lengths away. Clear and cool weather; track fast. Summary:

First race, 6 furlongs—Gilfain, 100, W. Hicks, 10 to 1, won; Mallory, 112, Battiste, 15 to 20, second; Glenrice, 104, Buchanan, 9 to 1, third. Time, 1:14 5-5. Londin, North Pole, Whiten, Clausus, Harvester and Chicago Girl also ran.

All-American Bowlers Record.

ST. PAUL, Oct. 20.—The All-American bowling team which is now making its way to the Pacific coast, has since starting knocked over 30,346 pins against their various opponents' total of 24,791. The game record is 71 games won and 13 lost.

Will Open Association Season.

The association football season in Homestead will open Saturday with a game between the H. L. A. C. and the Swissvale Sempharmors teams. The H. L. A. C. eleven has practiced and is now in good condition.

Eyes and Nose ran Water.—C. G. Archer of Brewer, Maine, says: "I have had Catarrh for several years. Water would run from my eyes and nose for days at a time. About four months ago I was induced to try Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder, and since using this wonderful remedy I have not had an attack. I would not be without it. It relieves in ten minutes."

DREYFUSS TO ATTEND BANQUET OF MINORS

Pittsburgh Club Owner Stands Well With Club Owners. American After Beaumont.

President Dreyfuss of the Pittsburgh club will leave for New York tonight, where he goes to attend the banquet to be tendered the members of the Minor Leagues association by President Pat Powers at the Hotel Victoria tomorrow night.

The invitation to President Dreyfuss arrived yesterday and attached to it was a foot note informing him not to stand on the ceremony of a full dress suit, but be sure to be present in any old clothes. The owner of the Pittsburgh club is very popular with the minor league promoters because of his fair dealings with them in the matter of players from their teams.

After the abrogation of the national agreement last winter a number of club owners in both the National and American leagues raided the minors and took away from the clubs players which they refused to pay for. It was different with the local club owner, who insisted on the rights of minor league owners being respected and the players he secured, Merritt, Sebring, Phelps, McLaughlin and others, were paid for. This is why Mr. Dreyfuss is popular with the minor leaguers.

Deacon Phillipe is back from his four days' hunting trip with Honus Wagner and Schoolmaster Sam Leever. This trio traveled all over Washington county and had a royal good time, but they say nothing about their success in the game line. The Deacon leaves tonight for his home in far away South Dakota, the land of blizzards and cyclones, where he has a fine farm. He will remain on the farm until the holiday season, when he will return here to spend the balance of the winter season.

The following special from Milwaukee will prove of interest to local baseball followers: "Mercle T. Adkins, one of the mainstays of the western league team in this city the past season, has signed a contract through Henry Killilea to pitch for the new American league baseball team that is to enter New York next year.

"The signing of Adkins to a New York contract is proof positive that Griffith will manage a team in the metropolis next season and he will have a great collection of players. Chesbro and Tannehill are two of the champion Pittsburgh pitchers who have already signed New York contracts and more are to follow. Killilea is said to be empowered to offer Clarence Beaumont $5,000 to play with New York."

IN RECEIVER'S HANDS.

Baltimore Courts Decide Against Assignment to Ban Johnson.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 20.—Judge Stockbridge today appointed John L. V. Murphy and John C. Tolson receivers for the Baltimore Baseball and Athletic Company, to take charge of its books, papers and property. The receivers must give bonds for $5,000.

It was also ordered by the court that the recent assignment of the baseball club to Byron B. Johnson be declared null and void.

LIKE BATTLESHIPS MORE THAN CRUISERS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—The naval board of construction today finally decided on the features of the armored cruisers authorized by the last congress. Speed has been sacrificed in a measure to power.

By a vote of four against one, Engineer-in-Chief Melville's proposition to give the big ships 25,000 horsepower and a speed of 23 knots at a minimum, was rejected and the horsepower will stand at 23,000, which he estimates will actually bring the speed down to about 21½ knots. The new boats, therefore, will be three and one-half knots slower than the four famous English armored cruisers of the Drake class.

To offset this lack of speed the Tennessee class will have a much more powerful battery, namely, four 10-inch guns in two turrets against two 9¼-inch guns in the main batteries of the British ships. The Tennessee class also will have more armor, the protective deck at its thickest part being four and a half inches, with six-inch side armor.

The ships have been given so much power of offense and defense that the engineer-in-chief will make a minority report to Secretary Moody, taking the ground that the intent of congress has been evaded and the board has designed actual battleships and not speedy armored cruisers.

Will Send a Contribution.

A generous contribution will be made to the anthracite strikers today by the Operative Journeymen Plasterers' union No. 31 of Pittsburgh. A check for $200 will be turned over to the Pittsburgh committee. Secretary Kelly stated yesterday that Carpenters' local union No. 255 of McKees Rocks had sent a contribution of $50 to the striking miners.

New Army Surgeons.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—J. Morgan Coffin of Pennsylvania and Samuel J. Morris of Ohio have qualified for appointment as assistant surgeons in the army with the rank of first lieutenant.

M'GOVERN WANTS TO FIGHT SOON

The Brooklyn Boy Is Anxious to Get His Title Back.

HAS TWO FIGHTS ON HAND

Is Matched to Meet Both Young Corbett and Benny Yanger. Will Start Active Training This Week in Chicago.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

Chicago, Oct. 20.—Terry McGovern, who is matched to fight both "Young" Corbett and Benny Yanger within the next two months, arrived in Chicago yesterday. With two battles of so much importance ahead of him the Brooklyn terror is taking time to fill some theatrical engagements, but says he will jump into training quarters as soon as the locations and dates for the fights are settled.

McGovern declares that he is anxious to bring the featherweight championship question argument to a head as quickly as possible. He must, of course, whip Corbett before he can lay claim to the title. Terry also figures that, as Yanger is right in line and will be clamoring for a fight, he might as well meet both men and either win or lose. Terry thinks there will be nothing to the results, and that he will be the featherweight champion before a new year comes around, providing there are any bids for the two matches already made.

The featherweights are holding forth strongly at present. "Kid" Broad, who is to fight Buddy Ryan at the Transport club on the North Side, October 31, also arrived yesterday from New York and did not lose any time getting to work. He spent the day in training for his coming bout. He says he can easily make the weight, 125 pounds at 3 o'clock, but doubts Ryan's ability to do so.

Benny Yanger, on the other hand, is going east for a fight. He will meet Tim Callahan at the Penn Art club, Philadelphia, Wednesday night, and will leave for the east today. Yanger suffered no ill effects from the butting he received in the fight with Tony Moran at Dubuque, and his admirers believe he will easily get the better of Callahan, although he will not get the credit for a victory, as no decisions are given in Philadelphia.

McGovern during his stay of two weeks in Chicago expects to do some work in preparation for his coming fights. Joe Humphries is with the Brooklyn boxer and will choose a training place today.

SAGE TAKING PRECAUTIONS.

Having Borrowers Sign Notes With Death Clause Incorporated.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Special.)—At the office of Russell Sage today it was said he was about his house as usual. In view of his retirement from active personal control of his business, to provide for emergencies in the case of his death, new notes are being signed by borrowers from him in which the following additional clause is inserted:

"This note is given by the maker thereof, and the collateral surety above referred to is deposited upon the condition, which the said Sage by the acceptance of the same agrees to, that in the event of the death of said Sage before the payment of such note, the maker thereof may pay the amount due thereon to such trust company in the city of New York incorporated under the laws of the state of New York, as shall be named by Charles W. Osborne and J. J. Slocum, in whose physical custody said note and collateral security shall be placed by said Sage, and upon such payment said Osborne and Slocum are authorized and directed to deliver said note and collateral security to the maker of this note or his order."

ADVANCE IN STERLING CHECKED RISE IN STOCKS

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The eastern stock market yesterday acted more in consonance with the conservative view of the financial situation. The volume of transactions fell off, the total sales reaching 637,000 shares, and the fluctuations were within narrower limits. The only signs of manipulation were in stocks like Norfolk & Western, Baltimore & Ohio, Missouri Pacific, etc., in which the western clique is credited with running a bull campaign, or where pools are interested in restoring the old level of values for effect upon deals supposed to be pending, but which were forced into the background by the recent monetary stringency. There was not, however, the confident public following that was so noticeable last Friday, and the rising tendency of the market attracted profit-taking on the part of both foreign and domestic operators. It is estimated that London sold about 25,000 shares of various stocks during the day, and the London market for American securities closed heavy. While there was no heavy selling pressure at any time during the day, it was apparent that when trading became dull prices began to sag. Late in the session, when it became known that no vote was likely to be reached by the anthracite miners' convention before today, and sterling exchange displayed an advancing tendency, prices eased off, and the reaction was in progress when the market closed.

The decline in rates for call money, which ruled at 6 and 7 per cent at the opening and at 4 per cent at the close, was more than offset, so far as its effect upon the stock market was concerned, by the rise in sterling exchange, which advanced a quarter of a cent over Saturday's closing quotations. The rate is still below the gold-exporting point, but the question of gold exports in the near future was under discussion by the street. It was recalled that two years ago when the treasury came to the relief of the money market the decline in rates was immediately followed by exports of gold, the net amount sent out in August of that year being $13,846,580. In the four remaining months of that year (1900), however, our imports of gold aggregated more than $32,000,000. The movement then was, no doubt, due to the condition of the London money market, which was disturbed by the events in South Africa, one of the widespread consequences of which was the shifting to New York of a number of foreign loans which otherwise would have been financed in London. Among the loans of this kind which came to the United States, and which had the effect of advertising to the world the changed position of this country in the international money market, were the $30,000,000 Trans-Siberian loan, the $115,000,000 Mexican refunding loan, the $20,000,000 German loan, the $10,000,000 subscription to the new English consols and $28,000,000 British exchequer loan. The situation at the present time is, therefore, different from what it was in the fall of 1900; but among conservative bankers, who may be supposed to have a knowledge of the extent of our recent borrowings in Europe, and have means of learning the requirements of the foreign money market, there is a feeling that any material decline in rates here will be followed by exports of gold, even if the current turns in our favor later in the year, which it should do, in view of the heavy exports of cotton and breadstuffs.

In Pittsburgh the stock market was fairly active, the transactions aggregating about 6,300 shares stock and $25,000 bonds. There was some irregularity to prices, but the gains not only outnumbered the losses, but were more important as a whole than the latter. The largest dealings were in Pittsburgh Coal, which sold to the extent of nearly 1,500 shares at 30½ and 30¾. The preferred stock remained dull and uncharged at 90. River Coal common sold at 11⅝ and 11¾, closing with a net gain of ⅛, and the preferred held steady and unchanged at 40, closing at that price bid. While the outlook favors an immediate resumption of hard coal mining, all the reports from the chief markets indicate that the demand for soft coal will tax the capacity of the transportation companies during the remainder of this year at least, and from this the reasonable inference is made that the earnings of the local companies during this period will be the largest for any corresponding time in their history. The steel stocks were moderately active and firmer. Crucible Steel common received a portion of yesterday's loss, selling up to 20⅝ in round lots, and closing at a net gain of ¼ per cent. The preferred stock, after selling at 85¾, recovered to 86, closing unchanged. United States Steel followed the course of that stock in the east, advancing at one time to 41⅝, but closing at 41⅜@41¼. The preferred stock was a fraction higher at 91¼. Pressed Steel Car preferred sold at 94⅞, closing ⅝ higher than the last previous sale. The Westinghouse stocks were also firmer. The second preferred, after selling at 110¾, reacted to 109¾, but closed firm at 109⅝ bid. Air Brake declined to 175, but rallied a point. 100 shares changing hands at 176 at the close. Window Glass was one of the weak features of the market. It opened unchanged at 60, but later in the session became heavy, and in the final dealings sold off to 58½, closing at 58¾ bid, a net loss for the day of 1⅜. The cause of the decline was a rumor that at the annual meeting of the company today the net profits reported would fall below expectations.

The feature of the trust company group was a jump of $40 a share in Pittsburgh Trust, which sold at 890, as compared with 850 at the opening on Saturday. The net gain over the closing bid on Saturday was $20 a share. Accompanying the rise was a report that the directors this week would declare the regular dividend of 5 per cent and an extra dividend of 5 per cent, making a total of 25 per cent for the year. Dollar Savings Fund & Trust was $5 higher at 220, and Safe Deposit & Trust advanced $1 to 109. Real Estate Trust sold at 300, a decline of 1½, and American Trust at 125, a decline of 1 per cent. Federal National Bank was unchanged at 143½, and State Bank a point higher at 74. Colonial Trust was unchanged at 620.

The advance in Copper Range to above 60 in the Boston market yesterday was based upon a report that St. Paul was after the property. The latter is capitalized at $2,560,000, the par value of the shares being $25, on which $20 is paid in. In addition to the 40 odd miles of railroad, Copper Range owns valuable minerals and timber property.

During market hours no official announcement was made of the amount of government bonds purchased by Secretary Shaw yesterday, but Washington dispatches stated the total would reach $18,000,000, including about $25,000,000 cash, including the premium. The government yesterday began anticipating the payment of $2,251,000 November interest on the public debt.

Wall street is gradually acknowledging the growing importance of Pittsburgh in the market. The New York Daily Stockholder refers to the growth of commission house business of brokers in New York, and then has this to say of a local house: "Pittsburgh boasts of what are undoubtedly the handsomest brokerage office in the country—that of Whitney & Stephenson in the Frick building than which, by the way, there is no finer structure in New York."

Bull tips on Amalgamated Copper were numerous yesterday, and the stock responded thereto. The foreign visible supply of copper decreased 1,747 tons last week, leaving 51,787 tons since October 1. The visible supply January 1 was 22,051 tons, February 1, 22,312; March 1, 25,623; April 1, 28,124; May 1, 27,011; June 1, 24,204; July 1, 21,462; August 1, 21,313; September 1, 20,275; October 1, 19,040. The supplies for the fortnight were 12,954 tons, of which 7,560 were American; deliveries, 12,227. The deliveries exclude 1,900 tons to Chile.

The adjourned special meeting of the stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation was again adjourned yesterday for three weeks. Considerable dissension is now in progress with respect to the report upon Steel preferred of the bond conversion plan. Assuming that the plan goes through, the holder of 100 shares of stock will have the right to put in 40 shares in exchange for $4,000 bonds. These bonds are supposed to be worth 96. Taking the price of the preferred stock at 90 ex-dividend, the cost of 100 shares would be $3,600. Four thousand bonds would be worth $3,840, leaving $5,060 representing the cost of the remaining 60 shares, being less than $85 per share. It is argued that Steel preferred stock at 85 is somewhat attractive in view of the present prosperity of the industry and the dividends now being paid.

The rather sudden decline in Window Glass at the close yesterday is attributed to the fact that it had obtained an inkling as to the nature of the report that will be submitted to the annual meeting of stockholders today. Last year the company netted $2,172,000, or $17.24 on the 100 common stock, making a total of $1,000,000 paid in dividends. There were rumors yesterday that, owing to the fight in the trade during a large part of the year, the net profits would be $1,000,000 or less than $1,000,000, and these rumors were no doubt responsible for the selling of the stock down to 58½.

No confirmation could be obtained of the report that at the meeting of the directors of the Pittsburgh Trust Company today a regular quarterly dividend of 5 per cent would be declared and an extra dividend of 5 per cent, making 25 per cent for the year. The directors usually take action on the dividend about ten days before it is payable, and as the quarterly period comes November 1. Of course, in advance of formal action none of the directors would say anything on the subject. It was generally understood, however, when the company increased its capital and raised its surplus to the present figure, that it would adopt a policy of distributing earnings in the shape of extra dividends. It therefore seems to some expectation that a dividend amounting to 10 per cent will be paid at the end of the month. The stock yesterday advanced to 890, or within 10 per cent of the recent high point.

LAWRENCEVILLE SALE OF $175,000

LUTZ & SCHRAMM AWARD

Bellevue Society Will Have a Fine Club House—P., V. & C. R. R. Buys Two Properties. Sheriff's Sale of $18,500.

A deal is reported closed for the purchase of the Shiffler Bridge Company property in Lawrenceville. The consideration named is about $175,000, or $50,000 an acre for the 3.5 acres in the site. The property lies between Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth streets, having a frontage of 174 feet in the former and 47 feet in the latter, with a frontage of 500 feet in Harrison street and along the Allegheny Valley railroad. Officials of the company admitted that the deal was practically closed, but declined to name the purchase. The Shiffler bridge works were taken over by the American Bridge Company some time ago and the sale is a part of the policy of the latter company to dispose of all its plants in the Pittsburgh district, preparatory to removing the equipment to its new $4,000,000 plant at Economy. The plants to be moved are the Schultz plant, at McKees Rocks, the Keystone, Shiffler and the Pittsburgh bridge works, in Lawrenceville, and the Walker works, at Homestead. It is reported that the purchaser of the Shiffler works is a large manufacturing concern, which proposes to erect a plant to cost $100,000.

Less Than One Fourth Their Demand.

The award to the Lutz & Schramm Company of $58,000 by the court yesterday, in the condemnation proceedings instituted against this firm by the West Penn Railroad Company is the most interesting real estate decision handed down for many months. The West Penn, in its connecting line, building to Herrs Island, cuts diagonally across the Lutz & Schramm plant in River avenue, Allegheny. It monopolizes about 480 feet of the firm's railroad frontage and cuts out 12,281 square feet of its site. This, the company said, damaged them to the extent of $250,000. Soon after condemnation proceedings were instituted, the court ordered the bond raised to $150,000. Hence the award of the jury yesterday, after a thorough examination of the property by a board of viewers, was a surprise to many who had supposed the damages would nearly equal the amount of the condemnation bond. The award is for "ground occupied by the railroad company and damage to the defendant's business." The West Penn already has its improvements well under way, having torn down a part of the Lutz & Schramm buildings to make room for elevated tracks.

New Pleasure Home.

The Bellevue club has purchased the property of Mrs. Amelia Schatz, in Lincoln avenue, Bellevue, for $34,000. The property comprises about three acres and has a frontage of 175 feet by a depth of 600 feet. The Schatz homestead, a large brick house, stands on the lot. This will be remodeled and added to for the uses of the club. The improvements proposed include bathrooms, a library, swimming pools and tennis and crochet courts. The 100 members of the club have already raised the money for these purposes by buying bonds issued for the payment of the property and other expenses. The club's purchase was made through a committee composed of Frederick W. Kiefer, George Bole, George F. Wright, Robert J. Millar, Henry Cooper and W. R. Johnston. The officers of the club are George Bole, president; Frederick W. Kiefer, vice president; Henry Berger, secretary, and Frederick A. East, treasurer.

P., V. & C. Deal.

The Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston Railroad Company has bought from Maria D. Strange a lot, 20x109 feet, on the southwest side of Sarah street, near South Twenty-ninth street, Twenty-fourth ward, for $10,000. The lot is improved. The same company bought from Catherine Bracken an improved property, 56x109 feet, on the south side of South Twenty-ninth street, Twenty-fourth ward, for $7,000.

A. Steinmeyer has purchased at sheriff's sale the George K. Ormond property, on the South Side, for $18,500. The property measures 80x120 feet on the north side of Josephine street, near Josephine street, Twenty-sixth ward. It is improved with four brick buildings and was bought for an investment.

The sale is currently reported of the Merchants hotel at Beaver Falls. The deal, it is said, is in the nature of a trade amounting about $70,000. No details in the transaction could be learned.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Coffee futures opened steady, with prices 5 to 10 points lower, being influenced by fearish European cables, Chandler's estimate of the visible and bear pressure. Later in the day the local offerings more than cared for the demands of shorts and bull leaders and the late market further eased 5@7 points, both, the closing indicating a steady undertone, but with prices 5 to 15 points lower. The primary markets were steady to firm, were without quotable change, and estimates of Brazilian interior trade was more active than for several days past, sales reaching 44,000 bags, including December 5.80c; January, 5.25@5.30; March, 5.40c; May, 5.55c; July, 5.70c; August, 5.75c; September, 5.80@5.90c. Sugar—Raw firm; fair refining, 3 31-16c; centrifugal, 96 test, 3 9-16 @3¾c. Refined firm.

Visible Supply of Grain.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—The visible supply of grain Saturday, October 18, as compiled by the New York produce exchange was as follows: The aggregate amount of wheat, 27,654,000 bushels, decrease, 1,-271,000 bushels; corn, 2,221,000 bushels, decrease, 310,000 bushels; oats, 7,795,000 bushels, decrease, 581,000 bushels; rye, 1,040,000 bushels, decrease, 1,000 bushels; barley, 5,080,000 bushels, increase, 258,000 bushels.

NEWS FROM THE MINES.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—A sensational gold discovery is reported on the Peñasco Rouse range, near Butte, Mont. While traveling on the mountains two railroad men ran across what appeared like an ordinary reef of rock. They broke off a piece of the float, and, on suspecting that it might contain mineral, took it to Butte and had it assayed. It showed $2,000 gold to the ton. Development has started on the discovery and there is the usual rush to the locality.

Six feet of ore has been cut on the 500-foot level of the lower Mammoth at Tintic, Utah, which shows 100 ounces of silver and a good percentage of copper.

A new lead of rich ore 10 feet wide has been struck in an upraise on the 300-foot level of the Mizpah at Tonopah, Nev.

In the Anaconda, near Roubaix, S. D., a 12-foot vein has been opened on the 200-foot level from the bottom of the main shaft. Samples of the ore assay $600 a ton.

The Metal Market.

Tin was unsettled in all markets today. The manipulation noted toward the close of last week was continued in the London market, where prices advanced £1 10s, which was maintained, though at the close the undertone was rather less firm. Spot closed at £121 10s and futures at £120 2½s 6d. The local market was influenced by the developments abroad, and spot sold at 21.75@25c. There was a sale of five tons for November delivery at 26.40c. Copper, lower, was also unsettled, advancing here to 12c for lake and 11.85c for electrolytic, and 11.85c for casting, but was nominal at those figures, there being no business of the advance. In London there was an early advance, but later prices eased off, a decline of 11s 3d, spot closing at £62 10s 6d, and futures at £62 5s 6d. Lead was quiet and unchanged in both markets, spot closing at £10 15s 9d, and New York at 4.75c. Spelter also was unchanged, the local market closing at 5.15c and London at £19 2s 6d. The Electrolytic Zinc Company's plant is operating at 578 lbs. per hour, Middlesboro at 1,000 lbs. Locally iron was steady but quiet. Warrants continue unchanged. No. 1 foundry northern is quoted at $23 @23 50; No. 2 foundry northern, $22 50@23; foundry southern and No. 1 foundry southern, soft, $22 00@23 00.

IN THE OIL FIELDS.

In the Big Knot run district, Ritchie county, W. Va., Hall, Browne & Zahniser have drilled in their No. 3 on the Weekly heirs' farm and have a show for a 300-barrel producer. Nos. 1 and 2 on this farm are still producing 225 barrels a day. The aggregate production of 18 wells in this pool is now 1,475 barrels a day, exclusive of the new well on the Weekly heirs' farm.

On Wolf Penn run, in the same county, the Cleveland & Parkersburg Oil Company's No. 5 on the Thomas S. Dye farm is holding up at 240 barrels a day and Smith, Wilson & Co.'s No. 3 and 4 on the Dora Arnett farm at 250 and 80 barrels a day.

In the Cairo district A. C. Hawkins & Co. have completed No. 22 on the Harkness tract and have a show for a five-barrel pumper in the salt sand.

On Bees run, Pleasants county, the South Penn Oil Company's No. 4 on the A. H. Wells farm is holding up at 150 barrels a day and is the best producer in this county.

In the Running Spring district, Wirt county, two wells were drilled in and it was an even break as to the result. Patterson & McCormick drilled their No. 4 on the M. H. Ash farm through the Big Injun sand and scored a duster. In the same district Pope Bros. & Co. completed No. 17 on the Frank Rex farm and secured a 10-barrel producer in the Big Injun sand.

Lessening Its Production.

On Grass run, Harrison county, the Southern Oil Company's No. 1 on the J. J. Carter farm failed to keep up the speed at which it started when drilled into the sand last Friday and started to flow at the rate of 40 barrels an hour. Now that its distance has been taken by a 48-hour gauge it is estimated as a 150-barrel producer.

In the same district Van Wormer & Parks's Nos. 2 and 3 on the G. W. Williams farm are holding up at 225 barrels a day.

On Richwood run, Wetzel county, Broadsteel & Co. have drilled in a test well on the Lewis Wyatt farm and have a show of oil in the Big Injun sand. Its distance has been added to the Gordon and unless a better show is found in the Gordon sand will test it in the Big Injun.

In the same district the United States Oil and Coal Company has drilled in No. 7 on the D. H. Cox farm into the Gordon and has a 40-barrel natural producer. It will be given a shot and is expected to increase its production.

Southeastern Ohio.

On the Ohio side in the Graysville district, Monroe county, the Fisher Oil Company has completed its No. 11 on the Alex. Harmon farm and has a 10-barrel pumper in the Keener. Near Monroeville the Duffy Oil Company's No. 1 on the F. E. Cooper farm has started to decline and is now producing 125 barrels a day. For more than a week the well has been shut through the casing and unless it makes a better showing will be pulled to pumping.

In the Rhoads Mills district the Southern Oil Company has drilled in No. 3 on the Thomas Burke farm and has a 40-barrel producer. Shay & McMullen have drilled their No. 2 on the James Wilson farm into the Berea grit and have a show for a 15-barrel pumper.

The Ohio Oil Company has completed its No. 3 on the S. F. Whittington farm, in the Big Injun sand and has a duster.

Wolf Creek Holding Up.

The Octo Oil Company's No. 11 on the M. A. Martin farm will make a producer and the Hall & Bradford No. 25 on the John Lightner farm is a duster.

In the Macksburg field the Consolidated Oil and Mining Company has completed its No. 7 on the Fred Stegner farm and has a five-barrel pumper.

Longfellow Bros. & Co. have completed their test on the Wallace Jackson farm and have a show for a 12-barrel pumper in the 260-foot sand.

In the Barnesville district, Belmont county, the Oil Fuel and Supply Company has completed a test on the Fred Bowser farm and has a gasser, good for 500 cubic feet a day.

In the Legionville development, Beaver county, Pa., Snyder and the Ft. Pitt Gas Company have put their No. 6 on the W. H. Phillips farm to pumping and it is producing 10 barrels a day from the 400-foot.

WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER, CORN AND OATS LOWER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—Easier cables and large receipts caused a weak opening in wheat, but the close was firm with December up ½@⅝c, December corn weak, 2@2¼c lower, and oats a shade lower. January provisions closed from 5@7½c to 15c lower.

Wheat was once more the center of attraction to traders, and the feature was the strength in the December delivery, during trading by brokers supposed to be for a prominent local long. The local crowd sold short early with the expectation that prices would take a drop, but being disappointed in this they later turned active buyers, causing a good advance. Large receipts in the northwest, together with excellent weather, were the early bear factors. Primary receipts were 1,759,400 bushels, compared with 1,203,513 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis and Duluth reported receipts of 1,243 cars, which, with local receipts of 157 cars—with but one of contract grade—made total receipts for the three points of 1,400 cars against 1,452 cars last week, and 1,197 cars a year ago.

Corn was heavy and the market seemed to lack the support of the strong holders. There was considerable scattered profit-taking and a lot of short selling. Indifferent cables and good weather were the weakening factors. Total receipts were 275 cars, with 52 of contract grade.

Oats were dull and featureless, being influenced chiefly by the action of corn. Local receipts were 247 cars.

Provisions were dull and easy, due to lower prices at the yards with larger receipts of hogs. January pork closed 15c lower at $15 80. January lard 12½c lower at $9 12½, and ribs 5@7½c closed to at $7 37½.

BULK OF BUSINESS FROM OUT OF TOWN

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—Irregularity marked the course of today's stock market. The controlling influences were the uncertainty as to the outcome of the coal miners' conventions, the rise in foreign exchange and the threatened action of the southern courts against the latest railroad combination. There were some material gains at the outset, however, especially in St. Paul, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Missouri Pacific and Wisconsin Central. On the other hand such active issues as Reading, Louisville &

SUICIDE FOUND TO BE A CRIME

Mrs. Ida Wilkins Guilty of Involuntary Manslaughter.

JUDGE STOWE'S RULING

Quotes Justice Gray of Massachusetts, Showing Suicide Is a Felony—Woman Killed Husband While Trying to Shoot Herself.

Mrs. Ida Wilkins was convicted in criminal court yesterday of involuntary manslaughter, in causing the death of her husband, William Denny Wilkins, at their flat in Federal street, Allegheny, on September 10. Judge Stowe ruled that suicide is a crime.

Wilkins was killed while attempting to prevent his wife from committing suicide, the bullet she was about to fire into her own brain entering his temple.

Mrs. Wilkins entered the court with her head bowed. She was dressed in black and her face was heavily veiled. She was emotional throughout the trial and constantly wiped the tears from her eyes. Her sobs often interrupted the proceedings. District Attorney Haymaker conducted the prosecution and Attorney F. C. Patterson of Altoona represented the prisoner.

In opening the case Mr. Haymaker stated that there had been no trouble between the couple until the scuffle over possession of the revolver she had taken from the bureau drawer. Mr. Haymaker said the commonwealth would be as charitable as possible, and assume the woman did not take her husband's life intentionally, but it would also take the stand that suicide, which she contemplated, is a crime against God and man. "This case," he said "appeals to everybody." Her habits were such as led her into a condition that was deplorable. We will ask that she be convicted of involuntary manslaughter and for her own good be disposed of later on as the court sees fit."

The testimony brought out no new facts and Mrs. Wilkins was not called to the stand.

Her attorney submitted to the court that it was not an offense in this state to attempt suicide. An opinion of Judge Arnold of Philadelphia was cited in support of this. In answer to the contention Judge Stowe read from Justice Gray of the supreme court of Massachusetts, which held suicide was unlawful.

"By the common law of England, the opinion read," suicide was considered a crime against the laws of God and man, and the lands and chattels of the criminal were forfeited to the king and he was deemed a murderer of himself and a felon."

The jury took but a short time to render its verdict. Mrs. Wilkins will be sentenced later.

OCTOBER TERM OPENS.

Grand Jury Returned a Number of Indictments in the United States District Court.

The October term of the United States district court for the Western district of Pennsylvania began yesterday morning with Judge Joseph Buffington on the bench.

The term will likely be a short one. Roland D. Swope of Connersville was made foreman of the grand jury.

The indictment returned by the grand jury yesterday afternoon were: Stealing and taking out of letters, Margaret Reich (3), Burton D. Little (4), Lon W. Claybaugh (2), Louis A. Poff (2); embezzling postal revenues and money order receipts, Milton S. Adams.

In the bankruptcy case of Rolla Power of Franklin an order was made restraining Jacob Sheasley and Fred T. McClain, sheriff of Venango county, from interfering with the bankrupt's property.

Bernard J. Murphy of Altoona was discharged from bankruptcy. A petition in bankruptcy was filed by Anton Swan of Jordan township, Clearfield county. His liabilities are $20,828, and assets, $50.

NOT GUILTY OF PERJURY.

A. G. Parsons Acquitted in Criminal Court, But Pays Half the Costs.

In criminal court yesterday the following were acquitted: A. G. Parsons, perjury in giving false testimony before an alderman, costs divided between Parsons and Henry A. Smith, prosecutor; David Hopkins, charged with receiving a number of butter tubs alleged to have been stolen. Edward Herrigan, prosecutor, to pay costs; Martin Magin, assault and battery, cost placed on Joseph Cohen, prosecutor; Anto Sulfossio, furnishing liquor to minors, county to pay costs.

In the cross suits of assault and battery and aggravated assault and battery, against William and Agnes Cavett, Ellen Cavett and Stella Carey, William and Agnes Cavett were convicted of aggravated assault and battery on Ellen Cavett, and ordered to pay the costs in the cases which they prosecuted. The others were acquitted.

W. A. ROBINSON'S WILL.

Document Written on Scratch Pad Paper Without Date Gives $230,000 to Family.

Owing to the high value of the estate the will of William A. Robinson of this city is extraordinary. The paper was written with a lead pencil on several sheets of an ordinary scratch pad, and the constant handling made it almost illegible. It does not show the customary beginning of such papers, nor does it bear a date. The entire estate, worth $230,000, is bequeathed to the testator's wife and children.

By the will of Elizabeth Hocklurt of Allegheny an estate worth $250 goes to her daughter.

Cases in Supreme Court.

In the supreme court yesterday the following cases were argued: Armstrong county—Appeal of Frank Dudash, convicted of murder. Washington county—William M. Russell against John E. Stewart and others, appellants, an action on an agreement to transfer land; R. G. Jeffrey, against the Pennsylvania Mining Company, appellant, an action in equity to cancel contract for coal land. Greene county—William Goodwin, appellant, against T. Reed McMinn, an action to obtain the cancellation of deeds; appeal of Harrison Ullom in the matter of his petition to quiet title to lands; George B. Schriver, appellant, against William D. Smith, an action in ejectment; Edward P. Van Kirk, appellant, against J. G. Patterson and others, an action over a title to land; John W. McNicholas against Michael Moran and others, appellants, an action in ejectment.

LEGAL BRIEFS.

A charter was granted to St. George's Greek Catholic Assembly No. 224 of the Greek Catholic Union.

The master in the divorce case of Louisa A. M. Thompson against John H. Thompson recommended a decree.

A petition was filed by Clarence Hahn for the release of Sadie Parker from the workhouse, where she was sentenced in default of a fine of $50 on a charge of keeping a disorderly house.

A bill in equity was filed by Adolph Jahn against Dr. Otto Schumacher, Gustav Gerdes and George C. Orth, executors of the estate of Henry Miller. The court is asked to cancel an agreement made by Miller for the transfer of lots in Homestead.

Applications were made for the defendants for a new trial in the case of James M. Neal & Co. against the Crucible Steel Company of America. The plaintiff was awarded $46,750 for damages done to their plant by a boiler explosion at the "Black Diamond" mill.

BOARD APPOINTED TO SELECT A SITE

Surgeon General Names Men Who Will Locate Pittsburgh's New Marine Hospital.

Maj. T. W. Mean, surgeon in charge of the marine hospital service in this city, has received a letter from Surgeon General Wyman, notifying him of the appointment of a board of officers to consider and examine the properties offered as sites for a marine hospital at Pittsburgh. The order is dated October 17, and the board is constituted of M. M. Garland, surveyor of the port; Assistant Surgeon E. L. Williams, of the marine hospital service, and Francis H. Wheaton, assistant chief of the drafting division of the treasury department. Dr. Williams and Mr. Wheaton expect to arrive in Pittsburgh Thursday morning.

Maj. Mead is of the opinion that the site selected will be within the city limits, of easy reach from the center of the city, so that patients can be transferred without inconvenience.

Maj. Mead does not favor a site on Mt. Washington, as some of the river men do, on account of the inconvenience of taking patients to the hilltops; nor does he favor the old arsenal site, which he believes should be taken by the city for a park.

BRITISH TROOPS ORDERED.

Uprising in Somaliland Causes Demand for Soldiers of the Indian Forces.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The British government has ordered the dispatching of Indian troops to Somaliland, to deal with the mullah. The British vice consul at Berbera, Somaliland, in cabling to the foreign office here the substance of the later dispatch which he received from Col. Swayne, commander of the British force operating against the mullah, referred to the mullah being in communication with Karl Inger, former officer of the Austrian-Hungarian army, who has several times been mentioned in connection with the mullah's movements in Somaliland. Inger is also said to have caused the British authorities trouble in the Soudan some years ago.

Gen. W. H. Manning started from London for Somaliland some days ago in consequence of bad news from there, and will hasten the dispatch of reinforcements from Berbera.

When questioned on the subject of the British reverse in Somaliland, the foreign under secretary, Lord Cranborne, had little to add to the facts already known. He said Gen. Manning arrived at Aden yesterday and that the government had placed at his disposal a battalion of Indian troops to aid the protectorate's forces. If these troops were not sufficient, others would be forthcoming.

The Mellons Have Bought 2500 Acres of Lake Erie Frontage

By a deal just consummated by A. W. and R. B. Mellon of Pittsburgh, a large property on the Lake Erie front, said to be the only available site for a new harbor in Pennsylvania, passes into their hands. The purchase, which includes over 2,500 acres, is regarded as significant in railway circles. With the purchase the Mellons gain possession of the charter for a railroad known as the Lake Erie Terminal. It is the belief here that the site will eventually become the lake port of some road contemplating a new ore route from the lakes to Pittsburgh, either the Erie or the Wabash, as both are desirous of securing some of the Pittsburgh lake traffic. A. W. Mellon, speaking of the purchase yesterday, said that there was no railroad back of the deal and that the property was bought simply as an investment. Mr. Mellon admits that it is an excellent site for a harbor, but says that there are no plans for immediate improvement.

Besides the Mellons there are interested in the deal Edwin S. Templeton of Greenville, Emmett Queen of Pittsburgh and Henry Buhl of Sharon. The rumor that the Erie is the possible factor behind the deal gains strength from the fact that the main line of the Erie is less than 20 miles from the proposed harbor. The charter for the new Erie terminal extends from the lake to Albion, Pa., crossing the Lake Shore, Nickel Plate and Bessemer roads.

CAN'T MAKE THE TIME.

Heavy Freight Traffic Interferes With the Limited's Schedule.

Owing to the recent heavy freight traffic on the road, the Pennsylvania has found it impossible to run the limited from New York to Cincinnati in 17 hours, the time announced when the Pennsylvania special was put on between New York and Pittsburgh, and the Cincinnati connection established. These western connections, which are made at Pittsburgh, will be run through on time regardless of the limited or special. In the event of the Fort Wayne connections being late, it has been determined hereafter to put on new trains between Pittsburgh and New York.

The Outlook Is Favorable.

It is likely that the financing of the Greene county railroad, the Connellsville extension of the Wabash, will be accomplished before the end of this month. Frank Flint, one of the members of the syndicate and president of the Little Kanawha railroad, is expected to be in Pittsburgh today to meet J. W. Patterson, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh, Carnegie & Western. It is asserted that all land grants for the proposed line have been practically secured, despite the fact that the Pennsylvania has been quietly buying land along the line of the projected road.

Chicago Terminal Improvements.

The Pennsylvania is contemplating some costly improvements at the Chicago terminals within the coming year. Recommendations that, if approved, will involve the expenditure of over $3,000,000 have been presented to the general manager of the Pennsylvania lines west of Pittsburgh. James McCrea, first vice president; J. J. Turner, third vice president, and G. L. Peck, general manager, are in Chicago looking over the ground.

Railroads Elected Officers.

At the annual meeting of the seven subsidiary lines of the Baltimore & Ohio, held in Pittsburgh yesterday, L. F. Loree was elected president of each of the companies, and William M. Kennedy of Pittsburgh, vice president. L. G. Haas and L. G. Hunter were elected to the boards to fill vacancies. All other directors were re-elected.

RAILROAD NOTES.

The freight department of the Lake Erie yesterday announced that all previous records for freight movement had been broken by the traffic of Saturday and Sunday. The number of loaded cars moved was 13,462. The bulk of this freight was consigned to points in the Mahoning valley.

The purchase of the Columbus, Sandusky & Hocking, lying north and west of Columbus, has been officially announced. The purchase was made by the Kanawha & Michigan, in the name of the Toledo, Walhonding Valley & Ohio railroad, which is the property of the Pennsylvania. The new owners will take possession October 31.

It is probable that, with the settlement of the strike in the anthracite region, a boost will be heard from mine operators in this end of the state. It is certain that with the close of the difficulties every effort will be made to give the hard coal operators cars enough to make a big shipment. This will result in a shortage in this end of the state.

At a meeting of railroad men Saturday afternoon, at the Baltimore & Ohio offices, an organization of traffic men was effected. A committee on constitution and bylaws was appointed, consisting of F. E. Bradley, Wabash, chairman; T. J. Walters, Baltimore & Ohio; T. Schenck, Pennsylvania; W. V. Taffner, Burlington; George H. Anthony, Wisconsin Central; W. Y. Morrell, Westinghouse Manufacturing Company, and R. H. Thompson, Oil Well Supply Company.

PRESIDENT J. J. HILL IN DEFENSE OF MERGER

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PAUL, MINN., Oct. 20.—The adjourned hearing of the government suit against the so-called railway merger was called to order by Special Examiner Ingersoll at the circuit court in this city today and the entire day was given to the direct testimony of James J. Hill for the defendants, the cross-examination having just begun when the hearing adjourned for the day.

Mr. Hill went over much of the ground previously covered by him in his testimony before the interstate commerce commission, and in other suits similar to this, but today he brought out more fully the fact that the exchange of Great Northern stock for that of the Northern Securities Company was the individual act of the individual shareholders, and dwelt at length on his statement that the whole purpose of the organization of the Northern Securities Company was for the protection of a great commerce with the orient, which the northern lines had sought to develop in competition with the transportation companies of the world.

The circular of the Northern Securities Company to shareholders, offering to expand stock, had been before been placed in evidence, but today the lawyers, through Mr. Hill, introduced a personal circular letter sent by him to numerous Great Northern shareholders, in answer to their queries, telling them that any action of theirs in exchanging their stock must be their own individual action and not be influenced by him. Mr. Hill will be again on the stand tomorrow morning, and will be followed by Col. W. P. Clough, Frederick Weyerhauser and other defendants or directors of the defendant companies.

CITY FIREMAN SUES FOR MONTH'S WAGES.

Refused to Submit to a Fine of $10 Imposed Upon Him by Director Leslie.

Attorneys Charles S. Crawford and W. G. Negley, on behalf of Haldine Plante, a member of the city fire department, entered suit before Alderman Groetzinger yesterday against the city to recover $78 wages.

Plante, who is still connected with one of the fire companies, was reported several weeks ago for dereliction of duty and fined a day's pay. Plante was satisfied with this, but when he went for his salary at the end of the month he found that $10 had been taken out of his wages. Plante was informed that Director Leslie had disapproved the finding of the board of inquiry and had fined him $10. Plante refused to accept the pay check. A hearing will be held this afternoon.

MINERS GOING BACK.

Men Who Walked Away from Anthracite Region Preparing to Re-Enter the Mines.

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., Oct. 20.—(Special.)—About 175 coal miners who have been in this county for the past month, are preparing to leave tonight for their homes in Carbondale, Scranton and Wilkesbarre, having received word that they could resume work in the mines within a few days.

Nearly all of these men walked the entire distance to this village from the mining regions and obtained work on the construction of the Oneonta, Cooperstown & Richfield Springs railroad. They have been provided with transportation for their return trip.

ED BUTLER IS UNDER SECOND INDICTMENT

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20.—The millionaire politician, Edward Butler, was indicted by the grand jury this afternoon on the charge of paying to Delegate Charles F. Kelly a $47,000 bribe for members of the house of delegates' combine, who passed the 10-year city lighting bill November 28, 1899.

The witnesses whose names appear on the back of the information are: J. N. Murrell, E. E. Murrell, George F. Robertson, Otto Schumacher, John Helms, William M. Tamblyn, Joseph N. Judge and George F. Mockler.

The last two named are formal witnesses, Judge being clerk of the present house of delegates, and Mockler secretary of the present council. The other six members are members of the combine, which included the recipients of the bribe.

A Novelty for the Hall

Every home that possesses a hall has room for some such novelty as the one pictured above. This novelty is not merely ornamental, as so many things are nowadays that are classified as novelties. It is an article of real utility.

The illustration shows the chair. The circle at the back serves as the top of the table when let down. The top is 4 feet in diameter. Finished in Flemish oak.

There are numerous articles in this stock which would add an air of elegance to the home—and they are not expensive, either, for price is always an inducement at

The Greatest Half-Dollar Sale of Dependable Dress Fabrics That Ever Took Place in the Greater City.

Furs of all kinds,
New Costumes and New Dresses.

ABOUT this time last year we had a sale of dress goods at 50 cents a yard, and it gave immense satisfaction—the more so as the goods in every case were much above the even half dollar in regular prices.

The idea is revived for a special occasion in the selling of newest Fall and Winter Dress Materials. The offer includes noted weaves both from foreign and home manufacturers.

75c-a-yard 44 to 54 inch black and colored mistral, 50c a yard.
65c-a-yard fine all-wool Dress Cheviot, 50c a yard.

In the collection we haven't the least doubt but what women will find every color desired. This is not a garbled collection brought together for getting up an excitement, but simply a great lot of worthy and seasonable Dress Goods that women will want for effective every-day wear.

The Uncommon in Millinery.

Genius can be eccentric, yet the eccentricities of genius can be as elegant and refined—extremes, if you please—without the faintest idea of the unusual.

We always favor the extremes of fashion, especially in millinery, either for women or girls; but we are loath to accept many of the so-called styles that are brought out each season. Therefore, when we come across eccentricity, it must be modified so that no appearance of garishness is present.

Of course the extremes in trimming come from Paris, and we have a pride in saying that never in any former season have we sold so many imported hats, toques and bonnets. For the simple reason that the head of our millinery department spends months in Paris, and personally selects every model that is brought over. And when the brilliancy of style is considered the cost of these French specimens are really insignificant—$22 to $65.

We have any number of special tables filled with ladies' Trimmed Hats and Toques—the newest and best shapes—all the wearable colors, including black—under-priced thus: $3.50 instead of $5; $5 instead of $7.50; $7.50 instead of $10.

And for runabout Hats, trimmed with wings, pompons, quills and velvets—the assembly is one that will meet with any one of the diverse tastes. $2.50, $3.50, $5, $7.50.

New untrimmed Hats, each and every shape up to date—every color that women like—50c each. And we dare say that you have already seen the same class of Hats around town for $1.

This Millinery Department on the third floor pays particular attention to the wants of children of every age. We have children's Hats, Caps, Tams and Turbans—to match everything worn—beginning at 25c and going by easy steps up to $5.50.

Another thing you must keep in mind is that the Millinery Department has all the bedeckings that women like for society functions—such as Aigrettes, Bandeaux, Ostrich Feather Pompons, together with all effects for the opera season, from 25c up to $20.

Halloween and Nuts.

Halloween, where there are children in the family, is one of the most enjoyable occasions of the whole year, and we do not know but what the youngsters of Pittsburg look forward to it with as much gleeful anticipation as they do for the coming of Christmas. We cannot furnish you the nuts—we are not in the grocery business—but we can furnish you the implements for extracting the meat, and if you will read further you will find you will have little to pay.

Special sets, containing six Nut Picks and one heavy Nut Cracker, all nickel-plated, 25c for the whole set.

Nut Crackers, 15c each.

Nut Picks, 10c a set of six.

Other sets 50c up to the finest for $2.50.

Feather Weight Umbrellas.

Both men and women enjoy carrying a light weight Umbrella. Knowing this we had made to our special design a feather weight of pure silk taffeta, with deep tape edge, such handles as best natural wood, princess and opera. The size is 26 inches and the price $3.50. It is so closely rolled that it gives a cane effect. This style is exclusive with us.

We have another excellent Umbrella either in sizes for men or women—the Ideal. 28 and 26 inches for men, the 26 inches for women. Close rolled, tape edge taffeta. It has furze and boxwood, princess and opera handle. The price is $3.

These two will serve to introduce you to one of the finest Umbrella collections in the city.

Colonial Wall Papers.

While we have all grades of Papers from 10c a bolt up to $25, which includes that finest of Japanese Leather Wall Paper, we want to tell you about a special Colonial Paper that we have.

It was copied from paper on the wall of a very old residence near Jamestown, Virginia. In one sense it is a landscape effect repeated all the way through. The colors are beautifully harmonized and they are as soft of tone as can be well imagined.

Another pretty Paper, especially for the dining room, is copied from photographs of Maine pine scenery. It is of the gorgeous order, having a crown effect showing a sunset through tops of pine trees. It is an inexpensive but thoroughly good Paper—the price only 75c a bolt. We are quite sure the colors will stand, for they are strictly pure.

The Department for the Outfitting of Infants.

Fitting out the tots with dainty and pretty infantile apparel, at the lowest prices, is a hobby with us—and we don't mind saying that we ride it very hard.

If the mother desires the finest garments for her infant, they are here—for instance, the coat for $75 or the dress for $50; on the other hand, if she simply wants a good, medium garment or a sightly, inexpensive cap or bonnet, they are here, also—such as slips at 25c, coats for $2.25, caps for 25c, etc.

As a matter of fact, we have Caps, Bonnets, Coats, Dresses, Afghans, Pillows of down and hair, Pillow Cases, Toilet Sets, Trimmed Baskets, Hampers, and everything else that belongs to the growing period of baby, from the thing that will cost you but a trifle up to something that will depend upon your fancy as to how much you desire to pay.

Today we will sell Cloth Coats, double lined throughout, the cape trimmed prettily with braid—red, navy, cadet and tan, at $2.25 each. One to three years.

We will also sell Long Cloaks of Bedford Cord, having a pretty cape, the trimming of embroidery, ribbon or fancy braid, the price $2.50.

Low-Priced Silks and Velutinas.

While Velvets and Velutinas are in greater demand than formerly, at the same time we are selling more Silks than ever. There seems to be a sort of rivalry between the two relatives.

Silks at under prices.

For 65c, 75c, 85c and $1—worth from $1 to $1.50—we have a fine collection of fancy Silks in light and dark shades and in striped and broche effects.

Plaid Silks are just as much in favor as ever for the pretty and effective waist—and we are showing eighteen different effects in the prices running from 58c to $2.50 a yard.

For 50c, 75c and $1 a yard—value 75c, $1 and $1.25—there are strong lines of fancy Black Silks, and it seems to us a saving on each yard is worth inquiring into.

At 88c a yard—value $1—we are selling a full yard wide Black Taffeta, worth at the very least $1, for the smaller price of 88c a yard.

Women's Lounging Robes, $3.75.

That is their primary use, but really they are all right for general house wear where one wants to be comfortable. Belted in, they are neat as can be. You would hardly think at the price of $3.75 that these Lounging Robes are made of eiderdown and sell regularly for $5.50. Such is a fact. Choice of gray, red, pink and blue. The collar is bound with satin, and the Robe is finished with ornaments and a girdle. We did not intend to say anything about the worth of these pretty Robes, leaving you to judge. But the difference was too tempting.

Our collection of Lounging Robes takes in everything from the medium grade up to the very finest in such materials as French flannel, eiderdown, and flannelette. Any style that woman's fancy dictates. And every color she could desire.

Hints of Handy Things in the Housefurnishing Department.

So much variety in this big department of the basement that it would take a magazine of quarto proportions, and a great many pages, to fully list the thousands of things found there.

Think of anything handy that you would like to have around the house and come to the department and realize. Special mention is made of these several numbers.

Savory roasters that will fit in any oven and are so constructed that they retain all the flavor in the meat that is usually wasted in the ventilators of other Roasting Pans. $1 each.

Fourteen Rolls best grade Toilet Paper, 50c.

We want to tell you in a brief way about our Coffee Biggins, and about those other excellent Machines, French, Austrian, Russian and German Coffee Machines—inventions for the making of absolutely good coffee. Some people imagine that Coffee Machines are high in price. At first glance they are; but when it comes to having something perfect, something that will last for years, something that will brew the most delicious coffee possible, then they are not at all high. We import these Coffee Machines and Coffee Biggins direct from the foreign manufacturers, and we can quote them under price.

Russian Coffee Machines—$2.75 style for $2; $3.25 style for $2.75; $5 style for $3.50; $6 style for $4.50; $7 style for $5.
